New York Reports Rainmaking Bad

Municipal Funds Used to Prove Experiment Was All Wet

New York city is now attempting to cast a dry blanket over its rainmaking efforts of a year ago and Ulster county figures prominently in the effort, the New York Times indicated today.

After hiring a $100-a-day rainmaker to seed clouds and fill its reservoirs, the city is now using municipal funds for a survey to show that the experiment was all wet but not from rainmaking.

This move, the city figures, will be a defense against $2,138,510 in storm-damage claims. Largest of the 169 claims filed as an aftermath of the efforts of Dr. Wallace E. Howell to make rain, is the $387,500 filed by Ulster county.

Various communities and individuals in the Catskill mountain area have also filed claims. Greene county seeks $148,650 and the town of Shandaken asks for $167,150.

In one case a claimant said that a storm of Nov. 25, 1950, caused a scramble by himself and his wife to rescue 120 mink worth $10,000 from flooded pools on a farm two miles south of Big Indian.

Hotels complained that rain kept guests away. The Furncrest Corp., filed a claim for $55,000, the town of Windham, Greene county, filed for $28,000 and the village of Lexington for $17,000.

Experts in the city believe that the heavy storms of last Nov. 25 resulted from a purely natural atmospheric disturbance blowing in from the Ohio valley, but the principle of the rainmaking claims is so new that they require extensive study.

Two Hunters Killed

Lake Pleasant, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Two deer hunters died this weekend in the Adirondacks in Hamilton county. A searching party found the body of Edward Albert Ennis, 41, of Williamsville, Sunday near Morehouseville. State police said the cause of death was not apparent and an autopsy was ordered. George F. Filichko, 43, of Astoria, was shot and killed Saturday near Whitney Lake, town of Arietta.

No Trash Collections

The office of the public works department announced today that there will be no collections of ashes or rubbish tomorrow, Election Day.

Poughkeepsie Girl Is Victim–Boy's Condition Is Critical

One co-ed was killed early Sunday morning when a car full of New Paltz State Teachers College students skidded on an icy highway near New Paltz and overturned in a ditch.

The dead girl was identified as Natalie Waterman, 19, daughter of Ralph T. Waterman, insurance agent, and Mrs. Waterman of 13 Meadow road, Poughkeepsie. She was dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital.

Admitted to the hospital were Thomas Touhy, 19, of 159 Chase avenue, Yonkers; Edward Dezendorf, 19, of 109-30 110th street, Ozone Park, Queens; and Willard Prince, 20, of Cedar Hill, Newburgh, driver of the car.

Condition Is Critical

State police said Touhy suffered head injuries which they described as critical. Kingston Hospital authorities reported no change in Touhy's condition up to noon today. Dezendorf and Prince were discharged from the hospital this morning.

Three other students were treated in the hospital and released. Troopers said they were: Ellen Byrne, 19, of 92 Johnston avenue, Kingston; Joseph Davis, 18, of 107-42 111th street, Richmond Hills, and Corinne Sigmund, 19, of 2037 Palmetto street, Brooklyn.

The accident occurred on Route 32 one and a half miles north of New Paltz at 12:30 a. m. Sunday, troopers reported.

Prince was the driver of a 1936 Plymouth sedan which skidded on the icy pavement and upset into a ditch, troopers said. The car was demolished.

Ruled Accidental

Miss Waterman's death has been ruled accidental by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly. An autopsy by Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz disclosed death due to a compound communated fracture of the skull and numerous body fractures, the coroner said.

Investigating were Sgt. William Martin, Troopers John Metzer, B.C.I., and Elliot Johnson, all of the Highland state police station. County Investigator Arthur H. Brown assisted and took the official photographs of the accident.

Argentine Vessel, Troopship Collide; All Persons Saved

Bremerhaven, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP) — The $4,000,000 motorship Maipu—pride of Argentina's merchant fleet—was rammed by a U. S. troopship and sank in the foggy North Sea yesterday. The transport and German rescue craft saved all 238 persons aboard the Argentine vessel.

The troopship, the Gen. M. Hersey—her bow stove in by the collision—limped into Bremerhaven last night with many Maipu survivors aboard. A special train was chartered to take them to Hamburg, the Maipu's port of call.

The Maipu's captain, Juan Marquez, picked up by the German lightship Weser after the crash, said in a ship-to-shore radio interview that his 80 passengers and 158 crewmen kept calm throughout the ordeal.

"They left the ship quietly," he said. "There were no incidents."

The fact that the usually rough North Sea was calm under its fog blanket was said to have played a large part in the 100 per cent successful rescue.

Hole Torn in Side

The 12,000-ton Maipu and the 10,000-ton transport, groping through early morning fog, collided 15 miles offshore, near the German island of Waneroog. The crash tore a big hole in the Maipu's port side.

Witnesses said the Argentine vessel began to list immediately, but stayed afloat three hours—another big factor in the successful rescue. Passengers aboard the stricken vessel included 38 women and eight children.

The Hersey immediately began searching through the mists for lifeboats with survivors. Soon afterward the Weser and smaller German craft joined in.

Officers aboard the Hersey, carrying U. S. 43rd Division troops to Germany, refused to discuss the collision. They said an official statement would be issued later.

In Washington the number of those aboard the Hersey was given as from the 43rd Division, 163 officers and 2,590 men; casual replacements, about 120 officers and some 120 men.

Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Oscar V. Newkirk, wife of the city's mayor, was discharged yesterday afternoon from Kingston Hospital where she had spent several days recovering from an operation. She was taken to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Strobel, 106 Tubby street, where she will remain for a week before returning to her home.

Fifth Test Blast Made at Las Vegas

Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 5 (AP)—The fifth atomic blast in the current test series exploded at 8:31 a. m. (PST) today.

Thirty seconds later the atomic cloud customary in the detonations could be seen from Las Vegas rising over the Yucca flat test site, 75 miles away.

It was a big one, perhaps the biggest yet, reported observers here who have seen the previous blasts.

There was a purplish color to the mushrooming cloud.

An indication of the size and potentcy of this detonation was indicated by an unusual warning from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Radio stations in a wide area covering Goldfield, Beatty, and Caliente, Nev., were asked to warn residents to open windows in their homes and stores.

Presumably this would be to lessen effects of tremendous concussion expected.

Detective Said to Be Thief Who Seized Drugs in Stores

New York, Nov. 5 (AP) — Eyewitnesses today pointed out a 35-year-old city detective as the gunman who grabbed narcotics in seven drug store holdups since last May, police said.

The officer, George Killoran of (31-60 51st street) Woodside, Queens, was booked on a charge of assault and robbery.

Police said he refused to confirm or deny the robberies.

Members of his family and other detectives were reported as saying Killoran had been morose and kept to himself since his three-and-a-half-year-old son killed himself accidentally with the officer's gun 18 months ago. At the same time his wife had a miscarriage.

Authorities said they found on Killoran's arms and hands markings that might have come from a hypodermic needle. However, they added it was not now possible to say whether he used drugs.

Killoran was booked on the specific complaint of Manhattan druggist Murray Rosen, who said the detective had taken narcotics from his store on Aug. 29 and Oct. 13.

Other witnesses also accused him of holding up six Queens drug stores, one of them three times.

In each hold up, drugs were the principal or only loot.

An alarm was sent out for Killoran yesterday after he failed to show up for duty on time. Four hours later he voluntarily reported at his precinct and immediately was taken into custody.

The alarm followed a report that a man fitting Killoran's description and using his automobile had robbed a Manhattan East Side drug store. But the owner of this store and another witness were not able to identify Killoran at this morning's lineup.

During the questioning of Killoran by high department officials, many druggists whose stores had been robbed recently milled about the police station.

Police did not identify the Queens stores involved.

Up to Voters

When the citizens of Kingston go to the polls tomorrow they will select the administration heads of the city government for the ensuing two years. Mayor Newkirk is seeking re-election on his record as manager of the city's business and not as a politician.

One of the most conscientious public servants ever to hold the office of chief executive of our city, Mayor Newkirk has applied himself day and night to a solution of our city's problems. The biggest business in the city is the city's business itself and Mayor Newkirk has conducted it on a business basis, doing an outstanding job despite many handicaps brought about by economic conditions beyond his control. We believe that the taxpayers of our community will continue him in office.

Joseph Kelly, the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large, has proved himself an able president of our Common Council. He, too, has served faithfully and in addition has contributed much of his time to many other civic enterprises in the community.

The Common Council is the legislative branch of city government and it is important that it be comprised of men qualified to serve. Many important questions come before this body for decisions. If these men work in harmony with the mayor, then the best interests of the city will be served. The election of Republican aldermen will insure the city government of the council support it needs to carry out the city's business in a business manner.

It would seem needless to say anything about the Board of Supervisors. Upon the election of Republican supervisors depends a continuation of the good government in Ulster county for which the Republican Party is noted.

However, it is up to the people to make the decision. One thing is certain, and that is the people who have the privilege of voting, should vote. If you fail to carry out this obligation of citizenship, you do so with injury to yourself and with injury to the cause of good government.

Winter Hits Early, Causes 15 Deaths

Weather to Go Into 20s Tonight — Blizzard in Niagara Area

Albany, Nov. 5 (AP)—New York state's preview of winter entered its fifth day today, and forecasters indicated more weather woe ahead.

Fifteen persons died in mishaps attributed to the unseasonable snow and cold snap that rewrote some temperature records, piled snow drifts several feet high and hampered highway travel.

The Weather Bureau said the mercury would dip into the low 20s in many sections tonight.

A new "disturbance" is expected to hit western New York tomorrow probably bringing snow or rain, the bureau said.

The western end of the state caught the brunt of two week-end storms, one of them a fluke blizzard that saddled the Niagara area with 11 inches of snow yesterday.

Southern Tier Coldest

But the coldest places upstate were in the southern tier. Elmira reported 7 above Sunday, and Oneonta had 8 above early today.

For the second straight day, Albany had a record overnight low of 17, two degrees below the record for the date set in 1942. Sunday's 17 broke the previous mark of 21, set in 1891 and equalled in 1939.

Buffalo's 20 lowered the Nov. 5 record of 23 set in 1879.

Since Friday, 13 persons have lost their lives on icy highways. Two others were stricken fatally shoveling snow.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The position of the treasury Nov. 1: Net budget receipts $107,158,472.85. Budget expenditures $266,440,687.01. Cash balance $4,512,994,426.20. Customs receipts for month $2,147,260.11. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $15,115,969,577.07. Budget expenditures fiscal year $20,737,735,072.74. Budget deficit $5,621,765,495.67. R. H. Greenburg Is Hit by Blast From Gun of Companion

Robert H. Greenburg, 15, of West Hurley, a Kingston High School sophomore, was killed in a hunting accident near the Ashokan Reservoir's Woodstock dyke about 1 p. m. Saturday.

A sheriff's office report said Greenburg was struck under the right shoulder by a load of shot accidently discharged from a hunting companion's 12-gauge shotgun.

Greenburg, son of Harold E. and Margaret Greenburg of West Hurley, was hunting ducks with two companions, Noble Francis Garrison, 17, and his brother, James D. Garrison, 16, also of West Hurley.

The boys told investigators they were on the Woodstock dyke when they spotted some ducks on the water. They worked their way down through a stand of pine trees, and just as they emerged from the pines near water level, the ducks flew up, then circled back over the hunters.

Gun Goes Off

As the ducks flew back, Noble Garrison attempted to cock his single barrelled shot gun, but his cold-numbed hands slipped and the gun went off, the sheriff's office reported.

Physician Goes to Scene

Dr. Abraham Feldman was notified and proceeded to the scene immediately. Conner's ambulance also was summoned, but on its arrival the youth was found to be dead.

Deputy Sheriffs Earl Conro and Carl Cline were dispatched from the sheriff's office for the investigation. Joining in the investigation were Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the State Police BCI; Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg of the sheriff's office; Coroner Michael A. Galietta and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

Was Baseball Player

Greenburg, well known and promising young athlete, had been pitcher for the West Hurley Ball Club, which won this year's championship in the Olive Memorial League sponsored by the Olive Bridge American Legion Post. He was a graduate of St. Joseph's School, Class of 1950.

In addition to his parents, he is

Mayor Says Sewer Bid Based on Law

State Specifies Public Policy Opposes Letting Contract to Any Officer or Employe of Municipality

Basis for rejecting one bid on the Grand street sewer project is a state law saying it is contrary to public policy to permit a city officer or employe to make a contract with the municipality.

This was announced today by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who gave it as the reason for rejecting the bid of the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company in which Gilbert Hinkley, a city employe, is a partner.

Mayor Newkirk made the statement as president of the Board of Public Works, which, at a meeting last week, accepted the bid of James Berardi of Kingston for $41,111.

The bid submitted by the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company was for $37,461.

Newkirk made his statement today, he said, to refute last minute charges that there was "something sinister and evil in the awarding of the Grand street sewer contract. . . ."

Mayor, Wicks to Speak

The Mayor is scheduled to speak on WKNY tonight at 8 o'clock along with Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Ulster county Republican chairman; Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, city chairman, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly.

Mayor's Statement

The latest of the last minute charges as of Monday morning is that there was something sinister and evil in the awarding of the Grand street sewer contract last Wednesday.

The city accepted the bid of James Berardi for $41,111 and rejected the bid of the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company of $37,461 for the reason that one of the partners in that firm is a city employe.

The specifications to bid contained a statement that no firm could bid, if one of its officials was a city employe. That statement was in the original specifications which should have been read by everyone submitting a bid.

In Accordance With Law

The condition that no city employe could be interested in a bid is in accordance with law. There have been numerous opinions of the attorney general to that effect. In the case of Sebring v. Starner, 119 Misc. 651, the court wrote: "It is contrary to public policy to permit an officer or employe of a city to make a contract with it and such a contract is illegal even though the officer or employe has not gained any benefit therefrom."

It is conceded that Gilbert Hingley, a city employe, is a partner in the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company. The argument is now made that he could resign after the bids were opened. The time for him to resign if he preferred

UN Would Bypass Cease-Fire Block, Let Talks Go On

Kunsan, Korea, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United Nations today proposed bypassing the cease-fire buffer zone stumbling block until a Korean armistice is ready for signing.

The UN suggested a permanent committee study the buffer zone issue while negotiators go ahead with talks on other points that must be settled before the fighting can end.

First indications were that the Reds would reject the proposal. A briefing officer said they called it "unacceptable, unfair, unjust, unreasonable."

But, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said, they did agree to study the plan further. Presumably they will give their reply at a meeting scheduled for 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Nuckols said the proposal, if the Reds agree to it, would permit "double progress" in reaching a solution to the cease-fire problem in Korea. He said the plan "contained more hope than we've had for some time."

Would Go to Work

If the Communists agree to the proposal, the full delegations would go to work on these remaining points on the agenda:

1. Concrete arrangements to end the shooting and supervise the truce.

2. Exchange of prisoners of war.

3. Recommendations to the governments of the various countries concerned on both sides. (The Reds' demand that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea comes under this heading.)

Any one of these could develop into as hard a nut to crack as the location of the cease-fire buffer zone.

The proposal came in a four-point formal statement read by Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes in Monday's afternoon session of two-man subcommittees.

It provided:

1. That both sides accept the principle that any cease-fire zone will be based on the battleline at the time of the armistice signing, with 'appropriate adjustments."

2. That the zone be 2½ miles wide.

3. That a committee of three officers from each side determine

Matter Is Crux of Plan At Assembly

President Will Make Proposal, Acheson Will Give Program at Session

Propaganda Cited

Chief Value of Stand Is to Offer Material for Balking Reds

Paris, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United States was reliably reported today to have decided to propose a world-wide arms census including a complete accounting of all atomic weapons.

The U. S. plan, which will be placed before the United Nations Assembly here this week, calls for a strict system of verfication for the accounting. This may prove to be the stumbling block which could hold up indefinitely any disclosure of the number of atom bombs in the U. S. and Russia.

Informed quarters said the arms proposal was the heart of the reported peace plan which President Truman will announce Wednesday night and which Secretary of State Dean Acheson will lay before the United Nations Assembly, perhaps on Thursday.

Inclusion of atomic weapons in the proposed arms census represents a drastic change in U. S. policy. The census question has been before the UN since 1948, but was blocked by the Russian veto because the U. S. refused to include atomic weapons.

Word of the U. S. policy shift leaked out as the 60-nation assembly prepared to launch its 1951 meeting here tomorrow. The U. S. was reported asking Britain and France to support its new peace formula, timed to beat Russia to the peace punch before the Soviets have a chance to renew their expected peace offensive.

Would Be Valuable

The new U. S. proposal would be valuable primarily for propaganda purposes, since it might throw the Russians on the defensive and nullify any benefits they would expect to get from their own peace offensive. There appeared to be no chance at present that Russia would accept a system of inspection which would be agreeable to the western powers.

The main points of the arms census are expected to be:

1. A UN demand upon all countries for a complete accounting of all troops and weapons.

2. An ironclad system for sending inspectors into any country to make first-hand verification of the figures submitted.

In the past Russia has agreed in general terms to accept a system of inspection of atomic facilities, but her terms were never spelled out in concrete form.

The Russian idea—as stated in previous declarations—was for inspectors to be admitted periodically to established facilities. The Russians never have said they would give completely free access to UN inspectors to travel about the Soviet Union at will.

Preliminary Step

The Arms Census Plan is intended as a preliminary step toward general reduction of armaments and armed forces.

President Truman proposed to the last assembly that the UN combine atomic discussions with talks on conventional armaments. This idea has been accepted by the special committee which studied the question during the summer. It is now before the assembly for final action.

The proposal to include atomic weapons in any general arms census thus is considered a logical follow-up to the proposed merger of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Commission for Conventional Armaments. The U. S. originally opposed this merger also.

The main idea appeared to be to bring together several outstanding questions under one heading, launching them as a package proposal. According to best information available, this might include a plea to Russia for peace in Korea, the arms question and an appeal for a unified election in all of Germany.

Confirmed by British

First reports of this new approach circulated over the weekend and were confirmed by British sources yesterday. Britain's new foreign secretary, Anthony

Gunmen's Plan Reported To Free Nahant Baby-Sitters

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Three gunmen reportedly want to "spring" baby-sister Roberta McCauley from the juvenile detention camp where she landed after a big city spree on stolen money.

Fifteen-year-old Roberta, of Nahant, Mass., was accused with two other 'teen-age girls of an $18,000 cash theft from her employer, Dr. Albert Covner, also of Nahant, who later killed himself.

Police last night swarmed over East Side Manhattan and Welfare Island, where the camp is located, after receiving an anonymous letter warning that the armed trio would try to free the McCauley girl.

The letter said the girl knew where a large portion of the $19,000 could be found and that the three men wanted to get her off the island to obtain this information. The communication said the trio were acquainted with her.

After their arrest here about three weeks ago, the three girls told detectives they had spent $3,000 in Fifth avenue shops and Times Square night spots in two days. They said they hid $15,000 in a railroad station locker.

However, the money was not in the locker when they returned for it with police. The girls said they surmised that three men had taken the locker key, leaving a substitute, and snatched the cash. The girls said the trio left them in a bar shortly after they bragged about the cache.

The anonymous letter was sent to detectives at the police station house where the girls were questioned.

Hours after the alert, police reported no sign of the three men.

The McCauley girl is being held on the island for children's court action Nov. 14.

Her girl friends—Eileen Jeffry, 17, and Marilyn Curry, 16, both of Lynn, Mass.—were placed in a city jail because they are older and not considered juveniles. They are charged with grand larceny in Massachusetts.

Officers aboard the Hersey, carrying U. S. 43rd Division troops to Germany, refused to discuss the collision. They said an official statement would be issued later.

In Washington the number of those aboard the Hersey was given as from the 43rd Division, 163 officers and 2,590 men; casual replacements, about 120 officers and some 120 men.

Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Oscar V. Newkirk, wife of the city's mayor, was discharged yesterday afternoon from Kingston Hospital where she had spent several days recovering from an operation. She was taken to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Strobel, 106 Tubby street, where she will remain for a week before returning to her home.

Detective Said to Be Thief Who Seized Drugs in Stores

New York, Nov. 5 (AP) — Eyewitnesses today pointed out a 35-year-old city detective as the gunman who grabbed narcotics in seven drug store holdups since last May, police said.

The officer, George Killoran of (31-60 51st street) Woodside, Queens, was booked on a charge of assault and robbery.

Police said he refused to confirm or deny the robberies.

Members of his family and other detectives were reported as saying Killoran had been morose and kept to himself since his three-and-a-half-year-old son killed himself accidentally with the officer's gun 18 months ago. At the same time his wife had a miscarriage.

Authorities said they found on Killoran's arms and hands markings that might have come from a hypodermic needle. However, they added it was not now possible to say whether he used drugs.

Killoran was booked on the specific complaint of Manhattan druggist Murray Rosen, who said the detective had taken narcotics from his store on Aug. 29 and Oct. 13.

Other witnesses also accused him of holding up six Queens drug stores, one of them three times.

In each hold up, drugs were the principal or only loot.

An alarm was sent out for Killoran yesterday after he failed to show up for duty on time. Four hours later he voluntarily reported at his precinct and immediately was taken into custody.

The alarm followed a report that a man fitting Killoran's description and using his automobile had robbed a Manhattan East Side drug store. But the owner of this store and another witness were not able to identify Killoran at this morning's lineup.

During the questioning of Killoran by high department officials, many druggists whose stores had been robbed recently milled about the police station.

Police did not identify the Queens stores involved.

Up to Voters

When the citizens of Kingston go to the polls tomorrow they will select the administration heads of the city government for the ensuing two years. Mayor Newkirk is seeking re-election on his record as manager of the city's business and not as a politician.

One of the most conscientious public servants ever to hold the office of chief executive of our city, Mayor Newkirk has applied himself day and night to a solution of our city's problems. The biggest business in the city is the city's business itself and Mayor Newkirk has conducted it on a business basis, doing an outstanding job despite many handicaps brought about by economic conditions beyond his control. We believe that the taxpayers of our community will continue him in office.

Joseph Kelly, the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large, has proved himself an able president of our Common Council. He, too, has served faithfully and in addition has contributed much of his time to many other civic enterprises in the community.

The Common Council is the legislative branch of city government and it is important that it be comprised of men qualified to serve. Many important questions come before this body for decisions. If these men work in harmony with the mayor, then the best interests of the city will be served. The election of Republican aldermen will insure the city government of the council support it needs to carry out the city's business in a business manner.

It would seem needless to say anything about the Board of Supervisors. Upon the election of Republican supervisors depends a continuation of the good government in Ulster county for which the Republican Party is noted.

However, it is up to the people to make the decision. One thing is certain, and that is the people who have the privilege of voting, should vote. If you fail to carry out this obligation of citizenship, you do so with injury to yourself and with injury to the cause of good government.

Winter Hits Early, Causes 15 Deaths

Weather to Go Into 20s Tonight — Blizzard in Niagara Area

Albany, Nov. 5 (AP)—New York state's preview of winter entered its fifth day today, and forecasters indicated more weather woe ahead.

Fifteen persons died in mishaps attributed to the unseasonable snow and cold snap that rewrote some temperature records, piled snow drifts several feet high and hampered highway travel.

The Weather Bureau said the mercury would dip into the low 20s in many sections tonight.

A new "disturbance" is expected to hit western New York tomorrow probably bringing snow or rain, the bureau said.

The western end of the state caught the brunt of two week-end storms, one of them a fluke blizzard that saddled the Niagara area with 11 inches of snow yesterday.

Southern Tier Coldest

But the coldest places upstate were in the southern tier. Elmira reported 7 above Sunday, and Oneonta had 8 above early today.

For the second straight day, Albany had a record overnight low of 17, two degrees below the record for the date set in 1942. Sunday's 17 broke the previous mark of 21, set in 1891 and equalled in 1939.

Buffalo's 20 lowered the Nov. 5 record of 23 set in 1879.

Since Friday, 13 persons have lost their lives on icy highways. Two others were stricken fatally shoveling snow.

R. H. Greenburg Is Hit by Blast From Gun of Companion

Robert H. Greenburg, 15, of West Hurley, a Kingston High School sophomore, was killed in a hunting accident near the Ashokan Reservoir's Woodstock dyke about 1 p. m. Saturday.

A sheriff's office report said Greenburg was struck under the right shoulder by a load of shot accidently discharged from a hunting companion's 12-gauge shotgun.

Greenburg, son of Harold E. and Margaret Greenburg of West Hurley, was hunting ducks with two companions, Noble Francis Garrison, 17, and his brother, James D. Garrison, 16, also of West Hurley.

The boys told investigators they were on the Woodstock dyke when they spotted some ducks on the water. They worked their way down through a stand of pine trees, and just as they emerged from the pines near water level, the ducks flew up, then circled back over the hunters.

Gun Goes Off

As the ducks flew back, Noble Garrison attempted to cock his single barrelled shot gun, but his cold-numbed hands slipped and the gun went off, the sheriff's office reported.

Physician Goes to Scene

Dr. Abraham Feldman was notified and proceeded to the scene immediately. Conner's ambulance also was summoned, but on its arrival the youth was found to be dead.

Deputy Sheriffs Earl Conro and Carl Cline were dispatched from the sheriff's office for the investigation. Joining in the investigation were Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the State Police BCI; Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg of the sheriff's office; Coroner Michael A. Galietta and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

Was Baseball Player

Greenburg, well known and promising young athlete, had been pitcher for the West Hurley Ball Club, which won this year's championship in the Olive Memorial League sponsored by the Olive Bridge American Legion Post. He was a graduate of St. Joseph's School, Class of 1950.

In addition to his parents, he is

Mayor Says Sewer Bid Based on Law

State Specifies Public Policy Opposes Letting Contract to Any Officer or Employe of Municipality

Basis for rejecting one bid on the Grand street sewer project is a state law saying it is contrary to public policy to permit a city officer or employe to make a contract with the municipality.

This was announced today by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who gave it as the reason for rejecting the bid of the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company in which Gilbert Hinkley, a city employe, is a partner.

Mayor Newkirk made the statement as president of the Board of Public Works, which, at a meeting last week, accepted the bid of James Berardi of Kingston for $41,111.

The bid submitted by the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company was for $37,461.

Newkirk made his statement today, he said, to refute last minute charges that there was "something sinister and evil in the awarding of the Grand street sewer contract. . . ."

Mayor, Wicks to Speak

The Mayor is scheduled to speak on WKNY tonight at 8 o'clock along with Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Ulster county Republican chairman; Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, city chairman, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly.

Mayor's Statement

The latest of the last minute charges as of Monday morning is that there was something sinister and evil in the awarding of the Grand street sewer contract last Wednesday.

The city accepted the bid of James Berardi for $41,111 and rejected the bid of the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company of $37,461 for the reason that one of the partners in that firm is a city employe.

The specifications to bid contained a statement that no firm could bid, if one of its officials was a city employe. That statement was in the original specifications which should have been read by everyone submitting a bid.

In Accordance With Law

The condition that no city employe could be interested in a bid is in accordance with law. There have been numerous opinions of the attorney general to that effect. In the case of Sebring v. Starner, 119 Misc. 651, the court wrote: "It is contrary to public policy to permit an officer or employe of a city to make a contract with it and such a contract is illegal even though the officer or employe has not gained any benefit therefrom."

It is conceded that Gilbert Hingley, a city employe, is a partner in the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company. The argument is now made that he could resign after the bids were opened. The time for him to resign if he preferred

Kunsan, Korea, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United Nations today proposed bypassing the cease-fire buffer zone stumbling block until a Korean armistice is ready for signing.

The UN suggested a permanent committee study the buffer zone issue while negotiators go ahead with talks on other points that must be settled before the fighting can end.

First indications were that the Reds would reject the proposal. A briefing officer said they called it "unacceptable, unfair, unjust, unreasonable."

But, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said, they did agree to study the plan further. Presumably they will give their reply at a meeting scheduled for 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Nuckols said the proposal, if the Reds agree to it, would permit "double progress" in reaching a solution to the cease-fire problem in Korea. He said the plan "contained more hope than we've had for some time."

Would Go to Work

If the Communists agree to the proposal, the full delegations would go to work on these remaining points on the agenda:

1. Concrete arrangements to end the shooting and supervise the truce.
2. Exchange of prisoners of war.
3. Recommendations to the governments of the various countries concerned on both sides. (The Reds' demand that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea comes under this heading.)

Any one of these could develop into as hard a nut to crack as the location of the cease-fire buffer zone.

The proposal came in a four-point formal statement read by Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes in Monday's afternoon session of two-man subcommittees.

It provided:

1. That both sides accept the principle that any cease-fire zone will be based on the battleline at the time of the armistice signing, with 'appropriate adjustments."
2. That the zone be 2½ miles wide.
3. That a committee of three officers from each side determine

Gunmen's Plan Reported To Free Nahant Baby-Sitters

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Three gunmen reportedly want to "spring" baby-sister Roberta McCauley from the juvenile detention camp where she landed after a big city spree on stolen money.

Fifteen-year-old Roberta, of Nahant, Mass., was accused with two other 'teen-age girls of an $18,000 cash theft from her employer, Dr. Albert Covner, also of Nahant, who later killed himself.

Police last night swarmed over East Side Manhattan and Welfare Island, where the camp is located, after receiving an anonymous letter warning that the armed trio would try to free the McCauley girl.

The letter said the girl knew where a large portion of the $19,000 could be found and that the three men wanted to get her off the island to obtain this information. The communication said the trio were acquainted with her.

After their arrest here about three weeks ago, the three girls told detectives they had spent $3,000 in Fifth avenue shops and Times Square night spots in two days. They said they hid $15,000 in a railroad station locker.

However, the money was not in the locker when they returned for it with police. The girls said they surmised that three men had taken the locker key, leaving a substitute, and snatched the cash. The girls said the trio left them in a bar shortly after they bragged about the cache.

The anonymous letter was sent to detectives at the police station house where the girls were questioned.

Hours after the alert, police reported no sign of the three men.

The McCauley girl is being held on the island for children's court action Nov. 14.

Her girl friends—Eileen Jeffry, 17, and Marilyn Curry, 16, both of Lynn, Mass.—were placed in a city jail because they are older and not considered juveniles. They are charged with grand larceny in Massachusetts.

Matter Is Crux of Plan At Assembly

President Will Make Proposal, Acheson Will Give Program at Session

Chief Value of Stand Is to Offer Material for Balking Reds

Paris, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United States was reliably reported today to have decided to propose a world-wide arms census including a complete accounting of all atomic weapons.

The U. S. plan, which will be placed before the United Nations Assembly here this week, calls for a strict system of verfication for the accounting. This may prove to be the stumbling block which could hold up indefinitely any disclosure of the number of atom bombs in the U. S. and Russia.

Informed quarters said the arms proposal was the heart of the reported peace plan which President Truman will announce Wednesday night and which Secretary of State Dean Acheson will lay before the United Nations Assembly, perhaps on Thursday.

Inclusion of atomic weapons in the proposed arms census represents a drastic change in U. S. policy. The census question has been before the UN since 1948, but was blocked by the Russian veto because the U. S. refused to include atomic weapons.

Word of the U. S. policy shift leaked out as the 60-nation assembly prepared to launch its 1951 meeting here tomorrow. The U. S. was reported asking Britain and France to support its new peace formula, timed to beat Russia to the peace punch before the Soviets have a chance to renew their expected peace offensive.

Would Be Valuable

The new U. S. proposal would be valuable primarily for propaganda purposes, since it might throw the Russians on the defensive and nullify any benefits they would expect to get from their own peace offensive. There appeared to be no chance at present that Russia would accept a system of inspection which would have been agreeable to the western powers.

The main points of the arms census are expected to be:

1. A UN demand upon all countries for a complete accounting of all troops and weapons.
2. An ironclad system for sending inspectors into any country to make first-hand verification of the figures submitted.

In the past Russia has agreed in general terms to accept a system of inspection of atomic facilities, but her terms were never spelled out in concrete form.

The Russian idea—as stated in previous declarations—was for inspectors to be admitted periodically to established facilities. The Russians never have said they would give completely free access to UN inspectors to travel about the Soviet Union at will.

Preliminary Step

The Arms Census Plan is intended as a preliminary step toward general reduction of armaments and armed forces.

President Truman proposed to the last assembly that the UN combine atomic discussions with talks on conventional armaments. This idea has been accepted by the special committee which studied the question during the summer. It is now before the assembly for final action.

The proposal to include atomic weapons in any general arms census thus is considered a logical follow-up to the proposed merger of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Commission for Conventional Armaments. The U. S. originally opposed this merger also.

The main idea appeared to be to bring together several outstanding questions under one heading, launching them as a package proposal. According to best information available, this might include a plea to Russia for peace in Korea, the arms question and an appeal for a unified election in all of Germany.

Principal Speaker To Discuss Foreign Affairs Before CC

CLARENCE R. MILES

Clarence R. Miles, manager of the Governmental Affairs Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the area conference, in Poughkeepsie Thursday evening, sponsored by the various Chambers of Commerce of the Hudson valley. Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce today extended an invitation of all those interested to attend. Reservations may be made by calling the chamber office.

Miles has been instrumental in organizing throughout the country more than 2,400 committees on national affairs, which have for their purpose the promotion of better government and of legislation that will assure a sound and free national economy. Committee members are community missionaries in arousing public interest in what is taking place in Washington.

A native of Rochester, Miles was graduated from Hillsdale College, Michigan, and went to work in the rubber indusrty.

Miles turned to chamber of commerce work, and from 1920 to 1929 was secretary of the Davenport, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce. While secretary there, he was elected President of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries. The association is the professional organization of chamber of commerce management.

Miles attracted the attention of the National Chamber, and in 1929 was made manager of its Northwestern Division with headquarters at Minneapolis. He subsequently was moved to Chicago to become manager of the North Central Division. He held that post from 1936 to 1946. While in Chicago he took a leading part in developing the National Institute for Organization Executives a summer course at Northwestern University for professional training of Chamber of Commerce and trade association personnel.

In 1946, Miles was taken into the Chamber's Washington headquarters office to manage the Governmental Affairs Department. Under his direction, the department has maintained a steady growth. His staff covering the Capitol is made up of men who follow and report legislative moves and developments to the Chamber's membership. A part of the Governmental Affairs staff is kept busy answering individual requests from the membership for information on specific legislative proposals.

The Governmental Affairs Department coordinated all the legislative work of the chamber's 11 representative and project departments, assisting in the selection of witnesses before congressional committees and guiding the preparation of congressional testimony before committees or of communications to members of Congress. It provides the chamber's members with an overall legislative reporting service which has wide and enthusiastic acceptance.

The department keeps the chamber's field staff throughout the country immediately informed of legislative developments so they can give counsel to the 20,000 members of national affairs committees.

Miles is a forceful public speaker. His interpretation of Washington trends and events for business audiences is informative and of a practical nature. He goes behind the news to show what often are unseen forces influencing the course of events in the nation's capital.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, called home from his European defense command for conferences with President Truman, had a round of talks with top military officials today before going to the White House.

All circumstances pointed to the prospect that momentous decisions were in the making but no one in authority would talk about that with reporters.

The White House specifically declined comment on reports from Paris that the United States would present to the United Nations meeting there a "peace plan" embracing a proposal for world-wide arms census, including a complete accounting of all atomic weapons.

President Truman arranged to see Eisenhower alone in their first meeting, he set aside over two hours for it. He asked Eisenhower to a one o'clock luncheon, and had no further engagements until 3:15 p. m. (EST) when they were to be joined by top defense officials.

Can Seek Reductions

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Supreme Court today gave 12 persons accused of Communist activities a new chance to win release from jail in Los Angeles on bail of less than $50,000 each. The 12 appealed to the high tribunal after lower federal courts in California refused to cut their bail. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Vinson, said the U. S. District Court in San Francisco had not used "proper methods" in fixing the $50,000 figure. Vinson said the 12 should be permitted to go back to the District Court and ask for reduced bail, and that they should have the right to appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court in San Francisco if denied a reduction. Among the group is William Schneiderman, referred to as the acting head of the Communist party in the United States. He was arrested in New York last summer and taken to Los Angeles.

Say Three Admit Roles

Pleasantville, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—State police said today that three Massachusetts men have admitted sharing in a weekend steal-and-run escapade that ended with their capture at Bedford Village early last night. Their adventure netted them only 'a handful of cash and a hatful of trouble," police spokesmen reported. But before their two-state grab-as-we-go tour ended, they were alleged to have rifled through two schools, two garages, stolen four automobiles and slugged and robbed an 82-year-old gasoline station attendant.

Two more enlistments for the air force have been announced by the Kingston U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station. They are Frank E. Francisco of Bath, Me., and Junious L. Harris, Jr., of 43 Gage street, this city. Pvt. Francisco, a graduate of Rutgers University, was employed by Elmendorf's Market in Hurley. Pvt. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Junious L. Harris, Sr., and is a graduate of Kingston High School class of 1950. He has a brother, Lincoln, in the air force in Burtonwood, England. Pvts. Harris and Francisco are now stationed at Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva.

Bridge Travel Increases in Area

October travel over the three Hudson river bridges under control of the New York State Bridge Authority was 5.81 per cent above that of a year ago, the authority announced today.

The bridges clocked 538,524 in October this year and 508,938 in 1950, a gain of 29,586 vehicles.

The Mid-Hudson bridge showed the highest gain last month with a total of 285,468 as against 266,252 in October, 1950, for a percentage gain of 7.22 and 19,216 vehicles.

The Rip Van Winkle bridge clocked 121,229 as against 115,611 last year for a gain of 4.86 or 5,618 vehicles. The Bear Mountain bridge clocked 131,827 this year and 127,075 last for a gain of 3.74 per cent or 4,752 vehicles.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry showed losses in both vehicular and pedestrian travel. The totals were 6,637 vehicles this year and 8,061 last, and 1,796 pedestrians against 2,218. The loss in vehicles was 1,424 and in pedestrians 422.

"How much will it cost to heat MY HOME ELECTRICALLY?"

'Everybody has dreams of heating an entire house by electricity. Everybody knows that electric heat is CLEAN, SAFE and DEPENDABLE.

Nobody, that is, except the folks who've had a talk with a GLASSHEAT dealer . . or the folks who have already tried GLASSHEAT in their own homes.

The GLASSHEAT DEALER will tell you how much electric heating will cost, based on your electric rate. He will show you what is needed (if anything) to make electric heating of your home an economy . . . and will give you figures to prove that the total cost of installation of a system of GLASSHEAT panels plus what insulation you might need is usually less than a heating system alone.

CLARENCE R. MILES

Clarence R. Miles, manager of the Governmental Affairs Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the area conference, in Poughkeepsie Thursday evening, sponsored by the various Chambers of Commerce of the Hudson valley. Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce today extended an invitation of all those interested to attend. Reservations may be made by calling the chamber office.

Miles has been instrumental in organizing throughout the country more than 2,400 committees on national affairs, which have for their purpose the promotion of better government and of legislation that will assure a sound and free national economy. Committee members are community missionaries in arousing public interest in what is taking place in Washington.

A native of Rochester, Miles was graduated from Hillsdale College, Michigan, and went to work in the rubber indusrty.

Miles turned to chamber of commerce work, and from 1920 to 1929 was secretary of the Davenport, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce. While secretary there, he was elected President of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries. The association is the professional organization of chamber of commerce management.

Miles attracted the attention of the National Chamber, and in 1929 was made manager of its Northwestern Division with headquarters at Minneapolis. He subsequently was moved to Chicago to become manager of the North Central Division. He held that post from 1936 to 1946. While in Chicago he took a leading part in developing the National Institute for Organization Executives a summer course at Northwestern University for professional training of Chamber of Commerce and trade association personnel.

In 1946, Miles was taken into the Chamber's Washington headquarters office to manage the Governmental Affairs Department. Under his direction, the department has maintained a steady growth. His staff covering the Capitol is made up of men who follow and report legislative moves and developments to the Chamber's membership. A part of the Governmental Affairs staff is kept busy answering individual requests from the membership for information on specific legislative proposals.

The Governmental Affairs Department coordinated all the legislative work of the chamber's 11 representative and project departments, assisting in the selection of witnesses before congressional committees and guiding the preparation of congressional testimony before committees or of communications to members of Congress. It provides the chamber's members with an overall legislative reporting service which has wide and enthusiastic acceptance.

The department keeps the chamber's field staff throughout the country immediately informed of legislative developments so they can give counsel to the 20,000 members of national affairs committees.

Miles is a forceful public speaker. His interpretation of Washington trends and events for business audiences is informative and of a practical nature. He goes behind the news to show what often are unseen forces influencing the course of events in the nation's capital.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, called home from his European defense command for conferences with President Truman, had a round of talks with top military officials today before going to the White House.

All circumstances pointed to the prospect that momentous decisions were in the making but no one in authority would talk about that with reporters.

The White House specifically declined comment on reports from Paris that the United States would present to the United Nations meeting there a "peace plan" embracing a proposal for world-wide arms census, including a complete accounting of all atomic weapons.

President Truman arranged to see Eisenhower alone in their first meeting, he set aside over two hours for it. He asked Eisenhower to a one o'clock luncheon, and had no further engagements until 3:15 p. m. (EST) when they were to be joined by top defense officials.

The number of Legion memberships, new and renewals, obtained by the voyageurs of New York state exceeded the 100,000 mark. The greatest number that has ever been obtained by the Forty and Eight of New York state or any other state. The trophy is a permanent one and will remain with the local voiture of the Forty and Eight. It is on display in the American Legion Memorial Home on West O'Reilly street.

Elks to Celebrate Election Victory

No matter how the election goes tomorrow, there will be open house for a celebration at the Elks Club.

Both candidates in the mayoralty race here are members of Kingston Lodge, 550, Oscar V. Newkirk, Republican incumbent and Raymond A. McAndrew, Democratic candidate.

Joseph S. Disch, chairman of the house committee, said members of the lodge and their friends are invited to attend the victory celebration.

Can Seek Reductions

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Supreme Court today gave 12 persons accused of Communist activities a new chance to win release from jail in Los Angeles on bail of less than $50,000 each. The 12 appealed to the high tribunal after lower federal courts in California refused to cut their bail. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Vinson, said the U. S. District Court in San Francisco had not used "proper methods" in fixing the $50,000 figure. Vinson said the 12 should be permitted to go back to the District Court and ask for reduced bail, and that they should have the right to appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court in San Francisco if denied a reduction. Among the group is William Schneiderman, referred to as the acting head of the Communist party in the United States. He was arrested in New York last summer and taken to Los Angeles.

Say Three Admit Roles

Pleasantville, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—State police said today that three Massachusetts men have admitted sharing in a weekend steal-and-run escapade that ended with their capture at Bedford Village early last night. Their adventure netted them only 'a handful of cash and a hatful of trouble," police spokesmen reported. But before their two-state grab-as-we-go tour ended, they were alleged to have rifled through two schools, two garages, stolen four automobiles and slugged and robbed an 82-year-old gasoline station attendant.

Latest Treatment Given on Frostbite

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Warm the frozen parts rapidly. Use warm water if possible, at about body temperature.

This will hurt more than slow warming, but there won't be as much damage to tissues and probably less risk of an aftermath of gangrene.

Don't rub with snow. That just delays recovery, even though it may not hurt as much.

This is all you can do, and what the doctors can do in addition comprises a few drugs that thin the blood or dilate blood vessels. These speed recovery and may prevent gangrene.

Last year there were high hopes of finding a new remedy for frostbite, because of the thousands of Korean fighters badly frozen. This spurred military medical research. But all that came out was assurance that the old method of warming up quickly is still the best.

One of the military studies was made on rabbits at the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Feld, San Antonio, by Lt. Col. R. B. Lewis, who received the Welcome medal for his work. This is an annual award by the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

Some interesting facts were found. The damage by freezing was found under the microscope to look very much like a burn.

Since the new hormone cortisone does miracles with burn healing, it was tried on freezing. And had no effect.

Heparin—a blood-thinning drug—which has had good effects for human beings, did nothing worth while for the rabbits.

Plaster casts, and pressure bandages, which some doctors find useful for frostbite, showed no good effect on the frozen rabbits.

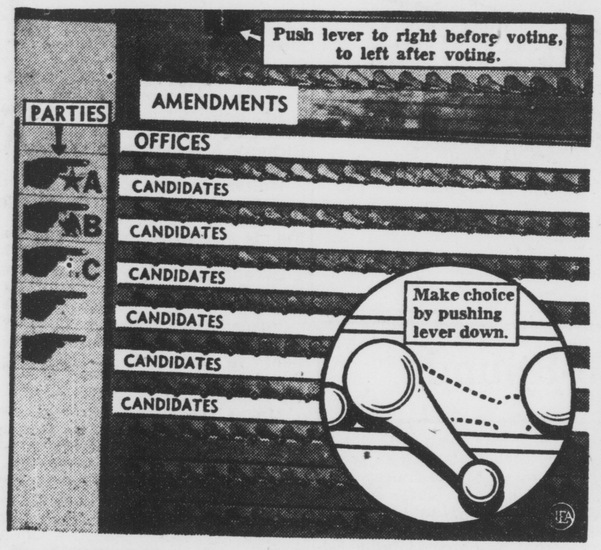
Your Responsibilities as a Voter

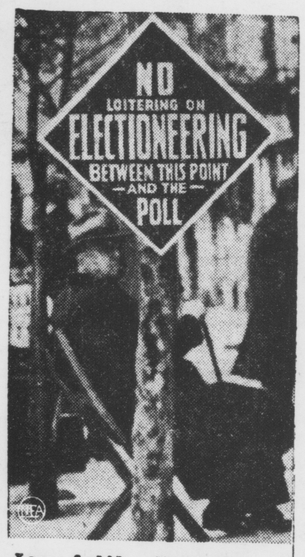
Depicted below are your four major responsibilities as a voter: planning time to vote; knowing for whom to vote; knowing how to vote, and safeguarding the integrity of elections by reporting violations. Voting is one of your most precious rights. Make sure you exercise it on Election Day.

Plan time to vote on Nov. 5 by completing baby - sitting arrangements and scheduling family activities now.

Know the candidates. Compare their records as office holders and citizens and analyze their platforms. Give careful consideration to any amendments up for a vote. Learn beforehand which levers on the voting machines represent your choices.



Do not dilly-dally in the voting booth. Others are waiting their turn. Don't become flustered if you push a lever by mistake. You may change your vote by turning back lever moved in error and turning down correct one. If you've never voted, study diagram.



Law forbids distribution of handbills and other electioneering within a specified distance from the polls. Report violators!

Municipal Fights Are Paramount in Upstate Sections

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Candidates squared off today for their final round of campaigning before tomorrow's "off-year" election, which has failed to excite many voters in New York state.

Bitter fights for control of municipal governments are being waged in several upstate cities. New York city voters will decide a three-way fight for the presidency of the city council.

On the statewide front things were quiet. The only "candidates" were eight amendments that proposed changes in the state constitution. The proposals have stirred only scattered opposition.

A slim total of 5,468,246 voters has registered this year.

The upstate turnout tomorrow may be affected by the weather. Near-freezing temperatures gripped the state today in the wake of a freak weekend snowstorm. However, the weather bureau predicted temperatures would head upward tomorrow.

Those registered compare with 5,679,633 who signed for the last comparable off-year election in 1947. The total compares with 7,044,676 for the presidential race in 1948 and 6,432,770 for last year's gubernatorial election.

Control Retention Sought

The major interest upstate is in contests in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Elmira, Niagara Falls and Schenectady.

Democrats are trying to retain control in Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Schenectady and to take over in Rochester, Syracuse and Elmira, where they replaced GOP governments in 1949 but lost in subsequent elections.

He is opposed by the acting president, Democrat Joseph T. Sharkey, and by Republican Henry J. Latham, a Congressman since 1945. Halley has the backing of the Liberal, City Fusion and Independent parties.

All police leaves in the city have been cancelled for a 44-hour period starting at 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow and continuing until 4 p. m., Wednesday.

Two policemen will be assigned to each of the city's 3,800 polling places. The police department said an "adequate" detail would be on hand in Times Square tomorrow night to handle the expected crowds.

Amendment No. 4 has created the most controversy of any of the eight proposed constitutional changes. It would permit the state to put its credit behind $500,000,000 in bonds for contruction of the cross-state thruway.

Governor Dewey's administration has battled hard to have the measure approved. It is the only one for which the Democrats have urged defeat.

Another proposed amendment would authorize the Legislature to appropriate funds to increase pensions for retired state and local public employes. It has drawn heavy fire from some quarters, but has the backing of both major political parties.

U. S. Auto Plates Valid

The National Geographic Society says U. S. auto license plates now are valid in many European countries under a United Nations agreement.

Rochester Reformed Church, the Rev. George D. Wood, pastor Choir rehearsal will be held at the church Monday at 7:30 p. m. instead of the usual rehearsal night.

The 250th anniversary celebration of the Rochester Reformed Church will be held Nov. 11 and 12. Services are planned as follows: Sunday, 11 a. m., historical message by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Wood; Sunday, 8 p. m., address by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of the First Reformed Church, Kingston; Monday, 8 p. m., greetings from former pastors and a social hour. There will be a display of former years including pictures. A short history of the church and a commemorative plate will be available.

The Accord Health Center has moved to its new rooms in the new school building in the village.

The regular monthly meeting of the public health nursing committee will be held at the new school building Nov. 14 at 8 p. m. The Rev. George D. Wood will be the guest speaker. The public is invited.

Latest Treatment Given on Frostbite

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Warm the frozen parts rapidly. Use warm water if possible, at about body temperature.

This will hurt more than slow warming, but there won't be as much damage to tissues and probably less risk of an aftermath of gangrene.

Don't rub with snow. That just delays recovery, even though it may not hurt as much.

This is all you can do, and what the doctors can do in addition comprises a few drugs that thin the blood or dilate blood vessels. These speed recovery and may prevent gangrene.

Last year there were high hopes of finding a new remedy for frostbite, because of the thousands of Korean fighters badly frozen. This spurred military medical research. But all that came out was assurance that the old method of warming up quickly is still the best.

One of the military studies was made on rabbits at the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Feld, San Antonio, by Lt. Col. R. B. Lewis, who received the Welcome medal for his work. This is an annual award by the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

Some interesting facts were found. The damage by freezing was found under the microscope to look very much like a burn.

Since the new hormone cortisone does miracles with burn healing, it was tried on freezing. And had no effect.

Heparin—a blood-thinning drug—which has had good effects for human beings, did nothing worth while for the rabbits.

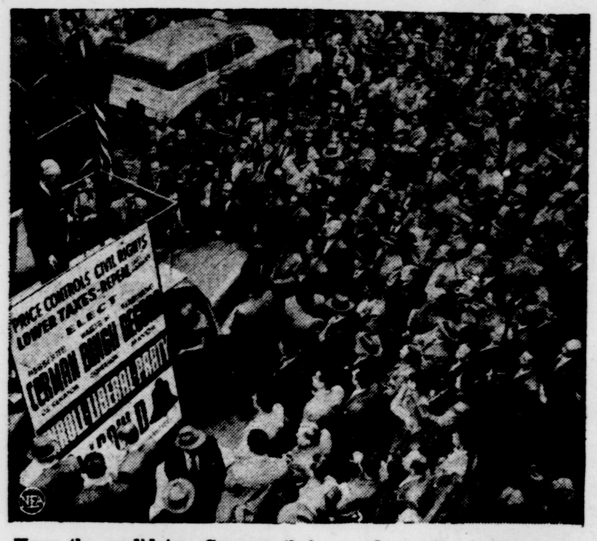
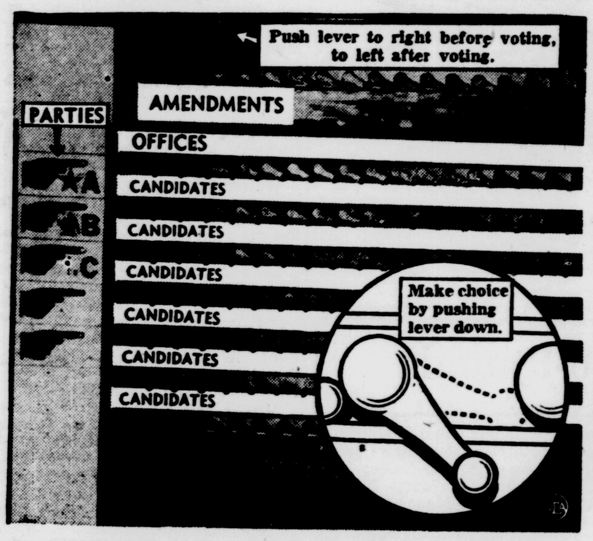
Your Responsibilities as a Voter

Depicted below are your four major responsibilities as a voter: planning time to vote; knowing for whom to vote; knowing how to vote, and safeguarding the integrity of elections by reporting violations. Voting is one of your most precious rights. Make sure you exercise it on Election Day.

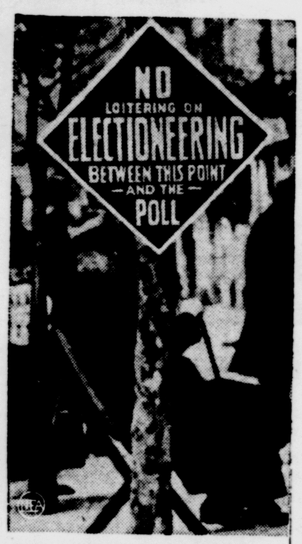
Plan time to vote on Nov. 5 by completing baby-sitting arrangements and scheduling family activities now.



Know the candidates. Compare their records as office holders and citizens and analyze their platforms. Give careful consideration to any amendments up for a vote. Learn beforehand which levers on the voting machines represent your choices.



Do not dilly-daily in the voting booth. Others are waiting their turn. Don't become flustered if you push a lever by mistake. You may change your vote by turning back lever moved in error and turning down correct one. If you've never voted, study diagram.



Law forbids distribution of handbills and other electioneering within a specified distance from the polls. Report violators!

Municipal Fights Are Paramount in Upstate Sections

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Candidates squared off today for their final round of campaigning before tomorrow's "off-year" election, which has failed to excite many voters in New York state.

Bitter fights for control of municipal governments are being waged in several upstate cities. New York city voters will decide a three-way fight for the presidency of the city council.

On the statewide front things were quiet. The only "candidates" were eight amendments that proposed changes in the state constitution. The proposals have stirred only scattered opposition.

A slim total of 5,468,246 voters has registered this year.

The upstate turnout tomorrow may be affected by the weather. Near-freezing temperatures gripped the state today in the wake of a freak weekend snowstorm. However, the weather bureau predicted temperatures would head upward tomorrow.

Those registered compare with 5,679,633 who signed for the last comparable off-year election in 1947. The total compares with 7,044,676 for the presidential race in 1948 and 6,432,770 for last year's gubernatorial election.

Control Retention Sought

The major interest upstate is in contests in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Elmira, Niagara Falls and Schenectady.

Democrats are trying to retain control in Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Schenectady and to take over in Rochester, Syracuse and Elmira, where they replaced GOP governments in 1949 but lost in subsequent elections.

He is opposed by the acting president, Democrat Joseph T. Sharkey, and by Republican Henry J. Latham, a Congressman since 1945. Halley has the backing of the Liberal, City Fusion and Independent parties.

All police leaves in the city have been cancelled for a 44-hour period starting at 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow and continuing until 4 p. m., Wednesday.

Two policemen will be assigned to each of the city's 3,800 polling places. The police department said an "adequate" detail would be on hand in Times Square tomorrow night to handle the expected crowds.

Amendment No. 4 has created the most controversy of any of the eight proposed constitutional changes. It would permit the state to put its credit behind $500,000,000 in bonds for contruction of the cross-state thruway.

Governor Dewey's administration has battled hard to have the measure approved. It is the only one for which the Democrats have urged defeat.

Another proposed amendment would authorize the Legislature to appropriate funds to increase pensions for retired state and local public employes. It has drawn heavy fire from some quarters, but has the backing of both major political parties.

REDS MUST NEGOTIATE SERIOUSLY

Despite optimism over the resumption of peace talks in Korea, prospects for a settlement can hardly be described as bright. Russia's rejection of the U. S. effort to break the impasse at the Moscow level inevitably casts a pall over negotiations.

Up to now, the feeling in official quarters has been that a bitter logic of compulsion has brought the Communists back to the council table again and again, when it appeared all hope of further discussion was lost.

The elements of compulsion were seen to be these:

Inability of the Chinese and North Korean Reds to win from Russia enough new armor and other material to provide the punch for another offensive.

The prospect of shivering out another cruel Korean winter with forces certain to be severely decimated by cold and disease.

These elements still must be working their powerful logic on the Communist high command. Yet the Reds' performance at Kaesong and Panmunjom shows little sign they are ready for the only kind of settlement the military realities will allow.

General Ridgway has recently informed them in plain words that each day's delay costs them territory, for as our soldiers advance they take the truce line with them. UN forces today are four to 15 miles beyond their line of Aug. 23, last day of real negotiations.

But even this knowledge has made no substantial dent. Current optimism is over getting around the table again—not over any concrete proposals for settlement. The truth is no progress at all has been made toward that objective and we must at least entertain the thought that the Reds intend no settlement we could accept.

At the start they may have been misled by early official U. S. declarations that a ceasefire along the 38th Parallel might be satisfactory. Foreign Minister Vishinsky's reply to our Moscow overtures indicates the Reds still think in those terms.

Apparently they were upset by our determination to take the truce line with us as we advanced, and to seek a line more defensible militarily than the 38th Parallel.

It must be remembered that never in postwar history have Communists been asked to yield land they held before an aggression began. This is something they have never had to swallow. Despite harsh battlefield realities, they haven't yet been able to digest this.

To settle at the 38th would permit them to claim they had "repelled the Western invader bent on conquering North Korea." They could gloss over their faliure to win their own goal — South Korea. But they could not gloss over the presence of a potent enemy force 20 to 30 miles inside territory they once called their own.

That is their dilemma. They are meeting it by stalling, by going through truce-talk motions which tend to deflect attention from the battlefield and to water down firmer military resolve on our part. They may well be playing by ear, improvising as they go, hoping something will turn up to give them the break they need.

The question before the United Nations is how long it will permit this fragile device to assist the Communists. If we do not have within the next month or so unmistakabe evidence that the Reds are negotiating seriously, we might well consider that the time is at hand for more vigorous prosecution of the war. In war there are some things even a Communist may be brought to accept. And the peril of irreversible defeat is one.

The selection of Winston Churchill as British prime minister created a problem for the old warrior. He has been engaged in compiling his memoirs but he seems to be continuing to make history faster than he can write it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE FIFTH AMENDMENT

Professor Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University once wrote:

"Certainly it is a gross perversion not only of the concept of loyalty but of the concept of Americanism to identify it with a particular economic system. . . ."

This is undoubtedly true but it is unimportant. I do not believe that any question of an "economic system" is involved in the contest which is being waged in this country against the Communists, against subversive or corrupt persons. Certainly when a protest is made against a thieving tax collector, the issue is not whether he is a capitalist or a socialist, a Republican or a Democrat. The point is that we are shocked by the fact that thieves have worked their way into government. We challenge them as thieves.

So Communists are not opposed because they believe in government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange but because they are agents, spies, provocateurs for an alien power, for a government that uses propaganda, infiltration and corruption as a means of military conquest.

Those, therefore, who use the fifth amendment, which they have a legal right to use, to avoid giving information concerning this conspiracy are morally guilty of aiding those who would destroy this country.

Here is a definite conflict between a legal right and a moral responsibility. Which shall prevail?

The fifth amendment provides:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Those who, in Communist cases, claim immunity from questioning under the terms of the fifth amendment do so under the words, "nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

Actually, it is no crime in the United States to be a Communist but it is illegal to engage in a conspiracy to destroy our government. It is not illegal to oppose the capitalist system but it is illegal to be a spy.

A congressional committee is not a court of law and does not try cases, but the information gathered by such a committee may be used by prosecuting officials to obtain an indictment for a crime. While it is not possible to claim double jeopardy in connection with a congressional committee, it is possible to claim self-incrimination.

Although no one is to be adjudged guilty of anything because he has been subpoenaed by a congressional committee or questioned by it, it is reasonable to assume that if a witness claims the immunities of the fifth amendment, he knows that he has done something which could be self-incriminating. In a word, he admits moral guilt where no legal charge has yet been made.

This right that no person may be required to incriminate himself is strictly personal. No one may plead that the provision of information will incriminate a third person. Therefore, those witnesses before congressional committees who refuse to name others, are wrong when they claim immunity under the fifth amendment unless they have conspired with these others to commit a crime. In effect, when they make such a plea they establish the existence of a conspiracy to which the pleader has been a party.

What it comes down to is this: While a witness may invoke the fifth amendment as a justification for silence, you and I are entitled to assume that he does it because, in his own judgment, he had committed an infamous crime. So far as public opinion is concerned, he places himself in the awkward position of confessing to participation in improper, even in illegal actions, in spite of the fact that public officials may not know of or may not be able to prove his guilt.

Lawyers, who advise clients not dependent upon public opinion to claim immunity under the fifth amendment, may be sound. When they so advise motion picture, television, or radio folks or public officials, like tax collectors, to do likewise, they risk their clients' future because public censure is inevitable. The fifth amendment is wrecking careers.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LIVING LONG AFTER HEART STROKES

Not long ago, when an individual had an attack of coronary thrombosis, a heart stroke, it was thought that the sword of Damocles hung over him and the next stroke, or at most the third stroke, would carry him off. Then, it was found that the majority of these cases, by going to bed for four or five weeks, then taking more rest, avoiding excitement and avoiding or cutting down on tobacco, were able to live several years, some having further strokes and some having no further strokes.

Some encouraging information on heart strokes comes from headquarters, the American Heart Journal, St. Louis, that should be known by all victims of heart strokes and by their families.

Dr. E. P. Boas reports studies of 115 men and nine women who had been under observation for coronary artery disease for at least ten years. The average time since first attack occurred was 13.6 years.

The age of the patient when first attack occurred had no apparent effect upon how long he would remain alive or on the course of the disease. Patients whose illness began with a simple angina pectoris (breast pain or breast pang) had a better prognosis (chance of remaining alive) than those whose heart symptoms began with a heart stroke. In 15 patients who had not had high blood pressure, enlargement of the heart had developed. Eighty-one patients (65 per cent) were without heart symptoms for one or more years and 89 (72 per cent) followed their usual occupations during most of their illness.

Dr. Boas states that this study of 115 cases of coronary artery disease emphasizes the fact that the unpredictable, variegated course of coronary artery disease and the frequent modifications or mildness of the symptoms means that one or several attacks of coronary thrombosis makes it impossible for the physician to tell the patient just what his chances are of living many years and of the years he does live, how free he will be of heart symptoms.

The important point as shown by the fact that three of every four of above patients followed their usual occupation, is that they had observed and obeyed the warning signals but had not allowed themselves to become heart invalids. They tried to avoid emotional disturbances, heavy meals and strenuous exercise, hence their long life span despite coronary artery disease.

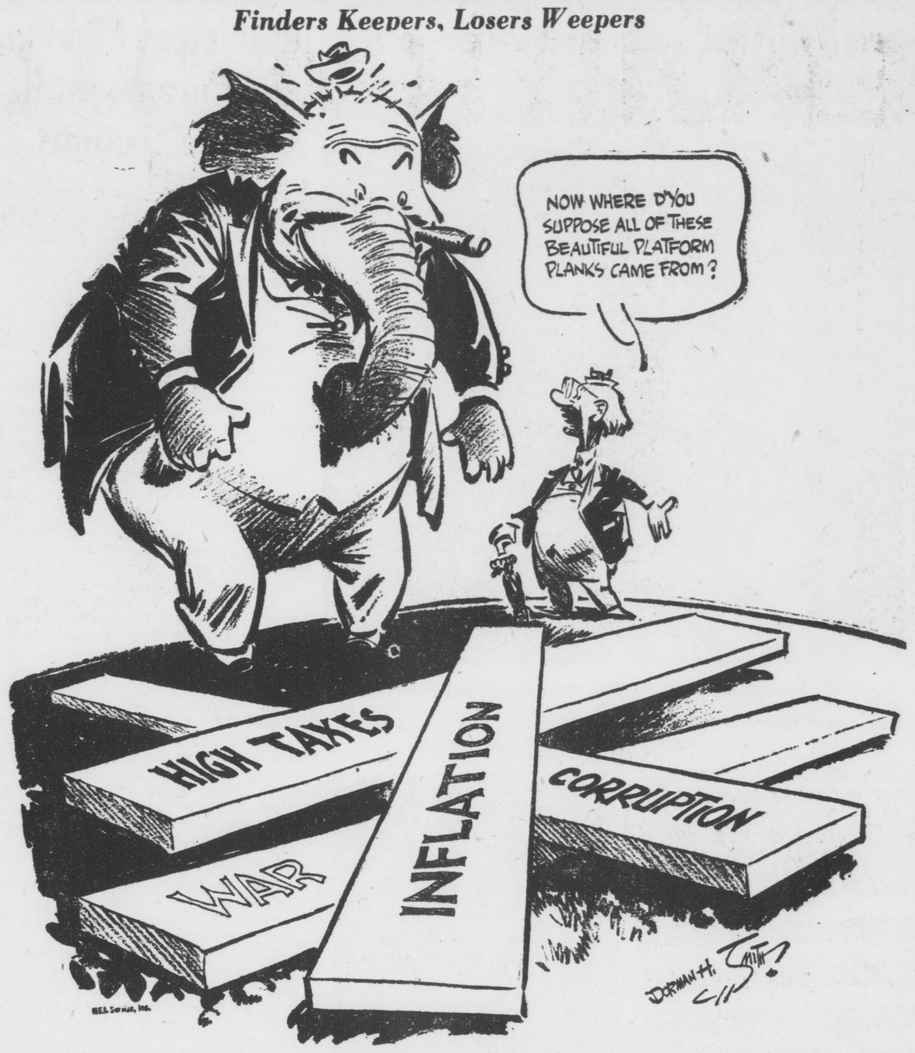
Finders Keepers, Losers Weepers



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The Democratic National Committee almost came apart at the seams last week when party officials journeyed to Washington to "elect" President Truman's hand-picked candidate as party chairman.

On the surface all was sweetness and light—just as sweet as the Princess Elizabeth, whom HST was entertaining while his party chieftains boiled. But underneath, controversy was so bitter that at one point top lady Democrat India Edwards resigned as vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

In the end, visiting Democrats came to heel in a most undemocratic manner. They did exactly what the White House wanted them to do—thanked outgoing Chairman Bill Boyle for his past services and dutifully elected Indiana's Frank McKinney, a little-known amateur, to replace him. It had the efficiency of a well-trained animal act.

The revolt which simmered, but never reached the boiling point, got its initial touch-off two weeks ago when President Truman called in Vice-Chairman India Edwards and offered her Bill Boyle's place. Mrs. Edwards, an energetic and popular figure among all Democrats, declined on the grounds that the '52 election campaign should be run by a man. But she specifically and categorically asked that she be consulted on the selection of the new chairman. The President specifically and categorically agreed.

King-Maker Connelly

Thereafter Mrs. Edwards wrote the President, suggesting several prominent Democrats as national chairman, including Alabama's Sen. John Sparkman, Denver's Ex-Congressman John Carroll and Price Administrator Mike Di Salle.

Meanwhile, unknown to Mrs. Edwards, Presidential Aide Matt Connelly was working feverishly to put over his own candidate. Connelly, who fancies himself a "king-maker" and the real "power behind the power," was plugging for either Pennsylvania's Federal Judge Jim McGranery or Indiana's Frank McKinney. When Connelly heard that McGranery would probably be opposed by Mayor Dave Lawrence of Pittsburgh and Ex-Senator Francis Myers of Philadelphia, he devoted full time to promoting McKinney.

Connelly's maneuvering was so secret that neither retiring chairman Bill Boyle nor Mrs. Edwards was aware of it.

Only on Monday, two days before the committee met, was Boyle informed by the President that McKinney was "the man." Boyle immediately got on the phone and passed the word along to key Democrats, including India Edwards. When she heard of it, she hit the ceiling, and promptly turned in her resignation as vice-chairman.

The Ladies Revolt

News of Mrs. Edwards' resignation hit the Democratic committeemen simultaneously with the news that Frank McKinney was to be their new boss. Both caused consternation, the former because Mrs. Edwards is extremely popular, the second because McKinney was almost unknown to most Democratic leaders. Also southern and western Democrats felt that in view of the Vatican appointment, the new chairman should have been a Protestant rather than continuing the thirty years of Catholic party leadership.

Leaders of the revolt included Carl Thompson, Democratic committeeman from Wisconsin; the two Kansas committeemen, Carl Rice and Georgia Neese Clark; and Oregon's Monroe Sweetland. The latter suggested that a delegation make a personal protest direct to the President.

Accordingly, Iowa's Florence Lynch telephoned king-maker Matt Connelly to ask for an appointment. King-maker Connelly refused. He did not want anyone disturbing his plans to put across his hand-picked national chairman.

The day before the committee was to have its rubber-stamp session, therefore, Mrs. Lynch called a meeting in her room in the Mayflower Hotel. Attending were: Pennsylvania's Emma Guffey Miller, New Jersey's Mary Norton, Minnesota's Ione Hunt, and Wisconsin's Mrs. Dan Hoan. All agreed that as between India Edwards and Frank McKinney, Mrs. Edwards was their gal and they would stick by her through thick and thin. So, failing to get past king-maker Connelly for an appointment, they sent a letter to the President urging him to intervene personally with Mrs. Edwards and hinting that if he did not persuade her to stay, his hand-picked candidate might not be committee-picked next day.

Truman got the letter, hurriedly called Mrs. Edwards, apologized for the misunderstanding and urged her to remain. She agreed.

Thereafter, opposition to new Chairman McKinney gradually melted—especially after his resounding speech next day promising to clean out influence peddlers.

Biloxi Gambling Backfires

The air force may retaliate against Biloxi, Miss., whose wide-open gambling got Keesler Field into hot water with the Senate. What the air force may do is quietly abandon a lucrative, $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, thus depriving Biloxi of some juicy contracts and jobs.

The reason is that gambling has been so widespread in Biloxi that the air force couldn't keep Keesler-based personnel from gambling without placing the whole city off limits, including the leading hotels, bus station and even the basement of a church. Instead, Keesler Field tried to solve the problem by expanding the recreation program on the base, establishing a 10:30 p. m. curfew and appealing to the Biloxi authorities to clean up their town.

However, the gamblers continued to fleece 18-year-old recruits and others, until this columnist first exposed the whole sordid story last July. This columnist listed the number of gambling joints operating wide open, reported that one lieutenant had even committed suicide over gambling losses, and revealed that the majority of Keesler servicemen were around 18. The column then turned the evidence over to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. As a result, Senate investigators cracked down on Biloxi, and the air force got a black eye for not keeping its men out of the dives.

Real blame, according to Senate investigators, rests squarely on Biloxi authorities, who winked at law violations and openly conspired with the gamblers. Since the gambling trade lured free-spending tourists into the town, which in turn lowered local taxes, the townspeople refused to get stirred up over young recruits squandering one-third of their pay.

That is why the air force may now retaliate by abandoning its $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, which will cost the city more than it has been able to pocket in 10 years of playing footsie with the racketeers. For most of the gambling profits don't stay in Biloxi. They go to the big-time operators in Manhattan.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Since all the excitement with very young children getting into mischief after dark, old timers have been asking me, "Say something about the Curfew Law." The only item I have on it is "April 1906 it was adopted in Kingston, requiring all persons under 16 years of age to be off the street after 9 p. m. in summer, and 8 p. m. in the fall and winter." But I think I will get in touch with Bernhardt Kramer, the city clerk, at the City Hall, and perhaps, if he has some extra time to send me an exact copy of the law, from which I can quote further. Also I understand that in the City Charter there is a paragraph on it.

I remember in olden days, of Patrick White on the police force, he and other members of the force used to clear the streets after dark of all the young fry. Of course, young children accompanied by their elders were let in the movies, etc., but gangs or groups of small or even teen-agers were sent home immediately after dark. With Patrick White there was little chance to sit on corners till all hours. Even in winter-time, when the hills of Kingston, like Meadow street were splendid for sleigh riding I was chased with the rest after night fall, although very often I went right back. I used to see Mr. White and other policemen leading these late-hour youngsters and very severely reprimand them with, "If I ever catch you out after dark, etc., etc." As a rule those little ones were even afraid to go to the store after dark for their mothers for weeks after. To me, men on the force in those days, looked like giants, and they had big mustaches, and their sticks were swinging as though ready for a fight. They had gruff voices and they barked right out in no uncertain manner.

I lived all my life in the downtown section and went to School No. 3. Those were the days of election bon-fires, diving off the dock in summer. There were less cars and more horses. Most of us rode bicycles. There were school wars. And I remember the snowball wars between St. Mary's and School 3. It was fought by boys. The snow balls sometimes were filled with stones. I remember when Patrick Cullen, principal of School 3—warned our school that no one was to get into the fray, but I guess sticks and stones and name calling was started by someone and before anyone knew it, everyone was in it. After lunch, he lined up a line of boys and layed hands on everyone of them. It really was something in those days. Boys were rugged but so were the officials. Laws on paper, perhaps didn't change, but time has changed I don't know for better or for worse.

I remember mostly, Officer Patrick White, for he was in the downtown section. The kids were not only afraid of him when he appeared with his white mustache, but of his shadow, or even the mention of him. When anyone yelled, "Quick here he comes." Every youngster would dive out of sight like a rabbit. Remember?

Questions — Answers

Q—How common is color blindness?

A—Most common is confusion of red and green, which may affect many men and women. One person out of several thousand has trouble with yellows and blues. Very rare is complete color-blindness, in which everything is seen as black, gray and white.

REDS MUST NEGOTIATE SERIOUSLY

Despite optimism over the resumption of peace talks in Korea, prospects for a settlement can hardly be described as bright. Russia's rejection of the U. S. effort to break the impasse at the Moscow level inevitably casts a pall over negotiations.

Up to now, the feeling in official quarters has been that a bitter logic of compulsion has brought the Communists back to the council table again and again, when it appeared all hope of further discussion was lost.

The elements of compulsion were seen to be these:

Inability of the Chinese and North Korean Reds to win from Russia enough new armor and other material to provide the punch for another offensive.

The prospect of shivering out another cruel Korean winter with forces certain to be severely decimated by cold and disease.

These elements still must be working their powerful logic on the Communist high command. Yet the Reds' performance at Kaesong and Panmunjom shows little sign they are ready for the only kind of settlement the military realities will allow.

General Ridgway has recently informed them in plain words that each day's delay costs them territory, for as our soldiers advance they take the truce line with them. UN forces today are four to 15 miles beyond their line of Aug. 23, last day of real negotiations.

But even this knowledge has made no substantial dent. Current optimism is over getting around the table again—not over any concrete proposals for settlement. The truth is no progress at all has been made toward that objective and we must at least entertain the thought that the Reds intend no settlement we could accept.

At the start they may have been misled by early official U. S. declarations that a ceasefire along the 38th Parallel might be satisfactory. Foreign Minister Vishinsky's reply to our Moscow overtures indicates the Reds still think in those terms.

Apparently they were upset by our determination to take the truce line with us as we advanced, and to seek a line more defensible militarily than the 38th Parallel.

It must be remembered that never in postwar history have Communists been asked to yield land they held before an aggression began. This is something they have never had to swallow. Despite harsh battlefield realities, they haven't yet been able to digest this.

To settle at the 38th would permit them to claim they had "repelled the Western invader bent on conquering North Korea." They could gloss over their faliure to win their own goal — South Korea. But they could not gloss over the presence of a potent enemy force 20 to 30 miles inside territory they once called their own.

That is their dilemma. They are meeting it by stalling, by going through truce-talk motions which tend to deflect attention from the battlefield and to water down firmer military resolve on our part. They may well be playing by ear, improvising as they go, hoping something will turn up to give them the break they need.

The question before the United Nations is how long it will permit this fragile device to assist the Communists. If we do not have within the next month or so unmistakabe evidence that the Reds are negotiating seriously, we might well consider that the time is at hand for more vigorous prosecution of the war. In war there are some things even a Communist may be brought to accept. And the peril of irreversible defeat is one.

The selection of Winston Churchill as British prime minister created a problem for the old warrior. He has been engaged in compiling his memoirs but he seems to be continuing to make history faster than he can write it.

'These Days'

Professor Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University once wrote:

"Certainly it is a gross perversion not only of the concept of loyalty but of the concept of Americanism to identify it with a particular economic system. . . ."

This is undoubtedly true but it is unimportant. I do not believe that any question of an "economic system" is involved in the contest which is being waged in this country against the Communists, against subversive or corrupt persons. Certainly when a protest is made against a thieving tax collector, the issue is not whether he is a capitalist or a socialist, a Republican or a Democrat. The point is that we are shocked by the fact that thieves have worked their way into government. We challenge them as thieves.

So Communists are not opposed because they believe in government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange but because they are agents, spies, provocateurs for an alien power, for a government that uses propaganda, infiltration and corruption as a means of military conquest.

Those, therefore, who use the fifth amendment, which they have a legal right to use, to avoid giving information concerning this conspiracy are morally guilty of aiding those who would destroy this country.

Here is a definite conflict between a legal right and a moral responsibility. Which shall prevail?

The fifth amendment provides:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Those who, in Communist cases, claim immunity from questioning under the terms of the fifth amendment do so under the words, "nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

Actually, it is no crime in the United States to be a Communist but it is illegal to engage in a conspiracy to destroy our government. It is not illegal to oppose the capitalist system but it is illegal to be a spy.

A congressional committee is not a court of law and does not try cases, but the information gathered by such a committee may be used by prosecuting officials to obtain an indictment for a crime. While it is not possible to claim double jeopardy in connection with a congressional committee, it is possible to claim self-incrimination.

Although no one is to be adjudged guilty of anything because he has been subpoenaed by a congressional committee or questioned by it, it is reasonable to assume that if a witness claims the immunities of the fifth amendment, he knows that he has done something which could be self-incriminating. In a word, he admits moral guilt where no legal charge has yet been made.

This right that no person may be required to incriminate himself is strictly personal. No one may plead that the provision of information will incriminate a third person. Therefore, those witnesses before congressional committees who refuse to name others, are wrong when they claim immunity under the fifth amendment unless they have conspired with these others to commit a crime. In effect, when they make such a plea they establish the existence of a conspiracy to which the pleader has been a party.

What it comes down to is this: While a witness may invoke the fifth amendment as a justification for silence, you and I are entitled to assume that he does it because, in his own judgment, he had committed an infamous crime. So far as public opinion is concerned, he places himself in the awkward position of confessing to participation in improper, even in illegal actions, in spite of the fact that public officials may not know of or may not be able to prove his guilt.

Lawyers, who advise clients not dependent upon public opinion to claim immunity under the fifth amendment, may be sound. When they so advise motion picture, television, or radio folks or public officials, like tax collectors, to do likewise, they risk their clients' future because public censure is inevitable. The fifth amendment is wrecking careers.

That Body of Yours

LIVING LONG AFTER HEART STROKES

Not long ago, when an individual had an attack of coronary thrombosis, a heart stroke, it was thought that the sword of Damocles hung over him and the next stroke, or at most the third stroke, would carry him off. Then, it was found that the majority of these cases, by going to bed for four or five weeks, then taking more rest, avoiding excitement and avoiding or cutting down on tobacco, were able to live several years, some having further strokes and some having no further strokes.

Some encouraging information on heart strokes comes from headquarters, the American Heart Journal, St. Louis, that should be known by all victims of heart strokes and by their families.

Dr. E. P. Boas reports studies of 115 men and nine women who had been under observation for coronary artery disease for at least ten years. The average time since first attack occurred was 13.6 years.

The age of the patient when first attack occurred had no apparent effect upon how long he would remain alive or on the course of the disease. Patients whose illness began with a simple angina pectoris (breast pain or breast pang) had a better prognosis (chance of remaining alive) than those whose heart symptoms began with a heart stroke. In 15 patients who had not had high blood pressure, enlargement of the heart had developed. Eighty-one patients (65 per cent) were without heart symptoms for one or more years and 89 (72 per cent) followed their usual occupations during most of their illness.

Dr. Boas states that this study of 115 cases of coronary artery disease emphasizes the fact that the unpredictable, variegated course of coronary artery disease and the frequent modifications or mildness of the symptoms means that one or several attacks of coronary thrombosis makes it impossible for the physician to tell the patient just what his chances are of living many years and of the years he does live, how free he will be of heart symptoms.

The important point as shown by the fact that three of every four of above patients followed their usual occupation, is that they had observed and obeyed the warning signals but had not allowed themselves to become heart invalids. They tried to avoid emotional disturbances, heavy meals and strenuous exercise, hence their long life span despite coronary artery disease.

Finders Keepers, Losers Weepers

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The Democratic National Committee almost came apart at the seams last week when party officials journeyed to Washington to "elect" President Truman's hand-picked candidate as party chairman.

On the surface all was sweetness and light—just as sweet as the Princess Elizabeth, whom HST was entertaining while his party chieftains boiled. But underneath, controversy was so bitter that at one point top lady Democrat India Edwards resigned as vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

In the end, visiting Democrats came to heel in a most undemocratic manner. They did exactly what the White House wanted them to do—thanked outgoing Chairman Bill Boyle for his past services and dutifully elected Indiana's Frank McKinney, a little-known amateur, to replace him. It had the efficiency of a well-trained animal act.

The revolt which simmered, but never reached the boiling point, got its initial touch-off two weeks ago when President Truman called in Vice-Chairman India Edwards and offered her Bill Boyle's place. Mrs. Edwards, an energetic and popular figure among all Democrats, declined on the grounds that the '52 election campaign should be run by a man. But she specifically and categorically asked that she be consulted on the selection of the new chairman. The President specifically and categorically agreed.

King-Maker Connelly

Thereafter Mrs. Edwards wrote the President, suggesting several prominent Democrats as national chairman, including Alabama's Sen. John Sparkman, Denver's Ex-Congressman John Carroll and Price Administrator Mike Di Salle.

Meanwhile, unknown to Mrs. Edwards, Presidential Aide Matt Connelly was working feverishly to put over his own candidate. Connelly, who fancies himself a "king-maker" and the real "power behind the power," was plugging for either Pennsylvania's Federal Judge Jim McGranery or Indiana's Frank McKinney. When Connelly heard that McGranery would probably be opposed by Mayor Dave Lawrence of Pittsburgh and Ex-Senator Francis Myers of Philadelphia, he devoted full time to promoting McKinney.

Connelly's maneuvering was so secret that neither retiring chairman Bill Boyle nor Mrs. Edwards was aware of it.

Only on Monday, two days before the committee met, was Boyle informed by the President that McKinney was "the man." Boyle immediately got on the phone and passed the word along to key Democrats, including India Edwards. When she heard of it, she hit the ceiling, and promptly turned in her resignation as vice-chairman.

The Ladies Revolt

News of Mrs. Edwards' resignation hit the Democratic committeemen simultaneously with the news that Frank McKinney was to be their new boss. Both caused consternation, the former because Mrs. Edwards is extremely popular, the second because McKinney was almost unknown to most Democratic leaders. Also southern and western Democrats felt that in view of the Vatican appointment, the new chairman should have been a Protestant rather than continuing the thirty years of Catholic party leadership.

Leaders of the revolt included Carl Thompson, Democratic committeeman from Wisconsin; the two Kansas committeemen, Carl Rice and Georgia Neese Clark; and Oregon's Monroe Sweetland. The latter suggested that a delegation make a personal protest direct to the President.

Accordingly, Iowa's Florence Lynch telephoned king-maker Matt Connelly to ask for an appointment. King-maker Connelly refused. He did not want anyone disturbing his plans to put across his hand-picked national chairman.

The day before the committee was to have its rubber-stamp session, therefore, Mrs. Lynch called a meeting in her room in the Mayflower Hotel. Attending were: Pennsylvania's Emma Guffey Miller, New Jersey's Mary Norton, Minnesota's Ione Hunt, and Wisconsin's Mrs. Dan Hoan. All agreed that as between India Edwards and Frank McKinney, Mrs. Edwards was their gal and they would stick by her through thick and thin. So, failing to get past king-maker Connelly for an appointment, they sent a letter to the President urging him to intervene personally with Mrs. Edwards and hinting that if he did not persuade her to stay, his hand-picked candidate might not be committee-picked next day.

Truman got the letter, hurriedly called Mrs. Edwards, apologized for the misunderstanding and urged her to remain. She agreed.

Thereafter, opposition to new Chairman McKinney gradually melted—especially after his resounding speech next day promising to clean out influence peddlers.

Biloxi Gambling Backfires

The air force may retaliate against Biloxi, Miss., whose wide-open gambling got Keesler Field into hot water with the Senate. What the air force may do is quietly abandon a lucrative, $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, thus depriving Biloxi of some juicy contracts and jobs.

The reason is that gambling has been so widespread in Biloxi that the air force couldn't keep Keesler-based personnel from gambling without placing the whole city off limits, including the leading hotels, bus station and even the basement of a church. Instead, Keesler Field tried to solve the problem by expanding the recreation program on the base, establishing a 10:30 p. m. curfew and appealing to the Biloxi authorities to clean up their town.

However, the gamblers continued to fleece 18-year-old recruits and others, until this columnist first exposed the whole sordid story last July. This columnist listed the number of gambling joints operating wide open, reported that one lieutenant had even committed suicide over gambling losses, and revealed that the majority of Keesler servicemen were around 18. The column then turned the evidence over to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. As a result, Senate investigators cracked down on Biloxi, and the air force got a black eye for not keeping its men out of the dives.

That is why the air force may now retaliate by abandoning its $43,000,000 expansion program at Keesler, which will cost the city more than it has been able to pocket in 10 years of playing footsie with the racketeers. For most of the gambling profits don't stay in Biloxi. They go to the big-time operators in Manhattan.

Also classes in principals of merchandizing for small business covering fundamentals of arithmetic, orders, invoices and discounts, determining the selling price, stock turnover, income and expense statement. This group will meet on Thursdays. Another group Tuesdays is preparing for the equivalancy diploma examinations. Mr. Ott will supervise this group.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Since all the excitement with very young children getting into mischief after dark, old timers have been asking me, "Say something about the Curfew Law." The only item I have on it is "April 1906 it was adopted in Kingston, requiring all persons under 16 years of age to be off the street after 9 p. m. in summer, and 8 p. m. in the fall and winter." But I think I will get in touch with Bernhardt Kramer, the city clerk, at the City Hall, and perhaps, if he has some extra time to send me an exact copy of the law, from which I can quote further. Also I understand that in the City Charter there is a paragraph on it.

I remember in olden days, of Patrick White on the police force, he and other members of the force used to clear the streets after dark of all the young fry. Of course, young children accompanied by their elders were let in the movies, etc., but gangs or groups of small or even teen-agers were sent home immediately after dark. With Patrick White there was little chance to sit on corners till all hours. Even in winter-time, when the hills of Kingston, like Meadow street were splendid for sleigh riding I was chased with the rest after night fall, although very often I went right back. I used to see Mr. White and other policemen leading these late-hour youngsters and very severely reprimand them with, "If I ever catch you out after dark, etc., etc." As a rule those little ones were even afraid to go to the store after dark for their mothers for weeks after. To me, men on the force in those days, looked like giants, and they had big mustaches, and their sticks were swinging as though ready for a fight. They had gruff voices and they barked right out in no uncertain manner.

I lived all my life in the downtown section and went to School No. 3. Those were the days of election bon-fires, diving off the dock in summer. There were less cars and more horses. Most of us rode bicycles. There were school wars. And I remember the snowball wars between St. Mary's and School 3. It was fought by boys. The snow balls sometimes were filled with stones. I remember when Patrick Cullen, principal of School 3—warned our school that no one was to get into the fray, but I guess sticks and stones and name calling was started by someone and before anyone knew it, everyone was in it. After lunch, he lined up a line of boys and layed hands on everyone of them. It really was something in those days. Boys were rugged but so were the officials. Laws on paper, perhaps didn't change, but time has changed I don't know for better or for worse.

I remember mostly, Officer Patrick White, for he was in the downtown section. The kids were not only afraid of him when he appeared with his white mustache, but of his shadow, or even the mention of him. When anyone yelled, "Quick here he comes." Every youngster would dive out of sight like a rabbit. Remember?

Questions — Answers

Q—How common is color blindness?

A—Most common is confusion of red and green, which may affect many men and women. One person out of several thousand has trouble with yellows and blues. Very rare is complete color-blindness, in which everything is seen as black, gray and white.

Q—What poisonous snakes are in U. S. forests?

A—The rattlesnake is the most widely distributed poisonous reptile. The others are the cottonmouth or water moccasin, copperhead, and coral snake.

Animal Horns

Animal horns have a bony core with a covering of keratin. Antlers consist of a growth of connective tissue which becomes hardened with the deposition of calcium.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Nov. 4, 1931—Dr. Myron J. Michael, local superintendent of schools, died at his Maiden Lane home.

"Please tell us the correct play in this situation," requests a Brooklyn reader. "Both sides needed 90 points for the initial meld, and the card turned up by the dealer was a four. I was first and I drew from the stock and discarded another four. The next player drew from the stock and discarded a jack.

"Much to my joy, my partner put down three aces and two jacks, which enabled her to take the discard pile. She now had three jacks and three aces on the table, and two fours among the cards in her hand. She discarded a queen, and the play continued.

"Everybody discarded safely for that round of play, and my partner drew from the stock, melded three fours, and discarded. This left her with four cards in her hand.

"The next player discarded safely to me, and I held the following cards:

A 10-10-10 9-9 8-7-6-5-4-2.

"What was my best play?"

The answer depends slightly on how good a player the partner happens to be. Your course is clear if your partner is a good player, but your guess is as good as mine if your partner is a beginner.

A good player has a definite idea in mind when she melds the three fours at her second turn to play. She already has her initial meld on the table, and the three fours can hardly be considered an important meld. The only possible reason for the play is that she is ready to meld out if she can only get a base of four natural cards somewhere or other. At least three of her four remaining cards must be wild cards.

Hence you must co-operate by providing the base. You must add the ace and the four to her melds, thus giving her two bases. Then, you should add your deuce to either of those two melds. This will give your partner the maximum help. You should also meld your three tens to provide a parking space for any odd ten your partner may happen to hold.

If your partner is a poor player, her play may have any meaning or none at all. It is still wise to add the ace and four to her melds, but you should probably stop right there. Save your deuce and your three tens until you see how the play develops.

Farley on Manners

By FRANK TRIPP

Jim Farley made a speech at a college dinner that should ring around the world. He approached his topic, "Reaching the Hearts and Minds of Men," from three angles: good manners, good humor and good memory. He placed good manners akin to morals and spoke of their place in public life.

Since these three virtues have been the foundation of Jim's career, by admission of even his political opponents, the thoughts he expressed have both sincerity behind them and experience to back them up; for Jim Farley knows politics and government—inside out. He said of good manners:

"It is something more than knowing how to hold your spoon; much more than mere tact. It is to feel and show a genuine concern in others. It means caring for people, respecting them, treating them as equals and sharing their fears and earthly concerns and their ideals."

Lest one discounts that definition as an umbrella for a politician, withhold judgment until we see what he said as Jim Farley, American business man:

"It should always be remembered that men do not live by bread alone," Jim continued. "We are hearing too much in politics about what this or that party or this or that policy has to give toward the material needs of citizens and voters. . . . Farmers, workers and others are addressed as if they had no concern in the world other than better prices and higher wages.

"I think the people who are doing that have lowered their sights too far. People are concerned with the finer objectives of human life; with spiritual values such as patriotism, love of home and love of God.

"I DEPLORE the cynical attitude that prevails in high political spots in this country and in others," Farley declared. "We are told that if the act of a public official is not illegal that it is necessarily proper and always excusable; that there is a fundamental difference between what is illegal and what is improper.

"I do not see this difference, because what is illegal is merely one of the improper things that happens to have been the subject of legislative action. We have got to pass judgment against, and, so far as we can, eliminate the improper as well as the illegal in our public life.

"Our public servants elected to high office have a duty far greater than that of merely enforcing the law and collecting taxes and spending our money. They have the duty of moral leadership in the country. For if they do, or condone, or permit things that are improper they are destroying the very fabric of public morals and the poison moves down into all the ranges of our population." Then Jim said:

"When men in high places make hundreds of thousands of dollars through their improper acts it is hard to maintain purity and integrity in the sports of boys in college and on the sandlots of the nation.

"Behind all of our relations with our fellow beings there must be a common faith—faith in the fundamental integrity of man, in his constant effort to realize his highest ideals and his essential nearness to God.

"It is that faith that in the last analysis moves the hearts and minds of men. It is the faith that makes great people and a great nation."

HOW A PLANK like that would click in a party's platform—if put there with sincerity and followed through! It would change the moral code of a nation and be felt around the world. Other peoples would begin to trust us, once we trusted each other.

A Jefferson Democrat spoke what's in the heart of every thoughtful American: That no office in the land should be high enough to hide or whitewash improper acts because they're not illegal.

One of the country's foremost politicians put his finger on the vicious spark plug of our dangerously growing national immorality: the business of condoning shady deeds for politics' sake.

Our youth is beginning to think that cute—and moral.

HOME BUREAU

Will Honor Leaders

The Ulster County Home Bureau will hold a special meeting to honor all leaders that were officers and project teachers during the past year Friday, Nov. 16 at the First Baptist Church hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

James White and Edward Pope, specialists from Cornell University, will assist with the program and give further insight on leadership with major emphasis on being at ease with a group. Miss Hazel Reed, assistant state leader, will be present. The short program will be followed by tea. Preceding the leadership conference the chairmen of the Ulster County Home Bureau units will meet for their regular council meeting. Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Lake Katrine, council chairman, will preside.

Hold Training School

Miss Bernice Scott, specialist in recreation from the College of Agriculture at Cornell University, conducted a training school in family and community fun for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders. Miss Scott taught the group simple recreational activities that could be used to get people acquainted. She also started work on group singing and helped them with leadership in this area of recreation.

To Attend Meeting

Mrs. William Powers of Kingston has been chosen to represent the Ulster County Home Bureau at the 32nd annual meeting of New York State Federation of Home Bureaus to be held at Hotel Syracuse Nov. 11, 12, 13. Mrs. Eliza Keates Young of Milton, a member of the state federation resolution committee will also attend.

Iron-Iodine Starved Blood and Glands Leave Thousands Feeling "Only Half-Alive"

If you have been ill, ailing, out of condition or low-spirited and possibly because you fail to get sufficient Vitamins and Iron from the food you eat, you do not "come back" as quickly as you should—you owe it to yourself to get a bottle of the new Iodine-Iron-Vitamin reconstructive tonic known as FERRIZAN.

Do not confuse Ferrizan with old-fashioned liquid Iron tonics. Ferrizan is more than a tonic, it is a truly modern Dietary Supplement that, because of its Iodine content, does infinitely more than either Iron or Vitamins alone or in combination. Nerves should be steadier—eyes brighter—appetite back—physically and mentally more alert—your outlook on life much more optimistic.

Casualties Are Identified

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Defense Department identified 233 more Korean war casualties today. Of the total, 76 are dead, 137 wounded, 14 missing and six injured in battlezone accidents. A list released last night contained the names of 1,195 members of the armed forces—the second heaviest casualty list of the war. Officials said most of the casualties were suffered in the week which ended Oct. 15, during heavy fighting which preceded the resumption of truce talks. The war's largest casualty list, published Oct. 8, 1950, contained 1,211 names. The department's latest summary of casualties listed 14,393 killed in action, 68,641 wounded and 12,558 missing.

Child Killers Reported

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Heart disease and cancer kill more school age children than all infectious and parasitic diseases combined, the Federal Security Agency reported yesterday. J. ROBERT ZELIE
Democratic Candidate
for ALDERMAN of the TWELFTH WARD
★ YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT WILL BE APPRECIATED ON ELECTION DAY. ★

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT | POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT | POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Voters of the 10th Ward

MY DEAR FRIENDS:

I want to thank you most sincerely for the very friendly manner in which you have greeted me during my recent canvass of the ward, seeking election as Supervisor. For the record, here are some of the accomplisments brought about since I have been Alderman of the Tenth Ward:

1. Obtained stop signs in the vicinity of No. 8 School for safety of the children.

2. Obtained traffic light corner of Henry St. and Clinton Ave. to make this dangerous intersection safer for everyone.

3. After a hard fight, was able to retain bus service through Cedar St. and Henry St., for the convenience of those in the Tenth Ward particularly.

4. Obtained sidewalk on Greenkill Ave. where none had been, and where people for years had to walk through mud, water, ice and snow.

5. Sponsored resolution requesting that the Board of Public Works and all others be prohibited from dumping combustibles on the Sterling St. dump.

6. In October, 1948, I made three suggestions to the Superintendent of Public Works at a Council meeting. (1) to build a modern incinerator; (2) or to enlarge present incinerator; and (3) or put on an additional shift at the incinerator.

$60,000 has been appropriated, and work has gone forward on the enlargement of the present incinerator.

7. Sponsored resolution seeking to obtain the fill from the Broadway crossing elimination to fill in Sterling St. dump. After a great deal of difficulty, this matter was approved and fill for the dump was obtained from the Broadway crossing project. This assures the elimination of the dump. In the meantime, the fire hazard there has been greatly reduced.

8. In March, 1949, sponsored resolution seeking to open No. 8 school yard after school hours and during the summer for the children to play there under a play supervisor. Mayor vetoed same.

I have recently offered a resolution asking that School No. 8, since its closing is contemplated, be used as a recreation center and playground. I personally, along with some women from our ward obtained more than 500 signatures to a petition in support of this application. This has been referred to the Mayor and the Recreation Department and awaits their action. Such action should be favorable, as the State Youth Commission allots funds for such purposes. I shall keep working for that as long as I am an Alderman.

At the next meeting of the Common Council, I will introduce a resolution requesting transportation of your children, once School No. 8 is closed, to the new George Washington School. I will press vigorously for its adoption.

As you all know, I fought to keep Barmann Park as a recreational facility for all the children of the Tenth Ward, who are now without either a park, recreation center or playground.

9. I have sponsored legislation aimed at increasing safety provisions of the railroad at Prospect St. and Clinton Ave. crossings with flash signals. This was adopted by the Council and sent to the Public Service Commission. Although I made many inquiries, no definite action was ever taken by the Public Service Commission. It is my belief that this matter will be taken care of when the crossing project is completed.

10. My resolution calling for a proper three-way traffic light at Broadway and Henry St. was adopted in March, 1951, after a long fight on my part. No valid reasons have been given to me for such a prolonged delay in installing these badly needed lights. I do believe that my efforts in this regard will produce the required result in the near future.

11. Those especially in the vicinity of Greenkill Ave. may remember how hard I battled in the Common Council to alleviate the unfair conditions that existed so long while that street was torn up, with temporary lights often out, with fire hazards increased and with no relief offered, even when sewers backed up into the homes of those citizens.

While in the Common Council I have served on the following committees: Auditing; Building Supply; Traffic Control; Laws and Rules; and many special committees, including the very important Building Code Committee, of which I was the first chairman.

I have given my record at length, for I believe that a person who seeks either reelection or a higher office should frankly discuss his record with you. I will appreciate your support at the polls tomorrow. I believe I have merited the confidence of my fellow residents in the Tenth Ward. If elected your supervisor, I pledge to give you the same conscientious service as I did in the Common Council. There is nothing I would rather be than Supervisor of the Tenth Ward.

Sincerely,
JAMES J. CARROLL,
Candidate for Supervisor of Tenth Ward

Farley on Manners

By FRANK TRIPP

Jim Farley made a speech at a college dinner that should ring around the world. He approached his topic, "Reaching the Hearts and Minds of Men," from three angles: good manners, good humor and good memory. He placed good manners akin to morals and spoke of their place in public life.

Since these three virtues have been the foundation of Jim's career, by admission of even his political opponents, the thoughts he expressed have both sincerity behind them and experience to back them up; for Jim Farley knows politics and government—inside out. He said of good manners:

"It is something more than knowing how to hold your spoon; much more than mere tact. It is to feel and show a genuine concern in others. It means caring for people, respecting them, treating them as equals and sharing their fears and earthly concerns and their ideals."

Lest one discounts that definition as an umbrella for a politician, withhold judgment until we see what he said as Jim Farley, American business man:

"It should always be remembered that men do not live by bread alone," Jim continued. "We are hearing too much in politics about what this or that party or this or that policy has to give toward the material needs of citizens and voters. . . . Farmers, workers and others are addressed as if they had no concern in the world other than better prices and higher wages.

"I think the people who are doing that have lowered their sights too far. People are concerned with the finer objectives of human life; with spiritual values such as patriotism, love of home and love of God.

"I DEPLORE the cynical attitude that prevails in high political spots in this country and in others," Farley declared. "We are told that if the act of a public official is not illegal that it is necessarily proper and always excusable; that there is a fundamental difference between what is illegal and what is improper.

"I do not see this difference, because what is illegal is merely one of the improper things that happens to have been the subject of legislative action. We have got to pass judgment against, and, so far as we can, eliminate the improper as well as the illegal in our public life.

"Our public servants elected to high office have a duty far greater than that of merely enforcing the law and collecting taxes and spending our money. They have the duty of moral leadership in the country. For if they do, or condone, or permit things that are improper they are destroying the very fabric of public morals and the poison moves down into all the ranges of our population." Then Jim said:

"When men in high places make hundreds of thousands of dollars through their improper acts it is hard to maintain purity and integrity in the sports of boys in college and on the sandlots of the nation.

"Behind all of our relations with our fellow beings there must be a common faith—faith in the fundamental integrity of man, in his constant effort to realize his highest ideals and his essential nearness to God.

"It is that faith that in the last analysis moves the hearts and minds of men. It is the faith that makes great people and a great nation."

HOW A PLANK like that would click in a party's platform—if put there with sincerity and followed through! It would change the moral code of a nation and be felt around the world. Other peoples would begin to trust us, once we trusted each other.

A Jefferson Democrat spoke what's in the heart of every thoughtful American: That no office in the land should be high enough to hide or whitewash improper acts because they're not illegal.

One of the country's foremost politicians put his finger on the vicious spark plug of our dangerously growing national immorality: the business of condoning shady deeds for politics' sake.

Our youth is beginning to think that cute—and moral.

HOME BUREAU

Will Honor Leaders

The Ulster County Home Bureau will hold a special meeting to honor all leaders that were officers and project teachers during the past year Friday, Nov. 16 at the First Baptist Church hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

James White and Edward Pope, specialists from Cornell University, will assist with the program and give further insight on leadership with major emphasis on being at ease with a group. Miss Hazel Reed, assistant state leader, will be present. The short program will be followed by tea. Preceding the leadership conference the chairmen of the Ulster County Home Bureau units will meet for their regular council meeting. Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Lake Katrine, council chairman, will preside.

Hold Training School

Miss Bernice Scott, specialist in recreation from the College of Agriculture at Cornell University, conducted a training school in family and community fun for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders. Miss Scott taught the group simple recreational activities that could be used to get people acquainted. She also started work on group singing and helped them with leadership in this area of recreation.

To Attend Meeting

Mrs. William Powers of Kingston has been chosen to represent the Ulster County Home Bureau at the 32nd annual meeting of New York State Federation of Home Bureaus to be held at Hotel Syracuse Nov. 11, 12, 13. Mrs. Eliza Keates Young of Milton, a member of the state federation resolution committee will also attend.

Strain-Worry Getting You Down

If you have been ill, ailing, out of condition or low-spirited and possibly because you fail to get sufficient Vitamins and Iron from the food you eat, you do not "come back" as quickly as you should—you owe it to yourself to get a bottle of the new Iodine-Iron-Vitamin reconstructive tonic known as FERRIZAN.

Do not confuse Ferrizan with old-fashioned liquid Iron tonics. Ferrizan is more than a tonic, it is a truly modern Dietary Supplement that, because of its Iodine content, does infinitely more than either Iron or Vitamins alone or in combination. Nerves should be steadier—eyes brighter—appetite back—physically and mentally more alert—your outlook on life much more optimistic.

Casualties Are Identified

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Defense Department identified 233 more Korean war casualties today. Of the total, 76 are dead, 137 wounded, 14 missing and six injured in battlezone accidents. A list released last night contained the names of 1,195 members of the armed forces—the second heaviest casualty list of the war. Officials said most of the casualties were suffered in the week which ended Oct. 15, during heavy fighting which preceded the resumption of truce talks. The war's largest casualty list, published Oct. 8, 1950, contained 1,211 names. The department's latest summary of casualties listed 14,393 killed in action, 68,641 wounded and 12,558 missing.

Child Killers Reported

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Heart disease and cancer kill more school age children than all infectious and parasitic diseases combined, the Federal Security Agency reported yesterday. The report, based on mortality figures compiled by the National Office of Vital Statistics, said 4,514 in the 5 to 19 age group died of heart ailments and cancer in 1948.

Queer Duck

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). J. ROBERT ZELIE
Democratic Candidate
for ALDERMAN of the TWELFTH WARD
★ YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT WILL BE APPRECIATED ON ELECTION DAY. ★

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT | POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT | POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Voters of the 10th Ward

MY DEAR FRIENDS:

I want to thank you most sincerely for the very friendly manner in which you have greeted me during my recent canvass of the ward, seeking election as Supervisor. For the record, here are some of the accomplisments brought about since I have been Alderman of the Tenth Ward:

1. Obtained stop signs in the vicinity of No. 8 School for safety of the children.

2. Obtained traffic light corner of Henry St. and Clinton Ave. to make this dangerous intersection safer for everyone.

3. After a hard fight, was able to retain bus service through Cedar St. and Henry St., for the convenience of those in the Tenth Ward particularly.

4. Obtained sidewalk on Greenkill Ave. where none had been, and where people for years had to walk through mud, water, ice and snow.

5. Sponsored resolution requesting that the Board of Public Works and all others be prohibited from dumping combustibles on the Sterling St. dump.

6. In October, 1948, I made three suggestions to the Superintendent of Public Works at a Council meeting. (1) to build a modern incinerator; (2) or to enlarge present incinerator; and (3) or put on an additional shift at the incinerator.

$60,000 has been appropriated, and work has gone forward on the enlargement of the present incinerator.

7. Sponsored resolution seeking to obtain the fill from the Broadway crossing elimination to fill in Sterling St. dump. After a great deal of difficulty, this matter was approved and fill for the dump was obtained from the Broadway crossing project. This assures the elimination of the dump. In the meantime, the fire hazard there has been greatly reduced.

8. In March, 1949, sponsored resolution seeking to open No. 8 school yard after school hours and during the summer for the children to play there under a play supervisor. Mayor vetoed same.

I have recently offered a resolution asking that School No. 8, since its closing is contemplated, be used as a recreation center and playground. I personally, along with some women from our ward obtained more than 500 signatures to a petition in support of this application. This has been referred to the Mayor and the Recreation Department and awaits their action. Such action should be favorable, as the State Youth Commission allots funds for such purposes. I shall keep working for that as long as I am an Alderman.

At the next meeting of the Common Council, I will introduce a resolution requesting transportation of your children, once School No. 8 is closed, to the new George Washington School. I will press vigorously for its adoption.

As you all know, I fought to keep Barmann Park as a recreational facility for all the children of the Tenth Ward, who are now without either a park, recreation center or playground.

9. I have sponsored legislation aimed at increasing safety provisions of the railroad at Prospect St. and Clinton Ave. crossings with flash signals. This was adopted by the Council and sent to the Public Service Commission. Although I made many inquiries, no definite action was ever taken by the Public Service Commission. It is my belief that this matter will be taken care of when the crossing project is completed.

10. My resolution calling for a proper three-way traffic light at Broadway and Henry St. was adopted in March, 1951, after a long fight on my part. No valid reasons have been given to me for such a prolonged delay in installing these badly needed lights. I do believe that my efforts in this regard will produce the required result in the near future.

11. Those especially in the vicinity of Greenkill Ave. may remember how hard I battled in the Common Council to alleviate the unfair conditions that existed so long while that street was torn up, with temporary lights often out, with fire hazards increased and with no relief offered, even when sewers backed up into the homes of those citizens.

While in the Common Council I have served on the following committees: Auditing; Building Supply; Traffic Control; Laws and Rules; and many special committees, including the very important Building Code Committee, of which I was the first chairman.

I have given my record at length, for I believe that a person who seeks either reelection or a higher office should frankly discuss his record with you. I will appreciate your support at the polls tomorrow. I believe I have merited the confidence of my fellow residents in the Tenth Ward. If elected your supervisor, I pledge to give you the same conscientious service as I did in the Common Council. There is nothing I would rather be than Supervisor of the Tenth Ward.

Sincerely,
JAMES J. CARROLL,

Three Students Killed

Whitney Point, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP) —Three college students on their way home for the weekend and the uncle of another were killed Saturday when an automobile and a tractor-trailer collided on a slush-covered highway near here. The dead are identified as John Cheer, 52, of Endicott; Elizabeth J. Halliday, 18, of 1250 East Montauk Highway, Babylon; June Fisher, 18, of Vestal, and Marjorie A. Janicki, 18, of Port Crane. The three young women were freshmen at Cortland State Teachers College. In "fair condition" at a Binghamton Hospital today were Theresa Bendert of Endicott, Cheer's niece and Florene Gogolin of Hillcrest, a Binghamton suburb. Both are 18.

Aussie Fleet Modernized

Sydney, Australia (AP) — Australia plans to modify her two aircraft carriers so that jet planes and new anti-submarine planes can operate from them. Plans were disclosed at a news conference by Rear-Adm. J. W. M. Eaton, new flag officer commanding the Australian fleet. Rear-Adm. Eaton said the flat-tops would be modified to follow the modern trend of naval warfare—to make the carrier the hard core of the fleet.

Deer Hunter Found

Brant Lake, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP) —A 25-year-old deer hunter lost 20 hours in the Adirondacks was found yesterday by a searching party. State police said the hunter, William McLean of Mount Kisco, was suffering from exposure in the below-freezing weather and unable to give a coherent account of how he spent the night. He did not require hospitalization, however. Two hunting companions reported that McLean failed to joint them at an agreed-upon meeting place Saturday morning. They searched the area for several hours, then reported him missing. State police, forest rangers and volunteers made up the searching party.

UNFAIR TACTICS!

The Democratic Party has chosen the year 1947 as the basis of comparing tax rates.

They use that year in their attempt to prove that Kingston's taxes have risen 79% in four years.

The year 1947 is the ONE year the Democrats, of all people, should forget!

1947 is the year the COUNTY OF ULSTER bailed the Democrats out of a very embarrassing financial predicament because of the 2% Constitutional tax limit!

In 1947 the County took over the operation and payment of the city health and welfare departments.

In 1947 these two departments cost $103,000.00 to operate, but no money was appropriated for them in the 1947 city budget. The county paid this $103,000.00 in 1947 and billed the city for it in 1948.

1947 is the ONLY year in the history of the City of Kingston that no money was raised by the city for health and welfare!

THAT IS NOT ALL!

In 1947 the Democratic administration did not pay all of its bills for running the rest of the city departments. It left a deficit of $41,000.00 for Mayor Newkirk to pay.

When Mayor Newkirk assumed office on January 1, 1948, he had to include this Democratic deficit for the year 1947 in his 1948 tax rate.

WHAT DID THAT MEAN?

Mayor Newkirk had to raise $144,000.00 in the year 1948 to pay for 1947 governmental costs NOT paid for by the preceding Democratic administration.

Three Students Killed

Whitney Point, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP) —Three college students on their way home for the weekend and the uncle of another were killed Saturday when an automobile and a tractor-trailer collided on a bush-covered highway near here. The dead are identified as John Sheer, 52, of Endicott; Elizabeth J. Halliday, 18, of 1250 East Monauk Highway, Babylon; June Fisher, 18, of Vestal, and Marjorie A. Janicki, 18, of Port Crane. The three young women were freshmen at Cortland State Teachers College. In "fair condition" at a Binghamton Hospital today were Theresa Bendert of Endicott, Cheer's niece and Florene Gogolin of Hillcrest, a Binghamton suburb. Both are 18.

Plan Engineering Center

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Plans for a $22,150,000 engineering center were announced yesterday by Columbia University. The center, to consist of two buildings on Riverside drive, will feature advanced research, teaching and practices in engineering. Construction of the major building, 14 stories high, is expected to be completed in 1954. A four-story building is being renovated to house the center's laboratories. Building and equipment costs are expected to total $13,650,000. A fund of $8,500,000 will be used to attract leading engineering teachers and scholars to the center.

Aussie Fleet Modernized

Sydney, Australia (AP) — Australia plans to modify her two aircraft carriers so that jet planes and new anti-submarine planes can operate from them. Plans were disclosed at a news conference by Rear-Adm. J. W. M. Eaton, new flag officer commanding the Australian fleet. Rear-Adm. Eaton said the flat-tops would be modified to follow the modern trend of naval warfare—to make the carrier the hard core of the fleet.

Deer Hunter Found

Brant Lake, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP) —A 25-year-old deer hunter lost 20 hours in the Adirondacks was found yesterday by a searching party. State police said the hunter, William McLean of Mount Kisco, was suffering from exposure in the below-freezing weather and unable to give a coherent account of how he spent the night. He did not require hospitalization, however. Two hunting companions reported that McLean failed to joint them at an agreed-upon meeting place Saturday morning. They searched the area for several hours, then reported him missing. State police, forest rangers and volunteers made up the searching party.

UNFAIR TACTICS!

The Democratic Party has chosen the year 1947 as the basis of comparing tax rates.

They use that year in their attempt to prove that Kingston's taxes have risen 79% in four years.

The year 1947 is the ONE year the Democrats, of all people, should forget!

1947 is the year the COUNTY OF ULSTER bailed the Democrats out of a very embarrassing financial predicament because of the 2% Constitutional tax limit!

In 1947 the County took over the operation and payment of the city health and welfare departments.

In 1947 these two departments cost $103,000.00 to operate, but no money was appropriated for them in the 1947 city budget. The county paid this $103,000.00 in 1947 and billed the city for it in 1948.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk Endorses Hadassah Days

Hadassah Membership Campaign Begins Wednesday With Kickoff Breakfast

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has given his full endorsement to the Hadassah annual membership campaign which will begin on Wednesday of this week with a kick-off breakfast at the Community Center building, formerly the B'nai B'rith building, 265 Wall street, at 9 a. m. Mrs. Oscar B. London is chairman of the drive and has arranged for a briefing session to be given to the workers during the breakfast meeting. The campaign will continue through Nov. 9.

Mayor Newkirk gave his approval when he stated "I feel that the Hadassah organization will be successful under the leadership of Mrs. London and her committee, and I hope that the people will support the Hadassah program."

Mrs. London has called upon the Jewish women of Kingston to make a record enrollment for this year in view of its being the 40th anniversary of the organization's founding. "The greater our numbers, the more forceful we will be in assisting Israel to solve its complex problems, and thereby secure its future. Each new Hadassah member will also add to the effectiveness of our role in community life here in the United States," said the drive chairman.

She also stressed to the members of her committee the importance of an efficient and successful campaign when she told them, "now more than ever must Hadassah members, and all other Americans of good will help the young republic develop as a bastion of democracy in the Middle East, for this is a time when democracy is undergoing one of its gravest tests. It is inevitable that Israel will play an important role among the nations who love liberty and freedom. Hadassah, which has carried on an extensive health and welfare program in Palestine and Israel for four decades, is ready to keep on contributing to the undertaking by continuing to operate in high gear. Each new member will make our task easier."

Assisting Mrs. London as co-chairmen of the drive are Mrs. Mason Millens, Mrs. Sidney Wolff, Mrs. Harry Kaplan, Mrs. Louis Schwartz, Mrs. Murray Fletcher and Miss Rae Weiner. Mrs. Jay Melton is serving as secretary and Mrs. Henry Singer as publicity chairman.

The staff of workers who are assisting in the drive are Mmes. Julius Svirsky, William Dean, George Farber, Aaron Klein, R. Levine, David Sherry, Benjamin Schecter, B. Buchbinder, Edward Wetterhahn, Harry Speisman, Alfred Ronder, Edward Netburn, Cople Barnovitz, Sam Feldman, George Goldfarb, Arthur B. Ewig, Morris Berman, Irving Kreppel, Arthur London, Louis Ellenbogen, Benjamin Suskind, Herbert Siller, Sidney Halpern, Irving Meyer, Sam Millens, Louis Shapiro and Theodore Weiner.

Mrs. Nathaniel B. Gross is chairman of the breakfast committee and will be assisted by Mrs. George B. Starkman.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

UNREASONABLY HURT FEELINGS

An oversensitive point of view is most unhappily displayed in the following letter: "Will you please tell me how I can gracefully decline to be a wedding attendant? Under different circumstances I would be only too happy to accept. Until my girl friend met her fiance we were inseparable and she always said that when she got married I was to be her maid of honor, and I have heard that she still intends to ask me. However, I no longer consider her a friend and do not wish to accept. Since she started going out with this man she has completely ignored me. We have not been out together for the past seven months and every time I ask her to go somewhere with me or invite her to my house, she always has some excuse. Evidently my friendship meant very little to her and I feel very hurt at being cast aside like an old shoe. Will you please tell me what I can say without being rude?"

In my opinion, the fact of her wanting you to be her maid of honor is proof of how much your friendship does mean to her. In other words, I think that you are failing to realize that the interests of a happily engaged girl are invariably concentrated on those of her fiance—and her seeming coolness to you unintentional.

Launder It of Course

Dear Mrs. Post: I do quite a lot of embroidery work and very often give these things as presents. Sometimes, however, the linen I am working on becomes soiled from handling. Would it be proper to launder it before giving it away, or might people think that it has been used?

Answer: On the contrary. Laundering is essential to the beauty of all embroidered linen.

Would you like questions answered about engagements? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find her leaflet E-1, "Engagements," very helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Mayor Says Sewer

the contract to city employment was before the bids were opened.

There was nothing secretive about the matter, since the front page of the Freeman of October 31 carried the story with the reasons why the lowest bid was rejected. If it were a "dirty deal" as charged, would we have done as we did openly and publicly within a week before election?

Two Local Men Honored By Brooklyn Gas Firm

New York, Nov. 5 (Special—Recognition of many years of employment with the Brooklyn Union Gas Company was accorded Edward J. Devlin of Bearsville and Andrew J. Lambertson of 91 Downs street, Kingston, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the company at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.

Together with a number of other retired and active employes with more that 25 years of service with the utility firm, the men were presented with emblems by Hugh H. Cuthrell, president of the company. Devlin was with the company 45 years, Lambertson 40 years. Both are now retired.

Post Office Warns Against 'Spanish Prisoner Swindle'

The Post Office Inspection Service again issues warning of renewed attempts to bilk residents of New York state through operation of the Spanish Prisoner Swindle. The number of "Spanish Swindle" letters received in this area from Mexico has steadily increased during the last several months. The latest variation of this scheme offers a one-third share in a mythical $450,000 fortune supposedly contained in a trunk tied up in customs which can be released upon payment of only a few thousand dollars fine.

The writer of the swindle letter fails to give his or her name and claims to be in prison serving a bankruptcy sentence. He does give the name of a friend with whom the intended victim may communicate. He states that he works in the prison school which gives him an opportunity to write the letter and that it is mailed by a guard who is a friend. A person responding to this first letter receives a second one containing fake newspaper clippings and legal papers intending to substantiate the story of the writer's arrest and conviction and giving instructions for the intended victim's trip to Mexico. Of course, the victim is to bring with him the few thousand dollars to pay the fine. Apparently the swindlers are currently selecting names and addresses from "Who's Who in America" and lists of professional people as well as business executives.

Recipients of such letters are advised to send them promptly to the office of Post Office Inspector, R. H. Daley, Kingston, or to H. B. Montague, Post Office Inspector In Charge, New York 1, N. Y. in order that fraud orders may be issued against the swindlers. Under no circumstances should the person receiving a copy of such letters be deceived by the alleged promise of one-third share of the supposed fortune.

McAndrew Attacks Freeman for Stand Taken for Newkirk

In his speech Satuday night over the air, Democratic candidate for mayor, Raymond A. McAndrew, devoted his opening remarks to an attack on Freeman editorials promoting Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk as a business man, not a politician.

The speaker originally scheduled, Attorney William A. Kelly, relinquished his time to McAndrew, who repeated previous charges in endeavoring to repudiate the editorials.

"I challenge the conclusions reached in those editorials," McAndrew said. "I believe that if we analyze the mayor's record in the light of what has actually happened, we will quickly see whether the role he has been playing is that of a manager or that of a managed politician."

In conclusion, McAndrew said, "I have frankly discussed my program with you during this campaign. I have told you the way that I would treat the whole question of streets. I have set forth the policy that I will follow in dealing with a wage adjustment of city employes. I have also discussed the manner in which I would make appointments, and what I would require of those appointees. . . ."

Urges Passage Of Amendment 4

Warren Knaust, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the New York Good Roads Association, today urged all voters in Ulster county to pull down the "Yes" lever on Amendment 4 at the polls tomorrow. Amendment 4 povides for a state guarantee of Thruway Authority bonds.

In a statement issued today, Knaust said:

"Amendment 4 deserves support because its passage will insure a reduction in the cost of the New York State Thruway and that means lower fees for the millions of people who will use the road. It's simply a matter of saving money through reduced interest rates and other financial charges by placing the credit of the state behind the Thruway bond issue.

"Let's make it even clearer. What you are actually voting for tomorrow is a cut in the cost of the Thuway and a reduction in fees to the users of the road.

"Passage of the amendment will insure the operation of the Thruway on a self-liquidating basis. That means that state revenues which might have been required to build the Thruway will now be used for needy roads in other parts of the state."

"Vote 'yes' on Amendment 4 tomorrow."

MARJORIE E. OSMERS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Osmers of Tillson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Ellen to George W. Puckhaber, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Puckhaber, Jamaica Estates. The wedding will take place next summer.

Miss Osmers attended Syracuse University and was graduated from Keuka College, class of 1950, where she was elected to Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatics fraternity. She has done graduate work at New Paltz State Teachers College and Columbia University Teachers College. She is an instructor and technical director for the theatre at Bennett Junior College, Millbrook.

Mr. Puckhaber, who served for 21 months in the U. S. Army during World War 2, is a graduate of Adelphi Academy. He studied at Sampson College and Syracuse University where he majored in engineering. He is a member of the Alpha Chi Rho fraternity and is employed by the Ford Instrument Company, Long Island City.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. William McNearney of Schenectady, formerly of this city, were weekend guests of former Police Chief and Mrs. Charles Phinney of 49 Shufeldt street. While he was in Kingston, Mr. McNearney visited Electrol Incorporated, where he was chief of plant protection during World War 2, and was cordially greeted by various heads of the plant.

Miss Jean Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Owens, 118 Linderman street, registered for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major-minor in science at New York State College for Teachers at Albany, has recently been named to the dean's list. Miss Owens is also a member of the college forum of politics and participates in the activities of the Women's Athletic Association. She was a member of the graduating class of 1951.

Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler, 16 John street, and daughter, Amanda, were in New York during the weekend and attended the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gillespie, Stone Ridge, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently when a surprise party was given in their home by many relatives and friends. Among the guests were four couples who had previously celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries.

Discussion Group Changes Location of Meeting

The location for the meeting tonight of the Monday evening Discussion Group has been changed to the Kindergarten, School 5, instead of the new Vocational Building as previously arranged. The group will deal with problems of children at home and at school. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Hadassah Membership Campaign Begins Wednesday With Kickoff Breakfast

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has given his full endorsement to the Hadassah annual membership campaign which will begin on Wednesday of this week with a kick-off breakfast at the Community Center building, formerly the B'nai B'rith building, 265 Wall street, at 9 a. m. Mrs. Oscar B. London is chairman of the drive and has arranged for a briefing session to be given to the workers during the breakfast meeting. The campaign will continue through Nov. 9.

Mayor Newkirk gave his approval when he stated "I feel that the Hadassah organization will be successful under the leadership of Mrs. London and her committee, and I hope that the people will support the Hadassah program."

Mrs. London has called upon the Jewish women of Kingston to make a record enrollment for this year in view of its being the 40th anniversary of the organization's founding. "The greater our numbers, the more forceful we will be in assisting Israel to solve its complex problems, and thereby secure its future. Each new Hadassah member will also add to the effectiveness of our role in community life here in the United States," said the drive chairman.

She also stressed to the members of her committee the importance of an efficient and successful campaign when she told them, "now more than ever must Hadassah members, and all other Americans of good will help the young republic develop as a bastion of democracy in the Middle East, for this is a time when democracy is undergoing one of its gravest tests. It is inevitable that Israel will play an important role among the nations who love liberty and freedom. Hadassah, which has carried on an extensive health and welfare program in Palestine and Israel for four decades, is ready to keep on contributing to the undertaking by continuing to operate in high gear. Each new member will make our task easier."

Assisting Mrs. London as co-chairmen of the drive are Mrs. Mason Millens, Mrs. Sidney Wolff, Mrs. Harry Kaplan, Mrs. Louis Schwartz, Mrs. Murray Fletcher and Miss Rae Weiner. Mrs. Jay Melton is serving as secretary and Mrs. Henry Singer as publicity chairman.

Mrs. Nathaniel B. Gross is chairman of the breakfast committee and will be assisted by Mrs. George B. Starkman.

UNREASONABLY HURT FEELINGS

An oversensitive point of view is most unhappily displayed in the following letter: "Will you please tell me how I can gracefully decline to be a wedding attendant? Under different circumstances I would be only too happy to accept. Until my girl friend met her fiance we were inseparable and she always said that when she got married I was to be her maid of honor, and I have heard that she still intends to ask me. However, I no longer consider her a friend and do not wish to accept. Since she started going out with this man she has completely ignored me. We have not been out together for the past seven months and every time I ask her to go somewhere with me or invite her to my house, she always has some excuse. Evidently my friendship meant very little to her and I feel very hurt at being cast aside like an old shoe. Will you please tell me what I can say without being rude?"

In my opinion, the fact of her wanting you to be her maid of honor is proof of how much your friendship does mean to her. In other words, I think that you are failing to realize that the interests of a happily engaged girl are invariably concentrated on those of her fiance—and her seeming coolness to you unintentional.

Launder It of Course

Dear Mrs. Post: I do quite a lot of embroidery work and very often give these things as presents. Sometimes, however, the linen I am working on becomes soiled from handling. Would it be proper to launder it before giving it away, or might people think that it has been used?

Answer: On the contrary. Laundering is essential to the beauty of all embroidered linen.

Would you like questions answered about engagements? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find her leaflet E-1, "Engagements," very helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Mayor Says Sewer

the contract to city employment was before the bids were opened.

There was nothing secretive about the matter, since the front page of the Freeman of October 31 carried the story with the reasons why the lowest bid was rejected. If it were a "dirty deal" as charged, would we have done as we did openly and publicly within a week before election? That means that state revenues which might have been required to build the Thruway will now be used for needy roads in other parts of the state."

"Vote 'Yes' on Amendment 4 tomorrow."

Two Local Men Honored By Brooklyn Gas Firm

New York, Nov. 5 (Special)—Recognition of many years of employment with the Brooklyn Union Gas Company was accorded Edward J. Devlin of Bearsville and Andrew J. Lambertson of 91 Downs street, Kingston, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the company at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.

Together with a number of other retired and active employes with more that 25 years of service with the utility firm, the men were presented with emblems by Hugh H. Cuthrell, president of the company. Devlin was with the company 45 years, Lambertson 40 years. Both are now retired.

Post Office Warns Against 'Spanish Prisoner Swindle'

The Post Office Inspection Service again issues warning of renewed attempts to bilk residents of New York state through operation of the Spanish Prisoner Swindle. The number of "Spanish Swindle" letters received in this area from Mexico has steadily increased during the last several months. The latest variation of this scheme offers a one-third share in a mythical $450,000 fortune supposedly contained in a trunk tied up in customs which can be released upon payment of only a few thousand dollars fine.

The writer of the swindle letter fails to give his or her name and claims to be in prison serving a bankruptcy sentence. He does give the name of a friend with whom the intended victim may communicate. He states that he works in the prison school which gives him an opportunity to write the letter and that it is mailed by a guard who is a friend. A person responding to this first letter receives a second one containing fake newspaper clippings and legal papers intending to substantiate the story of the writer's arrest and conviction and giving instructions for the intended victim's trip to Mexico. Of course, the victim is to bring with him the few thousand dollars to pay the fine. Apparently the swindlers are currently selecting names and addresses from "Who's Who in America" and lists of professional people as well as business executives.

Recipients of such letters are advised to send them promptly to the office of Post Office Inspector, R. H. Daley, Kingston, or to H. B. Montague, Post Office Inspector In Charge, New York 1, N. Y. in order that fraud orders may be issued against the swindlers. Under no circumstances should the person receiving a copy of such letters be deceived by the alleged promise of one-third share of the supposed fortune.

In his speech Satuday night over the air, Democratic candidate for mayor, Raymond A. McAndrew, devoted his opening remarks to an attack on Freeman editorials promoting Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk as a business man, not a politician.

The speaker originally scheduled, Attorney William A. Kelly, relinquished his time to McAndrew, who repeated previous charges in endeavoring to repudiate the editorials.

"I challenge the conclusions reached in those editorials," McAndrew said. "I believe that if we analyze the mayor's record in the light of what has actually happened, we will quickly see whether the role he has been playing is that of a manager or that of a managed politician."

In conclusion, McAndrew said, "I have frankly discussed my program with you during this campaign. I have told you the way that I would treat the whole question of streets. I have set forth the policy that I will follow in dealing with a wage adjustment of city employes. I have also discussed the manner in which I would make appointments, and what I would require of those appointees. . . ."

Urges Passage Of Amendment 4

Warren Knaust, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the New York Good Roads Association, today urged all voters in Ulster county to pull down the "Yes" lever on Amendment 4 at the polls tomorrow. Amendment 4 povides for a state guarantee of Thruway Authority bonds.

In a statement issued today, Knaust said:

"Amendment 4 deserves support because its passage will insure a reduction in the cost of the New York State Thruway and that means lower fees for the millions of people who will use the road. It's simply a matter of saving money through reduced interest rates and other financial charges by placing the credit of the state behind the Thruway bond issue.

"Let's make it even clearer. What you are actually voting for tomorrow is a cut in the cost of the Thuway and a reduction in fees to the users of the road.

"Passage of the amendment will insure the operation of the Thruway on a self-liquidating basis.

The 'Hot Dog'

The National Geographic Society says the hot dog is generally believed to be the invention of a New York Polo Grounds concessionaire about 1900.

State Seeks Grads To Fill Positions

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 — New York is hunting for college graduates to fill state jobs.

The State Civil Department said yesterday that a "college series" of examinations would be held Jan. 12. About 400 positions probably will be filled by successful applicants in the state's fifth annual drive to attract college graduates.

Most of the jobs pay a starting salary of more than $3,000. Five annual salary raises also are provided.

A separate examination will be held Jan. 12 for public administration internships. These posts pay $3541 for the first year. After that, an intern may be transferred to a comparable permanent position.

Russia 'Cottons Up' China

Hong Kong (AP) — The Chinese Communists say their cotton industry is going full-blast again, and apparently Russia must be given an assist. Several months ago the textile mills of Red China ground to a halt, due in part at least, to a shutdown in trade with the western world. A recent article in a Shanghai Communist newspaper said that Russian raw cotton had arrived to relieve "an off-season cotton shortage."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

It Pays to Bear Down All the Time

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Bridge experts who go to Detroit for the national championships the first week of December will surely encounter Helen Sobel defending the team championship she won last year. Mrs. Sobel, the only player who has ever won the open pair championship three times, will be trying to take home the Cavendish Club Trophy for a fourth time.

One reason for Mrs. Sobel's success is that she bears down all the time, whether the contract is high or low. By way of example, the hand shown today helped her win the championship last year; but most players would consider it only an unimportant part score contract.

Mrs. Sobel, holding the West cards, opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace. East signalled his doubleton by playing the nine and deuce of diamonds in that order. This signal indicated also that he was ready to over-ruff if dummy played a low trump on a third round of diamonds.

Mrs. Sobel therefore continued with the jack of diamonds, and declarer gave the matter some thought. He also had seen the signal, so he knew a low ruff in dummy would get him nowhere. A high ruff would surely give up a trump trick. Hence declarer discarded a low club from dummy, a good play.

East thoughfully signalled with the seven of clubs, and now it was up to Mrs. Sobel to find a way to get three more tricks to set the contract. The best chance was to find two clubs and a trump, which could be done only if East had the ten of hearts and could play it on a diamond to make South overruff with the queen.

It would do no good to lead the fourth diamond at once. Dummy would discard a second club while East ruffed the South overruffed. The defenders would then get a trump trick, but only one club.

Instead, Mrs. Sobel led the nine of clubs. East won with the king of clubs and returned the suit to West's ace. Now that the two club tricks had been gathered in, Mrs. Sobel could afford to lead a fourth diamond. As expected, East ruffed with the ten, forcing South to over-ruff with the queen. Then Mrs. Sobel was bound to win a trump trick with her jack.

State Seeks Grads To Fill Positions

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 — New York is hunting for college graduates to fill state jobs.

The State Civil Department said yesterday that a "college series" of examinations would be held Jan. 12. About 400 positions probably will be filled by successful applicants in the state's fifth annual drive to attract college graduates.

Most of the jobs pay a starting salary of more than $3,000. Five annual salary raises also are provided.

A separate examination will be held Jan. 12 for public administration internships. These posts pay $3541 for the first year. After that, an intern may be transferred to a comparable permanent position.

Russia 'Cottons Up' China

Hong Kong (AP) — The Chinese Communists say their cotton industry is going full-blast again, and apparently Russia must be given an assist. Several months ago the textile mills of Red China ground to a halt, due in part at least, to a shutdown in trade with the western world. A recent article in a Shanghai Communist newspaper said that Russian raw cotton had arrived to relieve "an off-season cotton shortage."

DREAMER or SAVER?

The dreamer dreams of a treasure chest
With golden coins galore,
But when he wakes—try his best
He can find his coins no more.

The saver saves as best he can,
He saves each little dollar,
Now he's no more an "also ran"—
He holds security's collar.

The dreamer's dreams will never pay
Mr. Dreamer's bills.....
The dreamer's screams will always say
Someday I'll save.....I will.

But Mr. Saver found a friend
In his savings bank account,
Now his money knows no end
For he has a great amount.

You too should be a saver
And save a little each week,
You'll do yourself a favor
And get the things you seek.

St. Mary's School Wins First Leg on KPA Trophy in CYO Cross Country

Houghtaling, Zates First Place Winners

Cross country runners representing St. Mary's School of Kingston won the first leg on the Kingston Patrolmen's Association trophy by scoring 34 points in the first annual Ulster County CYO cross country meet on Sunday at municipal stadium.

St. Joseph's School finished second with 30 points.

The meet was conducted under adverse conditions with snow covering part of the course. Only 40 runners—less than half of the entry list—competed in the event that had been postponed once because of bad weather.

Leo A. Schupp, county director of CYO sports activities, said he had considered a second postponement but, because of the lateness of the season, decided to go with the reduced field.

Patrolman Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, presented the team trophy to Jack Houghtaling of St. Mary's. The trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

The winner in each division received a trophy and medal. Medals were awarded to the second, third, fourth and fifth positions in each event.

Senior Division

1. W. Zates, St. Mary's.
2. D. Purdy, St. Joseph's.
3. J. Peter's, St. Peter's.
4. L. Houlihan, St. Peter's.

Junior Division

1. Jack Houghtaling, St. Mary's.
2. J. DeCicco, St. Mary's.
3. J. Boone, unattached.
4. W. Godiom, St. Joseph's.
5. R. Ashdown, St. Joseph's.

Midget Division

1. J. Kelly, St. Joseph's.
2. J. Klonowski, St. Mary's.
3. A. Long, St. Joseph's.
4. T. Van Etten, St. Peter's.
5. P. Krusher, St. Joseph's.

Y Autumn League To Be Revised

The Sixth Ward quintet is dropping from the "A" Division of the YMCA Basketball League because of player shortage, Lou Schafer said today.

The Koenig Insurance squad which has been piling up 100-point totals behind the spectacular shooting of Leroy Hooker and Frank "Yip" Koenig may have only a few more games left because of the proximity of high school practice.

Schafer said that the slack would be taken up by three or four teams that have filed applications for the winter circuit. These squads will be impressed into the autumn loop at once.

This week's schedule in the autumn circuit:

Tuesday, Nov. 6

7:30 p. m. — Potter Bros. vs. Electrol.

8:30 p. m. — Kerhonkson vs. Hercules.

Wednesday, Nov. 7

7:30 p. m.—156th Hdq. vs. Accord Chevvies.

8:30 p. m.—Silsby Motors vs. "50" Club.

Saturday, Nov. 10

7:30 p. m.—Wiltwyck Motors vs. Jones Dairy.

8:30 p. m.—Esopus Firemen vs. team to be named.

Leroy Hooker and Frank Koenig shared scoring honors with 41 points apiece as Koenig's Insurance continued to make a shambles of the Y Autumn League pennant scramble with a 125-40 victory over 156th Field Artillery Headquarters, Saturday night on the Y boards.

Hooker made most of his points on speedy layups while Koenig unloaded a variety of shots. Buckey Bower, who played only a period and a half, was also outstanding with 24 points and Pete Camp tossed in 19. Emberson and Van Wagenen had a dozen each for the losers.

In the premliminary, the YMCA Cadets opened their season with a 48-42 victory over Port Ewen Aces in a hard fought battle. Nagele led the winners with 14 points, with Skipper Brodhead and Markle scoring 12 and 11 respectively. Van Bramer of Port Ewen was the individual leader with 18.

Robert Trent Jones, the famous golf architect who will address the annual city golf dinner on Nov. 8, is a low-70 golfer who hits his shots as crisply as most professionals do.

"He is by far the best golfer among the architects," Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., the great champion of the 1920s, has said of Robert Trent Jones. "When Trent designs a hole he is able to test every yard of it himself for true shot value."

To eliminate the confusion that develops whenever Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., and Robert Trent Jones get together to make their annual revisions of the Augusta National course in Augusta, or the Peachtree course near Atlanta,—Bobby Jones is the founder of both—Robert Jones the architect becomes Trent Jones, the moment he crosses the Mason and Dixon line.

Nearly all the men who built the country's thousands of courses have either been golfers who branched out as designers or landscape designers who branched out into golf.

Robert Trent Jones comes of a different mould. He is the first and so far the only member of his profession who decided upon his career at an early age and educated himself for it.

At Cornell University where he was allowed to improvise a special curriculum for himself, Jones studied surveying, hydraulics, horticulture, agronomy, landscape architecture and public speaking.

A large number of the better courses—including the revised layout of the Oakland Hills Country Club in Detroit, over which the 1951 U. S. Open was played in June—are the work of Robert Trent Jones, the youngest, busiest, and, according to many observers, the most talented practitioner among the 15 members of the American Society of Golf Course Architects.

Jones, a 45-year-old, gentle-eyed resident of Montclair, N. J., has had something to do with the building of over 150 courses in the United States, Canada and West Indies. Two classic examples of his architecture are nearby James Baird Park and the IBM Country Club in Poughkeepsie.

A recent profile in the New Yorker magazine pointed out that, abetted by five assistants, he has been constructing or remodeling courses, or parts of courses, in 18 states—a grand total with the Jamaica and Puerto Rico courses of 406 holes.

When Jones is responsible for building as well as designing a course, his fee is between 10 and 15 per cent of the construction cost. The smaller the project, the higher the percentage. Except for a few topnotch professional golfers, like Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who earn close to $100,000 a year, Jones's annual income exceeds that of anyone else whose livelihood is derived entirely from golf.

As a friend of the common man, Jones has done away with the hazards, real and pyschological, that make the average golfer sweat and press off the tee. On Jones's courses, there are no stretches of rough between the tee and fairway, no traps 140 yards or so down the fairway to swallow a slice or a hook off the direct line, no arduous carries over water, which paralyze the duffer the way the view from a diving board 20 feet up paralyzes the novice swimmer.

Most Jones holes have three sets of markers on the tee, the most distant from the green for players of championship calibre, the second most distant being for fairly proficient players; and the third for the not-so-proficient players, who compose 85 per cent of the golf population. Jones freqently makes provisions for a fourth set of markers at the very front of the tee, for women golfers.

Like every true lover of the game, Jones deplores the fact that in the last 20 years par has lost its significance. "Before 1930, the golfer who equalled par for 18 holes had to hit his shots like a champion," Jones recently said. "Seventy two was a score that a Jones, Hagen or Sarazen was proud of."

"The perfection of the steel shaft, the hopped-up ball, and the sand wedge made possible the lower scores we began to get in th 1930s," Jones continued. "Those technical innovations in themselves didn't hurt the game. What did it was the way the tournament promoters, catering to our national infatuation with record breaking, softened up the courses where they should have stiffened them to keep up with the improved equipment."

More about this genius later, but, in the meantime, don't miss the chance to hear him on Nov. 8.

U.S. Golfers Score 7th Ryder Cup Win

Snead Tops Faulkner With Sub-Par Golf

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 5 (AP)—The crating job Arthur Lacey, non-playing captain of Great Britain's Ryder Cup Golf team, had hoped to have done on the international trophy has been postponed.

Uncle Sam's professionals saw to that yesterday when they ran off with six of the eight singles matches and tied another to clinch the two-day competition by a 9½ to 2½ score, second highest margin since Cup play began in 1927.

When the English arrived in this country two weeks ago Lacey said they had brought the best-balanced, finest conditioned squad ever to cross the Atlantic. This was to be the year they'd break the 16-year spell the Americans had held over them in this biennial test.

But U. S. Captain Sam Snead touched off the winning spark with a flurry of birdies and pars and his tournament-tested mates quickly fell in line with some strong play that made a shambles of the competition.

Snead handed Pinehurst Country Club's 7,007-yard course's par 72 a five stroke lacing with a morning 67 to shoot four holes ahead of Max Faulkner, British Open title-holder. In the afternoon Sammy was one under for 15 holes to close out the match, 4 and 3.

Hopping on the band wagon for the United States were Open Champion Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Jackie Burke of Houston, Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Lexington, N. C.

Hogan Wins

Hogan, U. S. Open champion, defeated Charles Ward after a fine match, 3 and 2. Both fired 33s in the first nine of the afternoon round but Hogan had gone three-up in the morning eighteen.

Lloyd Mangrum whipped Harry Weetman, 6 and 5 and Skip Alexander's 8 and 7 margin over John Panton was the widest of the day.

Jimmy Demaret took part in the day's most exciting match to defeat Dai Rees, 2-up, while Jackie Burke led Jimmy Adams all day and wound up with a 4 and 3 margin.

Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., had to settle for a dwadlock with Fred Daly, 1947 British Open champion and only Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle wound up a loser. Oliver, a last minute substitute for E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, who was stopped by a heavy cold, lost to Arthur Lees, 2 and 1.

Roll Team Singles 1062-1039-1001

Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and the Rapp's Furniture Express keglers set three seasonal records in the Hudson Valley Bowling League Sunday, with blasts of 717 and 3102 against Walden on alleys 7 and 8 at the Bowlodrome.

Kemmerer, in pacing a three-game sweep, knocked off scores of 276, 246 and 195. The 276 is a new high single eclipsing Nick Leoce's 268 while the 717 shattered the old record of 705 held by the Newburgh tenpin wizard.

Rapp's 3102 put into discard the former high of 3082 set by the league leading Cy's Diners of Newburgh. The three wins gave Rapp's a 17-10 record for the season and enabled them to hold third place in the standings.

Rapp's compiled their new team triple record with scores of 1062, 1039 and 1001. The season high of 1086 is held by Elston's Sport Shop of Kingston.

Ferraro Pounds 660

CHOOSE THE RIGHT TYPE OF BULLET...

A HEAVY ROUND NOSE BULLET IS BEST FOR HUNTING IN BRUSHY WOODS. THE LOWER VELOCITY OF HEAVY (180 TO 300 GRAIN) ROUND NOSE BULLETS OR RIFLED SHOTGUN SLUGS PENETRATES THE BRUSH BEST AND IS DEFLECTED LESS BY TWIGS, ETC. IN FLIGHT TO THE MARK. CHOOSE THE HEAVIEST BULLET YOUR GUN WILL SHOOT.

LIGHTER, HIGHER VELOCITY, POINTED NOSE BULLETS ARE THE BEST FOR LONG SHOTS.

Red Sangi Socks 656 Rec Triple

But for a puzzling slump in the middle game, John "Red" Sangi, the Central Recreational alley proprietor, might have had himself another "700" bowling triple last night in the Central Rec Mixed League.

As it was, old Seabiscuit came through with a sparkling 656 with somewhat inconsistent solos of 253, 158 and 245.

Runnerup R. Lawrence shot 210-578; Jack Houghtaling 223-575; Don Peterson 200-561; Fred Schryver 214-548; and F. Cirone 525. Jennie Spada paced the distaff department with 503. Kay Roosa was second with 413.

Moe Lazarowitz topped the Ruzzo Mixer with 218-143-189-550. T. Graham's 545 was good for second, followed by E. McCaffrey's 200-536; D. Shortell 529; P. Roosa 502; J. Martin 494; T. Jordan 488; A. Wohlfert 486; G. Graham 486; G. Hoffman 204-485; F. Passer 209-484; J. Reinhardt and C. Tobias 481.

Fred Bruno opened with 242 and finished with 595 for top honors in the Ferraro Mixed League. Fred Ferraro tossed 201-588; Chris Backman 537; Fred Schussler 211-525; John Healey 520; "Pop" Auchmoody 204-503; Bill Lawrence 218-489; and John Covey 484; Sue Healey, a 117 average keglerette posted a 477 triple.

Ski Centers Hope For Early Opening

Winter stole a march on the centers with an early snowfall last week. The State Commerce Department said Saturday that if the snow lingered the skiing hubs would hasten to open. The centers usually open about Dec. 1.

The department said the centers were pointing for a banner season. The two state-operated centers, at Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks and at Belleayre Mountain the Catskills, are preparing to handle what is expected to be a record number of skiers.

A new lodge, being built at Whiteface, is scheduled to open in December. It will replace the destroyed one razed by fire last spring.

At Belleayre, a new trail and improvements in the rope tow loading area are being completed.

Twenty-one centers will operate this year in the area north of the Mohawk river, 33 in the southern region, including two on Long Island, and 13 in the section west of Syracuse.

Bears, Browns Lead Pro Football Leagues

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The National Football League is doing a pretty good job of keeping the foot in football.

Seventeen field goals, varying in length from 11 to 40 yards, were kicked in the play-for-pay circuit's six games yesterday as the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears held to their respective leads in the American and National conferences.

Ray Poole, New York Giants' end, and Bob Waterfield, Los Angeles, quarterback, each kicked a trio of three pointers to come within one of Paddy Driscoll's league mark set in 1925. Driscoll's boots, however, were drop kicks.

George Blanda, playing an important role in the Bears' 27-0 shutout of Washington's Redskins, Lou (The Toe) Groza of the Cleveland Browns and Joe Geri of Pittsburgh had two field goals each. The others came off the toes of Harvey Johnson, New York Yanks; Fred Cone, Green Bay; Doak Walker, Detroit; Cliff Patton, Chicago Cards; and Gordon Soltau, San Francisco.

Blanda and Geri had kicks of 40 yards each while Waterfield drove the ball between the uprights from the 39 and 38-yard stripes.

The Browns, with Groza contributing 10 points through his two field goals and four conversions, chalked up their fifth win in six games with a 34-17 decision over the Chicago Cards. Otto Graham passed to Dante Lavelli for one tally and sneaked across for two himself.

Glanda chipped in with nine points as the Bears also won their fifth game in six outings and snapped the Redskins' two-game winning streak. Chuck Hunsinger, Don Kindt and Julie Rykevich tallied touchdowns for the Bears.

Tunnell Goes 100

Poole had to share honors with Em Tunnell and Charlie Conerly in the Giants' 37-31 conquest of the New York Yanks. Tunnell turned in a near-record gallop of a 100-yard touchdown run in the third quarter as he returned a kickoff 90 yards for a TD.

Conerly completed 14 of 24 passes for 243 of his team's 297 yards. The victory kept the Giants at the heels of the Browns with four victories, one defeat and a tie.

With Waterfield turning in one of his best performances, the Rams moved into second place in the National conference, defeating San Francisco 23-16 for their fourth triumph in six contests. Waterfield figured in all of his team's scoring as he tossed a 76-yard touchdown pass to Elroy Hirsch in the fourth period, scored once himself, added the three field goals and kicked two extra points.

Bobby Walston, Eagles, brilliant rookie end, didn't come through with a field goal, as he usually does, but he scored once and added four extra points in Philadelphia's 34-13 triumph at Pittsburgh.

Bobby Lane flipped three touchdown passes, two to big Leon Hart and one to Doak Walker, in the last half to give Detroit a 24-17 victory over Green Bay. Walker and Cone traded their field goals in the first half to deadlock the fray at the intermission.

St. Mary's School Wins First Leg on KPA Trophy in CYO Cross Country

Houghtaling, Zates First Place Winners

Cross country runners representing St. Mary's School of Kingston won the first leg on the Kingston Patrolmen's Association trophy by scoring 34 points in the first annual Ulster County CYO cross country meet on Sunday at municipal stadium.

The meet was conducted under adverse conditions with snow covering part of the course. Only 40 runners—less than half of the entry list—competed in the event that had been postponed once because of bad weather.

Leo A. Schupp, county director of CYO sports activities, said he had considered a second postponement but, because of the lateness of the season, decided to go with the reduced field.

Patrolman Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, presented the team trophy to Jack Houghtaling of St. Mary's. The trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

The winner in each division received a trophy and medal. Medals were awarded to the second, third, fourth and fifth positions in each event.

Senior Division

1. W. Zates, St. Mary's.
2. D. Purdy, St. Joseph's.
3. J. Peter's, St. Peter's.
4. L. Houlihan, St. Peter's.

Junior Division

1. Jack Houghtaling, St. Mary's.
2. J. DeCicco, St. Mary's.
3. J. Boone, unattached.
4. W. Godiom, St. Joseph's.
5. R. Ashdown, St. Joseph's.

Midget Division

1. J. Kelly, St. Joseph's.
2. J. Klonowski, St. Mary's.
3. A. Long, St. Joseph's.
4. T. Van Etten, St. Peter's.
5. P. Krusher, St. Joseph's.

Y Autumn League To Be Revised

The Sixth Ward quintet is dropping from the "A" Division of the YMCA Basketball League because of player shortage, Lou Schafer said today.

The Koenig Insurance squad which has been piling up 100-point totals behind the spectacular shooting of Leroy Hooker and Frank "Yip" Koenig may have only a few more games left because of the proximity of high school practice.

Schafer said that the slack would be taken up by three or four teams that have filed applications for the winter circuit. These squads will be impressed into the autumn loop at once.

This week's schedule in the autumn circuit:

Tuesday, Nov. 6

7:30 p. m. — Potter Bros. vs. Electrol.

8:30 p. m. — Kerhonkson vs. Hercules.

Wednesday, Nov. 7

7:30 p. m.—156th Hdq. vs. Accord Chevvies.

8:30 p. m.—Silsby Motors vs. "50" Club.

Saturday, Nov. 10

7:30 p. m.—Wiltwyck Motors vs. Jones Dairy.

8:30 p. m.—Esopus Firemen vs. team to be named.

Leroy Hooker and Frank Koenig shared scoring honors with 41 points apiece as Koenig's Insurance continued to make a shambles of the Y Autumn League pennant scramble with a 125-40 victory over 156th Field Artillery Headquarters, Saturday night on the Y boards.

Hooker made most of his points on speedy layups while Koenig unloaded a variety of shots. Buckey Bower, who played only a period and a half, was also outstanding with 24 points and Pete Camp tossed in 19. Emberson and Van Wagenen had a dozen each for the losers.

In the premliminary, the YMCA Cadets opened their season with a 48-42 victory over Port Ewen Aces in a hard fought battle. Nagele led the winners with 14 points, with Skipper Brodhead and Markle scoring 12 and 11 respectively. Van Bramer of Port Ewen was the individual leader with 18.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Robert Trent Jones, the famous golf architect who will address the annual city golf dinner on Nov. 8, is a low-70 golfer who hits his shots as crisply as most professionals do.

"He is by far the best golfer among the architects," Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., the great champion of the 1920s, has said of Robert Trent Jones. "When Trent designs a hole he is able to test every yard of it himself for true shot value."

To eliminate the confusion that develops whenever Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., and Robert Trent Jones get together to make their annual revisions of the Augusta National course in Augusta, or the Peachtree course near Atlanta,—Bobby Jones is the founder of both—Robert Jones the architect becomes Trent Jones, the moment he crosses the Mason and Dixon line.

Nearly all the men who built the country's thousands of courses have either been golfers who branched out as designers or landscape designers who branched out into golf.

Robert Trent Jones comes of a different mould. He is the first and so far the only member of his profession who decided upon his career at an early age and educated himself for it.

At Cornell University where he was allowed to improvise a special curriculum for himself, Jones studied surveying, hydraulics, horticulture, agronomy, landscape architecture and public speaking.

A large number of the better courses—including the revised layout of the Oakland Hills Country Club in Detroit, over which the 1951 U. S. Open was played in June—are the work of Robert Trent Jones, the youngest, busiest, and, according to many observers, the most talented practitioner among the 15 members of the American Society of Golf Course Architects.

Jones, a 45-year-old, gentle-eyed resident of Montclair, N. J., has had something to do with the building of over 150 courses in the United States, Canada and West Indies. Two classic examples of his architecture are nearby James Baird Park and the IBM Country Club in Poughkeepsie.

A recent profile in the New Yorker magazine pointed out that, abetted by five assistants, he has been constructing or remodeling courses, or parts of courses, in 18 states—a grand total with the Jamaica and Puerto Rico courses of 406 holes.

When Jones is responsible for building as well as designing a course, his fee is between 10 and 15 per cent of the construction cost. The smaller the project, the higher the percentage. Except for a few topnotch professional golfers, like Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who earn close to $100,000 a year, Jones's annual income exceeds that of anyone else whose livelihood is derived entirely from golf.

As a friend of the common man, Jones has done away with the hazards, real and pyschological, that make the average golfer sweat and press off the tee. On Jones's courses, there are no stretches of rough between the tee and fairway, no traps 140 yards or so down the fairway to swallow a slice or a hook off the direct line, no arduous carries over water, which paralyze the duffer the way the view from a diving board 20 feet up paralyzes the novice swimmer.

Most Jones holes have three sets of markers on the tee, the most distant from the green for players of championship calibre, the second most distant being for fairly proficient players; and the third for the not-so-proficient players, who compose 85 per cent of the golf population. Jones freqently makes provisions for a fourth set of markers at the very front of the tee, for women golfers.

Like every true lover of the game, Jones deplores the fact that in the last 20 years par has lost its significance. "Before 1930, the golfer who equalled par for 18 holes had to hit his shots like a champion," Jones recently said. "Seventy two was a score that a Jones, Hagen or Sarazen was proud of."

"The perfection of the steel shaft, the hopped-up ball, and the sand wedge made possible the lower scores we began to get in th 1930s," Jones continued. "Those technical innovations in themselves didn't hurt the game. What did it was the way the tournament promoters, catering to our national infatuation with record breaking, softened up the courses where they should have stiffened them to keep up with the improved equipment."

More about this genius later, but, in the meantime, don't miss the chance to hear him on Nov. 8.

U.S. Golfers Score 7th Ryder Cup Win

Snead Tops Faulkner With Sub-Par Golf

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 5 (AP)—The crating job Arthur Lacey, non-playing captain of Great Britain's Ryder Cup Golf team, had hoped to have done on the international trophy has been postponed.

Uncle Sam's professionals saw to that yesterday when they ran off with six of the eight singles matches and tied another to clinch the two-day competition by a 9½ to 2½ score, second highest margin since Cup play began in 1927.

When the English arrived in this country two weeks ago Lacey said they had brought the best-balanced, finest conditioned squad ever to cross the Atlantic. This was to be the year they'd break the 16-year spell the Americans had held over them in this biennial test.

But U. S. Captain Sam Snead touched off the winning spark with a flurry of birdies and pars and his tournament-tested mates quickly fell in line with some strong play that made a shambles of the competition.

Snead handed Pinehurst Country Club's 7,007-yard course's par 72 a five stroke lacing with a morning 67 to shoot four holes ahead of Max Faulkner, British Open title-holder. In the afternoon Sammy was one under for 15 holes to close out the match, 4 and 3.

Hopping on the band wagon for the United States were Open Champion Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Jackie Burke of Houston, Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Lexington, N. C.

Hogan Wins

Hogan, U. S. Open champion, defeated Charles Ward after a fine match, 3 and 2. Both fired 33s in the first nine of the afternoon round but Hogan had gone three-up in the morning eighteen.

Lloyd Mangrum whipped Harry Weetman, 6 and 5 and Skip Alexander's 8 and 7 margin over John Panton was the widest of the day.

Jimmy Demaret took part in the day's most exciting match to defeat Dai Rees, 2-up, while Jackie Burke led Jimmy Adams all day and wound up with a 4 and 3 margin.

Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., had to settle for a dwadlock with Fred Daly, 1947 British Open champion and only Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle wound up a loser. Oliver, a last minute substitute for E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, who was stopped by a heavy cold, lost to Arthur Lees, 2 and 1.

The National Geographic Society says whales travel the same sea lanes in annual migrations.

Roll Team Singles 1062-1039-1001

Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and the Rapp's Furniture Express keglers set three seasonal records in the Hudson Valley Bowling League Sunday, with blasts of 717 and 3102 against Walden on alleys 7 and 8 at the Bowlodrome.

Kemmerer, in pacing a three-game sweep, knocked off scores of 276, 246 and 195. The 276 is a new high single eclipsing Nick Leoce's 268 while the 717 shattered the old record of 705 held by the Newburgh tenpin wizard.

Rapp's 3102 put into discard the former high of 3082 set by the league leading Cy's Diners of Newburgh. The three wins gave Rapp's a 17-10 record for the season and enabled them to hold third place in the standings.

Rapp's compiled their new team triple record with scores of 1062, 1039 and 1001. The season high of 1086 is held by Elston's Sport Shop of Kingston.

Ferraro Pounds 660

CHOOSE THE RIGHT TYPE OF BULLET...

A HEAVY ROUND NOSE BULLET IS BEST FOR HUNTING IN BRUSHY WOODS. THE LOWER VELOCITY OF HEAVY (180 TO 300 GRAIN) ROUND NOSE BULLETS OR RIFLED SHOTGUN SLUGS PENETRATES THE BRUSH BEST AND IS DEFLECTED LESS BY TWIGS, ETC. IN FLIGHT TO THE MARK. CHOOSE THE HEAVIEST BULLET YOUR GUN WILL SHOOT.

LIGHTER, HIGHER VELOCITY, POINTED NOSE BULLETS ARE THE BEST FOR LONG SHOTS.

Red Sangi Socks 656 Rec Triple

But for a puzzling slump in the middle game, John "Red" Sangi, the Central Recreational alley proprietor, might have had himself another "700" bowling triple last night in the Central Rec Mixed League.

As it was, old Seabiscuit came through with a sparkling 656 with somewhat inconsistent solos of 253, 158 and 245.

Runnerup R. Lawrence shot 210-578; Jack Houghtaling 223-575; Don Peterson 200-561; Fred Schryver 214-548; and F. Cirone 525. Jennie Spada paced the distaff department with 503. Kay Roosa was second with 413.

Moe Lazarowitz topped the Ruzzo Mixer with 218-143-189-550. T. Graham's 545 was good for second, followed by E. McCaffrey's 200-536; D. Shortell 529; P. Roosa 502; J. Martin 494; T. Jordan 488; A. Wohlfert 486; G. Graham 486; G. Hoffman 204-485; F. Passer 209-484; J. Reinhardt and C. Tobias 481.

Fred Bruno opened with 242 and finished with 595 for top honors in the Ferraro Mixed League. Fred Ferraro tossed 201-588; Chris Backman 537; Fred Schussler 211-525; John Healey 520; "Pop" Auchmoody 204-503; Bill Lawrence 218-489; and John Covey 484; Sue Healey, a 117 average keglerette posted a 477 triple.

Ski Centers Hope For Early Opening

Winter stole a march on the centers with an early snowfall last week. The State Commerce Department said Saturday that if the snow lingered the skiing hubs would hasten to open. The centers usually open about Dec. 1.

The department said the centers were pointing for a banner season. The two state-operated centers, at Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks and at Belleayre Mountain the Catskills, are preparing to handle what is expected to be a record number of skiers.

A new lodge, being built at Whiteface, is scheduled to open in December. It will replace the destroyed one razed by fire last spring.

At Belleayre, a new trail and improvements in the rope tow loading area are being completed.

Twenty-one centers will operate this year in the area north of the Mohawk river, 33 in the southern region, including two on Long Island, and 13 in the section west of Syracuse.

Bears, Browns Lead Pro Football Leagues

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The National Football League is doing a pretty good job of keeping the foot in football.

Seventeen field goals, varying in length from 11 to 40 yards, were kicked in the play-for-pay circuit's six games yesterday as the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears held to their respective leads in the American and National conferences.

Ray Poole, New York Giants' end, and Bob Waterfield, Los Angeles, quarterback, each kicked a trio of three pointers to come within one of Paddy Driscoll's league mark set in 1925. Driscoll's boots, however, were drop kicks.

George Blanda, playing an important role in the Bears' 27-0 shutout of Washington's Redskins, Lou (The Toe) Groza of the Cleveland Browns and Joe Geri of Pittsburgh had two field goals each. The others came off the toes of Harvey Johnson, New York Yanks; Fred Cone, Green Bay; Doak Walker, Detroit; Cliff Patton, Chicago Cards; and Gordon Soltau, San Francisco.

Blanda and Geri had kicks of 40 yards each while Waterfield drove the ball between the uprights from the 39 and 38-yard stripes.

The Browns, with Groza contributing 10 points through his two field goals and four conversions, chalked up their fifth win in six games with a 34-17 decision over the Chicago Cards. Otto Graham passed to Dante Lavelli for one tally and sneaked across for two himself.

Glanda chipped in with nine points as the Bears also won their fifth game in six outings and snapped the Redskins' two-game winning streak. Chuck Hunsinger, Don Kindt and Julie Rykevich tallied touchdowns for the Bears.

Tunnell Goes 100

Poole had to share honors with Em Tunnell and Charlie Conerly in the Giants' 37-31 conquest of the New York Yanks. Tunnell turned in a near-record gallop of a 100-yard touchdown run in the third quarter as he returned a kickoff 90 yards for a TD.

Conerly completed 14 of 24 passes for 243 of his team's 297 yards. The victory kept the Giants at the heels of the Browns with four victories, one defeat and a tie.

With Waterfield turning in one of his best performances, the Rams moved into second place in the National conference, defeating San Francisco 23-16 for their fourth triumph in six contests. Waterfield figured in all of his team's scoring as he tossed a 76-yard touchdown pass to Elroy Hirsch in the fourth period, scored once himself, added the three field goals and kicked two extra points.

Bobby Walston, Eagles, brilliant rookie end, didn't come through with a field goal, as he usually does, but he scored once and added four extra points in Philadelphia's 34-13 triumph at Pittsburgh.

Bobby Lane flipped three touchdown passes, two to big Leon Hart and one to Doak Walker, in the last half to give Detroit a 24-17 victory over Green Bay. Walker and Cone traded their field goals in the first half to deadlock the fray at the intermission.

Illinois-Southern California Probable Rose Bowl Pairing

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Illinois and Southern California were the logical candidates for the Rose Bowl assignment today, but they still have some formidable obstacles to hurdle.

The Illini must get past Ohio State and Northwestern in Big Ten games, while Southern California has a Saturday date with Stanford, an undefeated team that could throw the Pacific Coast Conference race into confusion.

If the Trojans beat Stanford, they then must whip UCLA, and they're in. Actually, Southern Cal., on the basis of its performances all year, should whip both. Although Stanford has been beating everyone, nobody has laid claim to the Indians being on a par with the big Trojans.

Illinois has three Big Ten games left—against Iowa this week, Ohio State on Nov. 17 and Northwestern on Nov. 24. Ohio State, the pre-season favorite to win the title, is the big one. Still, no school has completely stopped Johnny Karras, so there is no reason to think that Ohio State will.

The weather bogged down operations for the offensive-minded Illini Saturday and as a result they had to settle for a 7-0 victory over defending Michigan. The score came on a pass from Tom O'Connell to Red Smith in the final 65 seconds. Before that, Illinois did not advance inside the Michigan 22.

In other Big Ten affairs, Ohio State kept its hopes alive by beating Northwestern on a field goal by Vic Janowicz, 3-0; Wisconsin scored in the last minute to stop Indiana, 6-0, and Iowa came back with three touchdowns in the last quarter to tie Northwestern, 20-20.

TCU Streaking

Southern California gave an exhibition to New York and trounced Army, 28-6, in the rain and mud of Yankee Stadium. That one didn't count in the Pacific Coast standings, but California's 21-7 defeat at the hands of UCLA did—and it was a mighty important one for it just about knocked the Golden Bears out of the race. Now they've lost two. Stanford halted Washington State, 21-13.

In the Southwest Conference, where they're in their annual merry muddle for the Cotton Bowl spot on New Year's Day, the team to beat this week is Texas Christian. From Texas, to Southern Methodist, to Baylor to Texas Christian. Sounds like a triple play, but that's about how the favorites have come and gone.

Uneasy is the head that wears the crown in the Southwest Conference, as Baylor found out Saturday. TCU whipped Baylor, 20-7, and now the Horned Frogs are the only undefeated team in the conference, though they've lost to outsiders.

But TCU still has to play Texas and Rice, so there's no reason to get excited. Texas showed it was not ready to throw in the towel by hanging a 20-13 defeat on Southern Methodist, while Arkansas upset Texas A and M, 33-12.

Rice and Texas each have lost only one conference game, which makes their games with Texas Christian all the more important. Rice beat Pitt, 21-13, in a non-league game Saturday.

Princeton Tiger Pennant Bound In Ivy League

(By The Associated Press)

Remember how things were supposed to go in the Ivy League before the start of the football season?

That game on Nov. 24 between Cornell and Penn was to be the one that would decide the title. Now it looks as though it won't even decide second place.

Princeton—Unless the roof falls in on Charlie Caldwell's lads—apparently has wrapped the title up for the second straight year. The Tigers have a 3-0 record in the league and 6-0 overall. Including their 12-0 triumph over Brown Saturday, they have won 19 games in a row, tieing a school record set in 1897.

In addition, the Tigers have scored in 51 straight games, a team mark.

Princeton now only has to play Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth, three teams that have been taking their pastings regularly. Dartmouth is a club that traditionally gets stronger as the season wears on, as evidenced by its 14-10 victory over Yale Saturday, but by no stretch of the imagination could anyone see it whipping Dick Kazmaier and his cohorts.

Kazmaier, as usual, was the whole show in the Princeton victory over Brown. Despite the wretched weather, he scored both Princeton touchdowns in the first period, and that was the game. Neither team could get anywhere in the Palmer Stadium mud the rest of the game. Kazmaier's runs were for 13 and 61 yards, and all told he toted the ball 262 yards.

The big upset of the day was scored by Columbia, which nipped Cornell, 21-20, and in the process knocked the Big Red right out of the running for the crown. After the Lions had piled up a two-touchdown lead going into the final period, Cornell rallied, but fell short when Bill Kirk missed a conversion attempt after the final touchdown.

Columbia now is in second place with three wins and one defeat, ahead of Penn and Dartmouth, each having two triumphs and one setback.

Dartmouth had to come from behind a 10-0 deficit to put the crusher on Yale at New Haven but Gene Howard was up to it, and notched two touchdowns—one on a buck from less than a foot out, and the other on a 55-yard jaunt.

William and Mary defeated Penn, 20-12, in a non-league game. The winners did all their scoring in the first period, then held the Quakers at bay the rest of the day.

Harvard was idle.

In this week's league games, Princeton plays at Harvard and Columbia entertains Dartmouth. In non-league tests, Michigan visits Cornell, Brown plays host to Rutgers, and Wisconsin journeys to Penn. Yale is not scheduled.

Mexico's Mariles Leads Horse Show

New York, Nov. 5 (AP) — The 63rd National Horse Show goes into its next to last day today with the incomparable Col. Mariles of Mexico leading in the International jumping competition and a ding-dong battle between an Indiana and Pennsylvania horse for the prized open jumping championship.

Mariles accounted for his fourth International event last night at Madison Square Garden, putting Mexico ahead in the number of events won, after Canada had taken its third trophy during the afternoon. With 10 international events concluded, and three to come, the United States equestrian team, Brazil, and Ireland have won the other three events.

Sharing the interest is the red hot battle between two former open jumper champs, All Afire, from the Millarden Farm, Annville, Pa., and Velvet Lassie, owned by Mrs. Hubert Thomas, Indianapolis. They all tied with 17 points apiece, and no other horse can catch them for the championship.

All Afire failed to qualify for the $250 triple bar final last night, and Velvet Lassie took second place behind Prince River, owned by Fred Blum, Brooklyn, N. Y. This gave Velvet Lassie, winner of the title in 1948, three points and the tie with All Afire, the 1949 champion.

One more event of the 11 leading toward the open jumper title remains, and will be held tomorrow. The nearest rival is Trader Bedford, owned by Arthur M. Nardin, New York, with nine points, and a win in the final class is only worth five points.

Governor Names Mal Stevens Chairman Of Boxing's Nine-Man Medical Board

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Dr. Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens, former football coach at Yale and New York University, has been appointed chairman of a medical advisory board to aid in a drive to overhaul boxing in New York state.

Governor Dewey brought the nine-member group to full strength yesterday by reappointing the only two members of the old board who had not resigned and naming six new members, in addition to Stevens.

The governor opened his campaign to improve boxing in the state Sept. 25. He appointed Robert J. Christenberry of New York city to succeed Edward P. F. Eagan as chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

Dewey left no doubt he thought the sport needed a major clean-up and detailed the steps to be taken. By implication, the governor also attacked the International Boxing Club, which critics claim virtually has a monopoly on the staging of major ring events.

Christenberry last week named Manuel L. Robbins as special counsel to the Athletic Commission. Robbins, a New York lawyer, was instructed to "make a thorough and exhaustive investigation" of the virtual monopoly and the possibility that disreputable characters were forcing their way into the boxing game.

The governor had declared that "managers, matchmakers and promoters must be men who can stand public scrutiny."

The medical advisory board aids the commission in drawing up regulations designed to cut down the dangers of boxing, and decides on gloves, ring pads and doctors' practices.

Drive on Injuries

The board is expected to make the reduction of the number of injuries and deaths in boxing matches its chief objective.

Those reappointed to the board were Drs. John McLean and Charles Muzzicato, both of New York city.

Appointed to three-year terms as members were:

Dr. John Leo Madden, also of New York, an assistant professor at the State University's College of Medicine in Brooklyn and director of surgery at St. Clare's Hospital; Dr. Max Moses of Spring Valley, Rockland county coroner and head of the medical department of Lederle Laboratories, and Dr. Abraham Rabiner of Brooklyn, a clinical professor at the State University's College of Medicine in Brooklyn.

Board members receive $50 for each meeting they attend and expenses.

Dr. Stevens, 51, is an orthopedic surgeon. He was head football coach at Yale University from 1928 to 1932, when he returned to medicine. He became head coach at NYU in 1934 and served until 1941.

In the Chicago fire of 1871, 17,000 buildings were destroyed and property loss was estimated at $160,000,000.

KELLY DEBUNKS DEMOCRATIC QUERIES

The seventh inning is now over and we approach the end of the 1951 City Campaign. Throughout this campaign the Democratic party has failed to set forth any program of its own. They have beat around the bush. They have carefully avoided setting forth just what they would do if successful at the polls on Election Day. Instead, they have conducted a quiz program. However, on the usual quiz program the professor knows the correct answers and gives them to his listening audience. In the case of the Democratic party, they conducted a quiz program with no answers.

Last night Mr. McAndrew resorted to a new method of avoiding taking a clear-cut stand. He said that he would make a lot of surveys and have a lot of conferences to solve problems. That is a neat way to avoid standing up and being counted on any matter affecting our City government.

The Democratic party in the City of Kingston claims to be against taxes. Why? Because no one likes to pay them. They claim because of local taxes no one can buy a washing machine, refrigerator or television set. At the very moment they refer to these items, the Federal government has imposed new and additional excise taxes on them. The oppressive burden of taxes that bears down upon you is not local taxes but taxes of the Federal government, in which waste and extravagance are rampant. The additional boost in Federal Income taxes of 12% that became effective yesterday places Federal Income taxes at a record level. More than that, the Federal government levies hundreds of hidden taxes and today takes almost 25% of the national income in taxes. You work several months a year just to pay your Federal taxes.

Your City taxes have gone up and the main reason is because of the terrific inflation caused by the policies of the Federal government. You all know how much more meat, coffee and other foods cost, as compared with a few years ago. You now have to use $2.00 to get the same articles that you formerly could buy for $1.00. Your City government is in the same position. It must pay more for the materials it buys and for the services that are performed for the benefit of all of us. The main item in the City budget is for salaries and of course the City has to pay its employes more so that they too can have the necessities of life. The problem is to balance the conflicting interests of the City employes and the taxpayers and we think we have done that fairly, squarely and openly by the proposed $240 cost of living bonus to all. The Democrats skirt all around the problem and no one knows whether they are for more or less. They just will not take a stand on anything.

In any budget of the City of Kingston there are several fixed charges over which the City has no control. One of the most important is the bill the City gets for its share of the cost of County government. For instance, in 1951 the net appropriation for the City government was $968,000. To that sum had to be added $528,000 to pay for the City's share of the cost of operating the County government, which also includes the cost of Kingston's welfare and relief for 1950. About one-third, therefore, of the cost of City government for 1951 is for County charges. The cost of County government has increased substantially in the last few years. I wish to call your attention to the fact that all the Democratic supervisors voted in favor of the last County Budget and placed their stamp of approval on it.

If it is the position of the Democrats that we are spending too much money, what do they propose to cut and eliminate? The principal departments are the fire, police and public works. They have not yet told us what they propose to delete to save money. They cannot tell you, because the City budget is a rock-bottom budget.

With one breath the Democrats criticise us for spending too much money and in the next breath they criticise us for not spending it fast enough. They criticise us on one hand for having approximately $50,000 in the treasury from highway bonds, and on the other hand insinuate we plan a deficit, completely ignoring the fact that the last Democratic administration left Mayor Newkirk with a $41,939 deficit when he took office. I notice that former Mayor Edelmuth is going to follow me on the radio tonight. I suggest he explain this deficit he left to the Newkirk administration.

Now let me comment on some of the other so-called issues raised by the Democrats. One thing they characterize as an issue is the continued loss of train transportation. They blame Mayor Newkirk for this and overlook the fact that Mayor Newkirk and Senator Wicks have been the leaders in the fight to prevent the New York Central Railroad from discontinuing certain train service. Anyone who has followed the problem knows this. We have a letter from the Public Service Commission stating that the only persons protesting the latest action of the railroad in taking off trains were Senator Wicks and Mayor Newkirk. Where has Mr. McAndrew been? What has Mr. Plunket done? Have they volunteered their services and participated in the fight? Why do they wait until a week before election to show their burning interest? And what do they propose to do in addition to what has been done?

Another matter they vaguely refer to is the possible loss of bus transportation. Bus service is provided by a private corporation under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission. The people of the city want more bus service; the company wants to give less. The city has fought for and presented the case of our citizens who want more service. They have not been aided by the Democrats in this fight. Again, the Democrats have merely stated a problem without specifically saying in what way they think we have failed and in what way they would do better.

Another so-called issue is the charge that Mayor Newkirk is responsible for not obtaining more industry for Kingston. They range far and wide to find things to blame on the Mayor and finally come up with a moth-eaten accusation that has been in every mayoralty campaign for the last twenty years. The Mayor has done everything in his power to popularize Kingston. He has always cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce and labor organizations in furthering the business interests of this community. Mr. McAndrew again should state specifically just where the Mayor is at fault and just what specific plan and program he has to revolutionize Kingston industrially.

Last night the Democratic candidate said there was five feet of water around the Veteran's Housing Project on Charlotte Place. That is a gross exaggeration. The Veteran's Housing Project was built for temporary occupancy only. If the Democratic party had wanted to help these people out, they should have voted for the new Kingston Housing Project. Apparently, Mr. McAndrew does not know that the State of New York is in charge of the Charlotte Street development and is responsible for the private streets in that development. Mr. McAndrew does not know either that a storm water sewer can only be built if the property owners want to pay 75% of the cost. Is Mr. McAndrew, in his quest for votes, going to spend money on private streets and for a storm water sewer which can only be legally built at the expense of the property owners who are to be benefited?

Let me say a word about my opponent. He seeks your votes because he has been active as a volunteer fireman. He has not stated where he stands on important matters affecting the city. And speaking of volunteer firemen, we all know they render a great service in their field to the city. The Newkirk administration has recognized this service by covering, for the first time, volunteer firemen under a compensation policy; by appropriating money for their convention in Kingston; and by getting two new trucks for Cordts and Rapid Hose.

Ladies and gentlemen, I appeal to you for your votes for Oscar Newkirk and myself on Election Day. Oscar is a courageous and competent public official. His experience is worth a lot to the people of the City of Kingston. Last night, Mr. McAndrew, sneeringly referred to him seveal times as "Mr. Third Term Candidate." Many Mayors, including Oscar's immediate predecessors, former Mayors Heiselman and Edelmuth, were rewarded with third terms. A Mayor is elected for a two-year period only. The Democrats broke a century old tradition in Washington by a fourth-term for a president. A few years ago Mr. McAndrew fought for a fourth term for former Mayor Edelmuth. So, Mr. McAndrew, you should not sneer at Oscar because the Republican party nominated him for a third term.

Election Day is only a few days away. I warned you last Friday night against paying any attention to last minute charges. The Democrats have had months to say anything they wanted to say. Instead, they waited for us to speak before they said anything. Twice this week the Democratic candidate for Mayor said it was now too late to add anything new to this campaign. I agree with him. If the Democratic candidates bring up any new issues or hurl any new charges at this late date you will know how to deal with them.

When you go to the polls on Election Day, vote Row "A" all the way and you will continue good government in Kingston.

Illinois-Southern California Probable Rose Bowl Pairing

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Illinois and Southern California were the logical candidates for the Rose Bowl assignment today, but they still have some formidable obstacles to hurdle.

The Illini must get past Ohio State and Northwestern in Big Ten games, while Southern California has a Saturday date with Stanford, an undefeated team that could throw the Pacific Coast Conference race into confusion.

If the Trojans beat Stanford, they then must whip UCLA, and they're in. Actually, Southern Cal., on the basis of its performances all year, should whip both. Although Stanford has been beating everyone, nobody has laid claim to the Indians being on a par with the big Trojans.

Illinois has three Big Ten games left—against Iowa this week, Ohio State on Nov. 17 and Northwestern on Nov. 24. Ohio State, the pre-season favorite to win the title, is the big one. Still, no school has completely stopped Johnny Karras, so there is no reason to think that Ohio State will.

The weather bogged down operations for the offensive-minded Illini Saturday and as a result they had to settle for a 7-0 victory over defending Michigan. The score came on a pass from Tom O'Connell to Red Smith in the final 65 seconds. Before that, Illinois did not advance inside the Michigan 22.

In other Big Ten affairs, Ohio State kept its hopes alive by beating Northwestern on a field goal by Vic Janowicz, 3-0; Wisconsin scored in the last minute to stop Indiana, 6-0, and Iowa came back with three touchdowns in the last quarter to tie Northwestern, 20-20.

TCU Streaking

Southern California gave an exhibition to New York and trounced Army, 28-6, in the rain and mud of Yankee Stadium. That one didn't count in the Pacific Coast standings, but California's 21-7 defeat at the hands of UCLA did—and it was a mighty important one for it just about knocked the Golden Bears out of the race. Now they've lost two. Stanford halted Washington State, 21-13.

In the Southwest Conference, where they're in their annual merry muddle for the Cotton Bowl spot on New Year's Day, the team to beat this week is Texas Christian. From Texas, to Southern Methodist, to Baylor to Texas Christian. Sounds like a triple play, but that's about how the favorites have come and gone.

Uneasy is the head that wears the crown in the Southwest Conference, as Baylor found out Saturday. TCU whipped Baylor, 20-7, and now the Horned Frogs are the only undefeated team in the conference, though they've lost to outsiders.

But TCU still has to play Texas and Rice, so there's no reason to get excited. Texas showed it was not ready to throw in the towel by hanging a 20-13 defeat on Southern Methodist, while Arkansas upset Texas A and M, 33-12.

Rice and Texas each have lost only one conference game, which makes their games with Texas Christian all the more important. Rice beat Pitt, 21-13, in a non-league game Saturday.

Princeton Tiger Pennant Bound In Ivy League

(By The Associated Press)

Remember how things were supposed to go in the Ivy League before the start of the football season?

That game on Nov. 24 between Cornell and Penn was to be the one that would decide the title. Now it looks as though it won't even decide second place.

Princeton—Unless the roof falls in on Charlie Caldwell's lads—apparently has wrapped the title up for the second straight year. The Tigers have a 3-0 record in the league and 6-0 overall. Including their 12-0 triumph over Brown Saturday, they have won 19 games in a row, tieing a school record set in 1897.

In addition, the Tigers have scored in 51 straight games, a team mark.

Princeton now only has to play Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth, three teams that have been taking their pastings regularly. Dartmouth is a club that traditionally gets stronger as the season wears on, as evidenced by its 14-10 victory over Yale Saturday, but by no stretch of the imagination could anyone see it whipping Dick Kazmaier and his cohorts.

Kazmaier, as usual, was the whole show in the Princeton victory over Brown. Despite the wretched weather, he scored both Princeton touchdowns in the first period, and that was the game. Neither team could get anywhere in the Palmer Stadium mud the rest of the game. Kazmaier's runs were for 13 and 61 yards, and all told he toted the ball 262 yards.

The big upset of the day was scored by Columbia, which nipped Cornell, 21-20, and in the process knocked the Big Red right out of the running for the crown. After the Lions had piled up a two-touchdown lead going into the final period, Cornell rallied, but fell short when Bill Kirk missed a conversion attempt after the final touchdown.

Columbia now is in second place with three wins and one defeat, ahead of Penn and Dartmouth, each having two triumphs and one setback.

Dartmouth had to come from behind a 10-0 deficit to put the crusher on Yale at New Haven but Gene Howard was up to it, and notched two touchdowns—one on a buck from less than a foot out, and the other on a 55-yard jaunt.

William and Mary defeated Penn, 20-12, in a non-league game. The winners did all their scoring in the first period, then held the Quakers at bay the rest of the day.

Harvard was idle.

In this week's league games, Princeton plays at Harvard and Columbia entertains Dartmouth. In non-league tests, Michigan visits Cornell, Brown plays host to Rutgers, and Wisconsin journeys to Penn. Yale is not scheduled.

Mexico's Mariles Leads Horse Show

New York, Nov. 5 (AP) — The 63rd National Horse Show goes into its next to last day today with the incomparable Col. Mariles of Mexico leading in the International jumping competition and a ding-dong battle between an Indiana and Pennsylvania horse for the prized open jumping championship.

Mariles accounted for his fourth International event last night at Madison Square Garden, putting Mexico ahead in the number of events won, after Canada had taken its third trophy during the afternoon. With 10 international events concluded, and three to come, the United States equestrian team, Brazil, and Ireland have won the other three events.

Sharing the interest is the red hot battle between two former open jumper champs, All Afire, from the Millarden Farm, Annville, Pa., and Velvet Lassie, owned by Mrs. Hubert Thomas, Indianapolis. They all tied with 17 points apiece, and no other horse can catch them for the championship.

All Afire failed to qualify for the $250 triple bar final last night, and Velvet Lassie took second place behind Prince River, owned by Fred Blum, Brooklyn, N. Y. This gave Velvet Lassie, winner of the title in 1948, three points and the tie with All Afire, the 1949 champion.

One more event of the 11 leading toward the open jumper title remains, and will be held tomorrow. The nearest rival is Trader Bedford, owned by Arthur M. Nardin, New York, with nine points, and a win in the final class is only worth five points.

Governor Names Mal Stevens Chairman Of Boxing's Nine-Man Medical Board

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Dr. Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens, former football coach at Yale and New York University, has been appointed chairman of a medical advisory board to aid in a drive to overhaul boxing in New York state.

Governor Dewey brought the nine-member group to full strength yesterday by reappointing the only two members of the old board who had not resigned and naming six new members, in addition to Stevens.

The governor opened his campaign to improve boxing in the state Sept. 25. He appointed Robert J. Christenberry of New York city to succeed Edward P. F. Eagan as chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

Dewey left no doubt he thought the sport needed a major clean-up and detailed the steps to be taken. By implication, the governor also attacked the International Boxing Club, which critics claim virtually has a monopoly on the staging of major ring events.

Christenberry last week named Manuel L. Robbins as special counsel to the Athletic Commission. Robbins, a New York lawyer, was instructed to "make a thorough and exhaustive investigation" of the virtual monopoly and the possibility that disreputable characters were forcing their way into the boxing game.

The governor had declared that "managers, matchmakers and promoters must be men who can stand public scrutiny."

The medical advisory board aids the commission in drawing up regulations designed to cut down the dangers of boxing, and decides on gloves, ring pads and doctors' practices.

Drive on Injuries

The board is expected to make the reduction of the number of injuries and deaths in boxing matches its chief objective.

Those reappointed to the board were Drs. John McLean and Charles Muzzicato, both of New York city.

Appointed to three-year terms as members were:

Dr. John Leo Madden, also of New York, an assistant professor at the State University's College of Medicine in Brooklyn and director of surgery at St. Clare's Hospital; Dr. Max Moses of Spring Valley, Rockland county coroner and head of the medical department of Lederle Laboratories, and Dr. Abraham Rabiner of Brooklyn, a clinical professor at the State University's College of Medicine in Brooklyn.

Board members receive $50 for each meeting they attend and expenses.

Dr. Stevens, 51, is an orthopedic surgeon. He was head football coach at Yale University from 1928 to 1932, when he returned to medicine. He became head coach at NYU in 1934 and served until 1941.

In the Chicago fire of 1871, 17,000 buildings were destroyed and property loss was estimated at $160,000,000.

KELLY DEBUNKS DEMOCRATIC QUERIES

The seventh inning is now over and we approach the end of the 1951 City Campaign. Throughout this campaign the Democratic party has failed to set forth any program of its own. They have beat around the bush. They have carefully avoided setting forth just what they would do if successful at the polls on Election Day. Instead, they have conducted a quiz program. However, on the usual quiz program the professor knows the correct answers and gives them to his listening audience. In the case of the Democratic party, they conducted a quiz program with no answers.

Last night Mr. McAndrew resorted to a new method of avoiding taking a clear-cut stand. He said that he would make a lot of surveys and have a lot of conferences to solve problems. That is a neat way to avoid standing up and being counted on any matter affecting our City government.

The Democratic party in the City of Kingston claims to be against taxes. Why? Because no one likes to pay them. They claim because of local taxes no one can buy a washing machine, refrigerator or television set. At the very moment they refer to these items, the Federal government has imposed new and additional excise taxes on them. The oppressive burden of taxes that bears down upon you is not local taxes but taxes of the Federal government, in which waste and extravagance are rampant. The additional boost in Federal Income taxes of 12% that became effective yesterday places Federal Income taxes at a record level. More than that, the Federal government levies hundreds of hidden taxes and today takes almost 25% of the national income in taxes. You work several months a year just to pay your Federal taxes.

Your City taxes have gone up and the main reason is because of the terrific inflation caused by the policies of the Federal government. You all know how much more meat, coffee and other foods cost, as compared with a few years ago. You now have to use $2.00 to get the same articles that you formerly could buy for $1.00. Your City government is in the same position. It must pay more for the materials it buys and for the services that are performed for the benefit of all of us. The main item in the City budget is for salaries and of course the City has to pay its employes more so that they too can have the necessities of life. The problem is to balance the conflicting interests of the City employes and the taxpayers and we think we have done that fairly, squarely and openly by the proposed $240 cost of living bonus to all. The Democrats skirt all around the problem and no one knows whether they are for more or less. They just will not take a stand on anything.

In any budget of the City of Kingston there are several fixed charges over which the City has no control. One of the most important is the bill the City gets for its share of the cost of County government. For instance, in 1951 the net appropriation for the City government was $968,000. To that sum had to be added $528,000 to pay for the City's share of the cost of operating the County government, which also includes the cost of Kingston's welfare and relief for 1950. About one-third, therefore, of the cost of City government for 1951 is for County charges. The cost of County government has increased substantially in the last few years. I wish to call your attention to the fact that all the Democratic supervisors voted in favor of the last County Budget and placed their stamp of approval on it.

If it is the position of the Democrats that we are spending too much money, what do they propose to cut and eliminate? The principal departments are the fire, police and public works. They have not yet told us what they propose to delete to save money. They cannot tell you, because the City budget is a rock-bottom budget.

With one breath the Democrats criticise us for spending too much money and in the next breath they criticise us for not spending it fast enough. They criticise us on one hand for having approximately $50,000 in the treasury from highway bonds, and on the other hand insinuate we plan a deficit, completely ignoring the fact that the last Democratic administration left Mayor Newkirk with a $41,939 deficit when he took office. I notice that former Mayor Edelmuth is going to follow me on the radio tonight. I suggest he explain this deficit he left to the Newkirk administration.

Now let me comment on some of the other so-called issues raised by the Democrats. One thing they characterize as an issue is the continued loss of train transportation. They blame Mayor Newkirk for this and overlook the fact that Mayor Newkirk and Senator Wicks have been the leaders in the fight to prevent the New York Central Railroad from discontinuing certain train service. Anyone who has followed the problem knows this. We have a letter from the Public Service Commission stating that the only persons protesting the latest action of the railroad in taking off trains were Senator Wicks and Mayor Newkirk. Where has Mr. McAndrew been? What has Mr. Plunket done? Have they volunteered their services and participated in the fight? Why do they wait until a week before election to show their burning interest? And what do they propose to do in addition to what has been done?

Another matter they vaguely refer to is the possible loss of bus transportation. Bus service is provided by a private corporation under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission. The people of the city want more bus service; the company wants to give less. The city has fought for and presented the case of our citizens who want more service. They have not been aided by the Democrats in this fight. Again, the Democrats have merely stated a problem without specifically saying in what way they think we have failed and in what way they would do better.

Another so-called issue is the charge that Mayor Newkirk is responsible for not obtaining more industry for Kingston. They range far and wide to find things to blame on the Mayor and finally come up with a moth-eaten accusation that has been in every mayoralty campaign for the last twenty years. The Mayor has done everything in his power to popularize Kingston. He has always cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce and labor organizations in furthering the business interests of this community. Mr. McAndrew again should state specifically just where the Mayor is at fault and just what specific plan and program he has to revolutionize Kingston industrially.

Last night the Democratic candidate said there was five feet of water around the Veteran's Housing Project on Charlotte Place. That is a gross exaggeration. The Veteran's Housing Project was built for temporary occupancy only. If the Democratic party had wanted to help these people out, they should have voted for the new Kingston Housing Project. Apparently, Mr. McAndrew does not know that the State of New York is in charge of the Charlotte Street development and is responsible for the private streets in that development. Mr. McAndrew does not know either that a storm water sewer can only be built if the property owners want to pay 75% of the cost. Is Mr. McAndrew, in his quest for votes, going to spend money on private streets and for a storm water sewer which can only be legally built at the expense of the property owners who are to be benefited?

Let me say a word about my opponent. He seeks your votes because he has been active as a volunteer fireman. He has not stated where he stands on important matters affecting the city. And speaking of volunteer firemen, we all know they render a great service in their field to the city. The Newkirk administration has recognized this service by covering, for the first time, volunteer firemen under a compensation policy; by appropriating money for their convention in Kingston; and by getting two new trucks for Cordts and Rapid Hose.

Ladies and gentlemen, I appeal to you for your votes for Oscar Newkirk and myself on Election Day. Oscar is a courageous and competent public official. His experience is worth a lot to the people of the City of Kingston. Last night, Mr. McAndrew, sneeringly referred to him seveal times as "Mr. Third Term Candidate." Many Mayors, including Oscar's immediate predecessors, former Mayors Heiselman and Edelmuth, were rewarded with third terms. A Mayor is elected for a two-year period only. The Democrats broke a century old tradition in Washington by a fourth-term for a president. A few years ago Mr. McAndrew fought for a fourth term for former Mayor Edelmuth. So, Mr. McAndrew, you should not sneer at Oscar because the Republican party nominated him for a third term.

Election Day is only a few days away. I warned you last Friday night against paying any attention to last minute charges. The Democrats have had months to say anything they wanted to say. Instead, they waited for us to speak before they said anything. Twice this week the Democratic candidate for Mayor said it was now too late to add anything new to this campaign. I agree with him. If the Democratic candidates bring up any new issues or hurl any new charges at this late date you will know how to deal with them.

When you go to the polls on Election Day, vote Row "A" all the way and you will continue good government in Kingston.

U. S. Approves New Incentive Wage For Steel Workers

Pittsburgh, Nov. 5 (AP) — Some 25,000 production workers in Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation plants will be able to boost their earnings as much as 35 per cent, under a new pay incentive plan approved by the government.

The plan, sanctioned by the Wage Stabilization Board and the CIO United Steelworkers, supersedes a "work load incentive" program which applied to only about 700 employes.

A Jones and Laughlin spokesman, disclosing the government's action, said last night the plan will increase steel production and employes' earnings and is strictly "non-inflationary."

In Washington, Wage Stabilization Board officials said the incentive plan is intended primarily for a new steel works recently dedicated here. They added that approval was granted about a week ago.

Jones and Laughlin, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, operates big plants in nearby Aliquippa and Cleveland, O., as well as in Pittsburgh.

Might Be Extended

There was no indication from Washington officials that the plan might be extended to cover other plants in the steel industry.

The new program, known as "equipment utilization type plan," is based on how much a given machine can produce.

A steel union official said it works this way:

If a man earns an hourly rate of $2, and uses his machine at 74 per cent of capacity, he will receive $2. But if he uses it to the utmost, he will get $2.70 an hour.

The standard for any job is 74 per cent of machine utilization.

Jones and Laughlin steel employes have been earning an hourly average of about $1.95 an hour. The new plan is expected to give the average worker 15 to 20 per cent more pay.

Hurley Explains How FBI Bureau Carries On Work

Woodstock, Nov. 5 — Special Agent Louis P. Hurley, Jr., of the FBI was guest speaker at the meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association last Thursday night at the Woodstock School. After presenting a brief history of the formation of the FBI, Hurley explained the process by which the Identification Bureau of the Department of Justice is conducted. Speaking as he was to a parent-teacher group, he enlarged upon the statement of John Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that behind every juvenile delinquent is an adult delinquent, by stressing the importance of the home and school in the life of the child.

It is the belief of the men whose job it is to combat crime, that the principles taught in the home are the crux of the situation. Once the child has been impressed with good principles at home, he is ready for the teacher. Equally important although not fundamental are the influences of such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts, the church and healthful sports participation.

During the business meeting Mrs. Irene Kullman announced that room mothers for this year would be Mrs. Robert Gordon, kindergarten; Mrs. Gertrude Houst, first grade; Mrs. Dorothy Lund, second grade; Mrs. Leshen, third grade; Mrs. H. Fisher, fourth grade; Mrs. Charles Wharton, fifth grade; Mrs. Townsend, sixth grade; Mrs. Irene Kullman, seventh grade; Mrs. Clayton Harder, eighth grade.

Exhibitions of paintings at the school this year will be under the direction of Mrs. Georgina Klitgaard, and Mrs. Hans J. Cohn will be in charge of membership, Mrs. Helen Ostrander is hospitality chairman and Mrs. John Pike will plan entertainment. Mrs. William W. Stifler is director of publicity, and Mrs. George Kelly of the safety program.

Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, president, announced that the charter for the P-TA has arrived from Albany and that the organization is now empowered to carry on the work of the P-TA as outlined by the state organization.

The next monthly meeting Thursday, Dec. 6, will be a "box party" details of which will be announced later.

New Truck Shows Its Worth at Blaze

Woodstock, Nov. 5 — The new Woodstock Fire Company No. 1. truck, which carries a 500 gallon tank of water was put to its first real test when the fire company was called to the home of Mrs. Edith Lorand Hood, about 10:30 a. m., Saturday, to extinguish a blaze started in the bathroom of the home caused by an electric heater, according to Reginald Lapo, fire chief.

Mrs. Hood's home, which is situated on a hillside, north of the Bearsville road is completely inaccessible to any water supply and firemen were completely dependent upon that carried aboard the new truck which was put into commission early this year.

When firemen arrived smoke was pouring from the windows of the upper story of the house and was so dense that it hampered them in locating the blaze. The fire had spread from the bathroom into the partitions of the dwelling and mushroomed into a storeroom above the bathroom, according to Mervin Doremus who directed operations in the absence of Chief Lapo. Once the source of the fire was discovered, however, it was brought under control quickly. In addition to the fire there was considerable smoke damage to the dwelling.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Its Monthly Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 5—Woodstock Unit 1026, American Legion Auxiliary, held its regular monthly meeting at the Legion Hall in this village, Wednesday evening, with Mrs. George Aplustill, president, presiding.

After the usual opening ceremonies the following reports were given: Child welfare, $10; membership, 35; community service, six hours on United Nations work by one member.

The rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Erwin Holumzer, reported that Rockland State Hospital has requested various kinds of sewing materials such as needles, scraps of yarn, old stockings as well as art materials such as crayons, drills, etc. Members may leave these articles with Mrs. Holumzer or bring them to the next meeting November 29. She also reminded members of the usual Christmas Gift Shop program, details to be announced later.

The ninth District Conference of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at Albany, Nov. 9. Any member wishing to attend may do so.

The Auxiliary will again have charge of the refreshment booth at the Legion Armistice Dance to be held at the Woodstock Town Hall, Sat., Nov. 10.

Mrs. Clarence Ryder is the November chairman for the next of the fall and winter series of card parties being sponsored by the Auxiliary which will be held at the Legion Hall, Nov. 19, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach was appointed the chairman for after meeting entertainment and many interesting programs have been planned.

The mystery package was won by Mrs. Clarence Snyder.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned and refreshments served by Miss Florence Peper and Mrs. Clayton Harder. During the refreshment hour Miss Neva Shultis regaled the members with several ghost stories apropos to Halloween.

The next regular meeting will be held Nov. 29. The refreshment committee for this meeting will be Mrs. Fennel Franckling and Mrs. Joseph Wagner.

School Meeting Planned

Woodstock, Nov. 5—The Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School will hold its regular monthly meeting, Thursday, Nov. 8, at 8 p. m., at the school. Miss Jane Varian, a teacher at the Vassar Nursery School, who helped with the formation of the school which has attracted national interest in connection with its work with the pre-school child, will be guest speaker and will lead a discussion on the subject. Further discussion will be conducted by William Connolly, assistant director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, who will show a 30-minute film, "A Long Time to Grow" which deals with the subject of two and three-year-olds as studied by the Vassar Nursery School. The meeting is open to the public and anyone interested in the development of the pre-school child is invited to attend.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 5—Edward J. Devlin, of Bearsville, is recovering at Carson C. Peck Memorial Hospital, Crown street and Albany avenue, Brooklyn, following two serious operations last week.

Samuel Wilson is recovering at the Benedictine Hospital following an operation Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Elwyn, Jr., will leave the latter part of this week for Troy in their new two-story house trailer. Elwyn, who is employed by the Goodyear Company, will travel extensively for the company.

Woodstock, Nov. 5 — Arnold Blanch, local painter, has been awarded the $500 prize for the best dinnerware design in the 16th annual Ceramic National exhibition conducted by the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts. The award was given by Commercial Decal, Inc., of New York. The exhibition will be open to the public Nov. 4 through Dec. 2.

U. S. to Offer

Eden, had separate talks with both Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman within a few hours after he arrived here to head the British delegation to the UN.

After his conversation with Schuman, Eden announced they had reviewed the whole list of problems before the assembly and were in full accord. This, he said, included the controversial Arab demand for the independence of Morocco, now a French protectorate.

The French are trying to keep the issue out of the UN.

Eden did not mention the Acheson peace plan but it was taken for granted that his talk with Schuman touched this, along with the most important of the 70 other issues on the assembly agenda.

After Eden's meeting with Acheson at the British embassy last night, a British spokesman indicated his chief had not yet agreed to assume joint sponsorship of the proposal. He said the plan at the moment still was an "American proposal."

There was no immediate reaction to the proposal from delegates, who insisted they must wait until they know more about it. It quickly became apparent, however, that the proposed move would overshadow most other issues before the assembly.

There still was no indication what Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky would come up with. He arrived today from Moscow with the remainder of the Soviet delegation. Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik and several others arrived earlier.

UN Would Bypass

where the line of contact is and advise the full delegations at any time.

4. That the subcommittees now meeting report their agreement to the full delegations from both sides "with the recommendation that the latter proceed with the discussion of other items on the agenda."

Formal Phrasing

Point four appeared to be merely the formal phrasing of an automatic action: If the Reds agree to the UN proposal, the subcommittees agree to report that agreement and its recommendation to the main delegations.

Nuckols was asked if the allied plan permitted a full-scale war in Korea, since it provides that the final buffer zone would be based on the line of contact at the time an armistice was to be signed.

"That is an implication that some people may read into it," the briefing officer said.

He said the whole purpose of the proposal was the hope of "getting ahead with an overall solution."

He said negotiations would be speeded this way: The buffer zone problem would be worked out at staff officer level while the other major problems would be taken up at full plenary sessions.

Nuckols denied that the new plan meant any forfeiture of allied claims to Kaesong. Disposition of that battered city has been a major stumbling block barring the subcommittee's progress.

A heavy Chinese assault there Sunday was thrown back, but the U. S. Eighth Army said heavy fighting continued in the area Monday.

The proposal suggested the full delegations skip the touchy buffer zone problem "until such time as it is possible to settle it definitely."

The Reds made that proposal in the morning session Monday.

"As we understand it," Hodes said, "both sides agree to the principle of appropriate adjustments to the battle line."

Eden did not mention the Acheson peace plan but it was taken for granted that his talk with Schuman touched this, along with the most important of the 70 other issues on the assembly agenda.

After Eden's meeting with Acheson at the British embassy last night, a British spokesman indicated his chief had not yet agreed to assume joint sponsorship of the proposal. He said the plan at the moment still was an "American proposal."

There was no immediate reaction to the proposal from delegates, who insisted they must wait until they know more about it. It quickly became apparent, however, that the proposed move would overshadow most other issues before the assembly.

There still was no indication what Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky would come up with. He arrived today from Moscow with the remainder of the Soviet delegation. Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik and several others arrived earlier.

where the line of contact is and advise the full delegations at any time.

4. That the subcommittees now meeting report their agreement to the full delegations from both sides "with the recommendation that the latter proceed with the discussion of other items on the agenda."

Formal Phrasing

Point four appeared to be merely the formal phrasing of an automatic action: If the Reds agree to the UN proposal, the subcommittees agree to report that agreement and its recommendation to the main delegations.

Nuckols was asked if the allied plan permitted a full-scale war in Korea, since it provides that the final buffer zone would be based on the line of contact at the time an armistice was to be signed.

"That is an implication that some people may read into it," the briefing officer said.

He said the whole purpose of the proposal was the hope of "getting ahead with an overall solution."

He said negotiations would be speeded this way: The buffer zone problem would be worked out at staff officer level while the other major problems would be taken up at full plenary sessions.

Nuckols denied that the new plan meant any forfeiture of allied claims to Kaesong. Disposition of that battered city has been a major stumbling block barring the subcommittee's progress.

A heavy Chinese assault there Sunday was thrown back, but the U. S. Eighth Army said heavy fighting continued in the area Monday.

The proposal suggested the full delegations skip the touchy buffer zone problem "until such time as it is possible to settle it definitely."

Hodes told the Reds the UN was not accepting their plan for a buffer zone based exactly on the line of contact between the allied and Communist armies.

The Reds made that proposal in the morning session Monday.

"As we understand it," Hodes said, "both sides agree to the principle of appropriate adjustments to the battle line."

Detective Said

was suspended without pay pending trial on various departmental charges including neglect of duty. Police said a quantity of heroin was found in his car.

During his booking, the six-foot-plus Killoran chewed gum and rocked back and forth on his heels with his hands in back pockets. He was neatly dressed in a grap striped suit and a red tie.

Police said they were making a check to determine the detective's movements at the time of the alleged robberies.

Killoran was lodged overnight at the East 67th street station under a close watch. Authorities said they were taking special precautions because he had grown very silent.

The drug store owner, Rosen, said Killoran first took $15 worth of narcotics from him, then $4 worth.

Loures said Killoran's main loot was narcotics but that once he took $75 in cash found in the narcotics cabinet of the store.

Police first started looking for Killoran after the Saturday night holdup of a Manhattan drug store. The druggist and a lady customer noted his automobile license number. They also described him.

But at this morning's lineup the two could not pick Killoran out from among several men.

Police waited at Killoran's Queens home throughout the night Saturday. However, he had remained in a Manhattan hotel, registered under an assumed name, authorities said.

His car was found on the east side of Manhattan at 4 a. m. yesterday. In the parked automobile were a loaded Luger automatic, a quantity of heroin, some Bromo Seltzer, and some band aids, police said.

Killoran was reported as telling the desk officer at his precinct house that he was late for duty because he was "worried" about his car. "I lent it to this fellow and it disappeared," he was quoted as saying.

The detective and his wife, Rita, have three children between 14 and 3 years old.

A physician examined Killoran last night, police said, and found no symptoms of illness.

Killoran came to his West 123rd street station voluntarily in a cab which he had hired himself, police emphasized. Upon his arrival he was surrounded by colleagues and informed that an alarm had been sent out to the effect that he was wanted for assault and robbery.

It was not disclosed whether he would be taken to Queens after his scheduled appearance in Manhattan felony court today.

Among those present during questioning were Chief of Detectives Loures, Chief Inspector Thomas Nielson, who heads detectives of the Manhattan East Command, Inspector James Leggett, who heads Queens detectives, and Assistant District Attorney Victor Levin of Queens.

Loures said: "He told us that when he finished his tour of duty Saturday he was 'upset and disturbed.' He said that Saturday night he went to a hotel on 32nd street and slept. When he awoke at 8 p. m. he left the hotel, had a glass of orange juice, read the morning papers, saw the account of the holdups, telephoned to his wife that he was going to give himself up, and did so."

Killoran joined the force in 1942 and was made a detective in 1946. Inspector Nielson, who was directing the investigation yesterday, did not have the detective's department record at hand but told reporters: "He's been a good cop, and he's had several commendations."

Committee Proposes Reclassification Plan

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—A mayor's committee has proposed a plan for reclassifying the jobs of 86,000 of the city's employes and adjusting their compensation on the principle of "equal pay for equal work."

The salary adjustments, some of which would be increases as high as $1,000, would not involve any pay cuts but would give boosts to about 85 per cent of the employes covered by a survey.

The plan was made public last night by a sub-committee of the mayor's committee on management survey, headed by Comptroller Lazarus Joseph. Griffenhagen and Associates, survey experts retained by the city more than a year ago, drafted the plan.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri has seen the report and urges speedy consideration, according to Luther Gulick, executive director of the full committee.

Steps would include public hearings, action by the State Civil Service Commission, possible state legislation and action by the city Board of Estimate.

The plan would cut from 2,571 to 1,327 the number of work classifications involved in the 86,000 positions.

Fisherman Pulls In Drowning Man

Sprecher, 37, heard the cries and started casting his 36-pound-test line into the surf at the thrashing swimmer. Three times he whipped it out, and on the third try the weighted line coiled around Stuls' body.

Breathless, the fisherman reeled in the line, slowly so that it would not snap. Stuls, a 160-pound metal worker, was pulled in 50 yards to a rock embankment in a semi-conscious state.

Sprecher said Stuls "was my first catch."

The man, 59-year-old Robert Stuls, likes to swim the year-round. But yesterday's dip in below 50 temperatures and choppy surf almost got the best of him.

Whitecaps and an undertow battered Stuls against submerged rocks of the Rockaway Jetty. He shouted for help.

Sprecher, 37, heard the cries and started casting his 36-pound-test line into the surf at the thrashing swimmer. Three times he whipped it out, and on the third try the weighted line coiled around Stuls' body.

Breathless, the fisherman reeled in the line, slowly so that it would not snap. Stuls, a 160-pound metal worker, was pulled in 50 yards to a rock embankment in a semi-conscious state.

Sprecher said Stuls "was my first catch."
